B. F. SAUL, HEAD OF INVESTMENT HOUSE, EXPIRES

Acute Heart Attack Given as Cause of Banker's Sudden Death.

BEGAN CAREER AT 18; ADVANCED RAPIDLY

Started Several Institutions; Held National Posts; Aided in War Loans.

B. Francis Saul, president of the B. F. Saul Co., a widely known investment banker, died at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, 2224 Wyoming avenue northwest. He was 59 years old.

The cause of his death was given by his physician, Dr. Thomas S. Lee, as coronary thrombosis. He described this as "an acute attack of the heart."

After working Saturday at his office, 925 Fifteenth street northwest, Mr. Saul spent the early part of the night with his family at home. He was stricken shortly before midnight, said Dr. Lee, who responded immediately to a phone call and remained at the bedside until Mr. Saul died.

Seizures Began in 1929.

"In the spring of 1929 Mr. Saul was first seized with an attack of coronary thrombosis, and he remained in bed at his home here under my care for three or four months," Dr. Lee said. "The ailment is often fatal during the attack, but Mr. Saul rallied and recovered at least to the point where he regained moderately good health, but not as good as before the first attack. He had been doing less work in recent months."

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Matthew's Catholic Church. The rector, Msgr. Edward L. Buckey, will officiate.

Besides his widow, the former Miss Fanny E. Maguire, daughter of Andrew and Fanny Maguire, of New York, whom he married in 1896, Mr. Saul leaves five children—John, Bernard, Andrew, Teresa and Mrs. Rose Saul Montgomery, wife of Warwick Montgomery, jr. Another daughter, Miss Frances Saul, died last May 3 from injuries incurred in being crushed under a horse she was training for a benefit show. The accident happened at the Wardman Park Saddle Club.

Head Important Posts.

Besides holding many positions of importance in this city, Mr. Saul had achieved Nation-wide repute in the banking profession. He was a member of the board of governors of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, and at one time was on the executive council of the American Bankers Association. He also had been president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association and a director of the Washington Board of Trade.

At the time of his death Mr. Saul was vice president and chairman of the executive committee of the American Security & Trust Co., a director of the Columbia National Bank, vice president of the National Union Fire Insurance Co.; also a director of the Mutual Fire Insurance Co., the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., the Security Storage Co., the Norfolk & Washington Steamboat Co., the Washington Title Insurance Co., and other organizations.

Began Career at 18.

Mr. Saul was born at Washington, January 16, 1872, the son of John Saul, prominent as a horticulturist and, until his death in 1897, chairman of the Parking Commission of Washington. The commission, which went out of existence with his death, was responsible for selection and direction of trees planted here.

After an academic education in private and preparatory schools here, Mr. Saul began his career at 18 with the National Bank of the Republic. Two years later he entered the real estate business and six years subsequently he was made a director of the Columbia National Bank. When he was 27 he organized the Home Savings Bank, of which he was made president. He directed its affairs until it was merged with the American Security & Trust Co. and assumed the vice presidential duties he retained.

PARENTS DIE IN AUTO CRASH; 2 SONS HURT

One Boy Near Death After Collision; Father Is Killed Instantly.

YOUTH HAS BROKEN LEG

A head-on collision between two automobiles on the Richmond highway near Fredericksburg last night took the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Smith, of 409 Randolph street northwest.

C. Joy Smith, their 16-year-old son, a student at Tech High School, is in the Mary Washington Hospital in Fredericksburg. He is seriously injured internally. Doctors say he has little chance of recovery. Paul Smith, 13 years old, a pupil of Park View School, is in the same hospital suffering of a broken leg.

Mr. Smith, who is connected with the supplies division of the Navy Department, and his wife and two sons left early yesterday to visit Mrs. Smith's relatives in Richmond, Va.

They were on their way home last night when they collided with an automobile about 6 miles south of Fredericksburg. B. G. Talley, of Richmond, the driver of the second car, helped to take Mr. Smith's body from the wreckage.

Mr. Smith died instantly. His skull and ribs were crushed by the steering wheel. Mrs. Smith was alive when taken from the wreckage, but died on the way to the hospital.

Mr. Talley was slightly injured.

In addition to his connection with the Navy Department Mr. Smith also practiced as a chiropractor at his home on Randolph street.

In addition to their two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Smith are survived by a daughter, Mrs. Gerald Whittaker, the wife of an astronomer, who lives at 1900 Lamont street northwest. Fredericksburg police notified them of the accident last night and they left immediately for the hospital.

Duke of Vendome Is Taken by Death

Capital Woman Is Among Survivors of Royal Bourbon Family.

Cannes, France, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The Duke of Vendome, 59, a member of the royal Bourbon family and the brother-in-law of King Albert of the Belgians, died today at his chateau here. His short illness started with a case of grippe.

The duke, whose name was Philippe Emanuel Maximilien Marie-Eudes, was born at Obermais, near Meran. He married Princess Henriette, sister of King Albert, in 1896.

In addition to his wife, the duke is survived by two daughters and a son, Prince Charles Philippe, the Duke of Nemours, who married Margaret ("Peggy") Watson, of Washington and Richmond, Va.

WILD 50-MILE DASH IS FATAL TO BANDIT DUO

PURSUERS RECOVER $5,000 IN JEWELRY

Escaped Gangland Leader Is Killed During Chase in New York.

New York, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—A bandit gang, led by a master jail-breaker, ran a police gantlet 50 miles long before dawn today.

At the finish two were in the morgue, slain by the bullets of the law, and two other men were in jail, one with head injuries. None escaped.

Charles Sirico, veteran of four prison breaks, whose tattooed gun-arm brought him power in gangland, died in a commandeered taxicab as three Bronx policemen emptied their revolvers through it.

James Clark, who fled with Sirico through sawed bars at Eastview Penitentiary last Christmas Eve, was found mortally wounded on the taxi's floor when police ceased firing.

Blow Fells Burglar.

Peter Reynolds, burglar, who also escaped Eastview with Sirico, was felled by a blow from a policeman's pistol in Yonkers. John Creedon, 28, was captured in Beacon, N. Y., at the start of a wild chase which led through three counties.

As police told the story, four men alighted from a stolen automobile early today and removed a pane of glass from a front window of Caplan's jewelry store, in Beacon. Three of them stole $5,000 worth of jewelry while a fourth stood guard.

Two policeman seized the alleged lookout, who turned out to be Creedon, but the other three fled. While police telegraphs chattered the alarm, the stolen sedan raced toward New York at 70 miles an hour.

Car Smashes Into Patch.

Policeman Charles Smith, of Yonkers, chased the car for 3 miles until it careened into a ditch. He arrived in time to knock Reynolds unconscious and empty his gun after his fleeing accomplices.

Flagging an unsuspecting taxi driver, Sirico and Clark roared south toward the Bronx and right into a trap manned by Policemen Francis Bartier, Raymond Scanlon and Max Pittel. As the police cars maneuvered to halt the speeding taxi, a tattooed hand shot from a window and a bullet crashed through the air near a policeman's head.

As if by a signal the police poured volley after volley into the taxicab until its occupants ceased firing.

They found $5,000 worth of jewelry in Sirico's pockets.

Three Drown as Auto Crashes Through Ice

Superior, Wis., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Three Duluth (Minn.) youths were drowned and two others swam to safety tonight when their automobile crashed through ice on Superior Bay.

The mishap occurred as the five went to the aid of a truck stalled on the ice. The ice, weakened by today's unseasonable temperature, sank under the car and carried its occupants down into 15 feet of water.

NINE ARE FATALLY STRICKEN BY FOOD

STATE PROBE SCHEDULED

Grafton, N. Dak., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Nine Grafton residents died last night and today from what doctors have identified as botulism, a form of food poisoning. Three other persons are ill from the same malady and not expected to recover, said G. W. Glaspel, public health officer, who has taken charge of the cases.

The twelve became ill Friday after attending a party at the Edward Hein farm home, near here. Home preserved peas used in a salad are believed to have contained the poison.

The dead: Mrs. Thomas Chapiewski, 40; Mrs. Elmer Stokke, 28; Mrs. Edward Hein, Miss Elizabeth Hein, 20, a daughter of Mrs. Hein; Arthur Lessard, 25, and Marguerite McWilliams, 20, Grafton telephone operator; Arthur Jorandry, 30; Harry Chapiewski, 15, son of Mrs. Thomas Chapiewski, and Edward Hein, jr., 15. Edward Hein, husband and father of three of the victims, is critically ill, as are Genevieve Hein, 16, his daughter, and Joe Leach, 26. They are in a hospital here, suffering, Dr. Glaspel said, from a paralysis of the throat, which all the victims had before they died.

Dr. Glaspel today asked Dr. H. E. French and Grand Forks, supervisor of the State health laboratories, to make an examination of the contents of the victims' stomachs.

The patients, Dr. Glaspel said, were first afflicted with dizziness and numbness. All were conscious until death, he said.

Capital Man Held In Mt. Rainier Raid

Still and Liquor Alleged to Have Been Seized; Second Arrest in 10 Days.

Raiding a house in Mount Rainier for the second time in ten days, Prince Georges County police yesterday arrested John W. Rosner on liquor charges, for the second time.

Sergt. H. G. Machen and Policeman Claude Reese, on January 21, raided the house and arrested Rosner and Fred Caldon, also of Mount Rainier. Both were charged with possession of liquor and a still, and were taken before Justice of the Peace Herbert Moffatt, being released on $1,000 bond each.

Yesterday the same policemen returned to the address and found another still, they say. They also found sixteen half-gallons of alleged liquor hidden in bushes around the house. Rosner was there also. He duplicated his previous performance, being released on another $1,000 bond by Judge Moffatt. Rosner gave an address in Washington, on Chester street southeast, near W street.

HOUSE TO TURN DOWN EFFORTS ON RELIEF BILL

DECLARES MEASURE INVOLVES PRINCIPLE

Willing to Risk Extra Session Rather Than Give 'Dole,' He Intimates.

(Associated Press.)

The flat statement that the House would refuse to compromise on the Senate's $25,000,000 Red Cross relief proposal was made yesterday by Republican Leader Tilson.

Asserting that every suggested compromise had been rejected by decisive record vote by the House before it overwhelmingly defeated the Senate proposal, the Connecticut Republican added:

"The House made it clear that the rejection of the proposed $25,000,000 dole is a matter of principle altogether too important in its consequences for the future to admit of compromise."

Extra Session Unnecessary.

"The House," he said, "does not desire an extra session of Congress. There is not the slightest need for an extra session so far as the public interests are concerned. There is no legitimate excuse for an extra session. The country should be saved from an extra session.

"But deliverance from it should not be bought at the sacrifice of an important principle. Those who insist upon such a price must take the full responsibility for an extra session and whatever consequences may follow from it."

Tilson said, "There is no proper place for compromise," adding:

"Once the door to the Federal Treasury for a dole to aid citizens in distress is opened, the appropriation used as the opening wedge, whatever its magnitude, will soon pale into insignificance in the wake of what will follow.

Will Destroy Red Cross.

"Once the Red Cross is destroyed, as it must inevitably be by a Federal dole, and our local charities paralyzed, as they will be when the Federal Government takes over responsibility for charitable relief, the appropriations that must follow as a consequence of such a policy would now stagger belief.

"There must be no compromise on so important a matter of principle. We are now at the crossroads, so far as our charities are concerned. Straight ahead lies the way in continuation of our course thus far as a Nation.

"This road is lined on both sides with ten thousand charitable agencies, maintained by generous givers, ready to minister to those in need, while the Red Cross, the big brother of them all, keeps loving watch upon every portion of the way, ready to come to the rescue whenever and wherever the need may develop. Back of the Red Cross are the hearts of the American people in solid phalanx.

Senate Remains Insistent.

"This great organization may be appropriately called 'the heart of America.' Shall we stab it to death and make it a cold, lifeless thing substituting for it a governmental bureau, bound with red tape, administering a Federal dole?"

Senate Democratic leaders said they had nothing to add to their statement that some Federal appropriation for relief must be given or an extra session will be forced.

However, despite the bold front of the leaders in this new and tense contest between President Hoover and

Disobedience to Continue Unless Britain Yields to All Demands.

GROUP WILL MAINTAIN BOYCOTTS, PICKETING

Committee May Refuse to Discuss Dominion Plan With Conferees.

Allahabad, India, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Mahatma Gandhi and his colleagues in the working committee of the All-India National Congress, who were released from prison last week to confer on Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's offer of a qualified dominion status for India, voted unequivocally today for continuance of their civil disobedience program.

Thus all hope for immediate peace in India was abandoned, and if the civil resistance campaign is intensified Gandhi and other prominent Nationalists probably will eventually be back in the jails which they left only a few days ago.

Gandhi has declared all along that all political prisoners must be released before the Nationalists will treat with the government, and the principal resolution adopted today embodied the demand for the freedom of these prisoners.

Continue Boycotts, Pickets.

Other resolutions declared for continuance of the Nationalist activities which were begun almost a year ago—for the picketing of foreign cloth, narcotic and liquor shops; for the right of the people to make their own salt, and for withdrawal of "repressive government measures" against Nationalist activities.

It was clear from today's decision of the working committee that under existing conditions the congress will have nothing to do with a second round-table conference to be held in India, as envisaged by Prime Minister MacDonald.

It is considered even doubtful whether Gandhi and his associates will treat with the Indian delegates returning from the London round table meeting, unless the latter recognize the demands formulated by the working committee as a condition precedent to peace.

Yielding Held Unlikely.

Unless, therefore, MacDonald capitulates on these latest demands—which is considered altogether improbable at present—it is believed here that the the unrest, uncertainty and economic stagnation resultant from the congress program must continue indefinitely.

In the meantime, Great Britain will deal with that section of the Indian people not within the orbit of congress influence in the hope that they will accept the offer of Indian provincial autonomy within the British Empire, accompanied by safeguards.

The only ray of hope appearing now on India's darkened horizon is a meeting scheduled at Bombay this week between Gandhi and associates and the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce.

May Gain Armistice.

The representatives of big business embraced in this powerful organization may succeed in persuading the wizened little Mahatma to modify his demands—or, at least, to call an armistice that the MacDonald proposals may be discussed in a quiet and dispassionate atmosphere.

A number of the wealthy members of this federation have been financing the congress campaign out of patriotic motives, but it appears now that they are ready to call a halt. The civil disobedience activities have created such havoc with business throughout India, threatening even large firms with bankruptcy, that these men are said to feel that the time has come to take what England is ready to give, leaving the other demands for future negotiation.

Two Youths Rescued From Death in Marsh

Quick Action by Passers-By Saves Southeast Lads From Suffocation in Quagmire Near Bolling Field; Others Have Narrow Escapes.

An improvised life line, made from a man's belt, snatched two boys from the brink of death yesterday afternoon as they were being sucked into a quagmire near Bolling Field. For three hours they had vainly struggled to escape from the sedgy mud.

Those rescued are:

Gus Law, 11 years old, of 3301 Nichols avenue southeast.

Eddie Krause, 9 years old, of 1610 Ester place southeast, after struggling for more than two hours against the suction of the mud, managed to extricate himself and ran for aid.

Two other boys, Ellis Tippet, 11 years old, and his 9-year-old brother, Ellsworth, of Raleigh street near Nichols avenue southeast, had been with the three other boys and left them after the others had become trapped in the mud.

Before aid summoned by the Krause boy could reach the two boys, Russell Dorrell, 18 years old, of 3700 Horner place southeast, and Kenneth Hayes, 18 years old, of 3612 Horner place southeast, heard the cries of the entrapped pair. They threw tin and wood over the mud, and Dorrell took off his belt and dragged the boys to firm ground.

The five boys had gone to Bolling Field to get wood and tin to use in building a "clubhouse." About 2 o'clock they started homeward, and Ellis Tippet suggested a short cut, which passed the foot of Portland street southeast, where dredging operations have been in progress for the extension of Bolling Field.

As they were crossing a log over the mud, Ellsworth Tippet fell in and his brother pulled him to safety. The group began shoving each other and Eddie Krause was forced into the

CHEST SPURS DRIVE TO HURDLE HANDICAP

Today Workers Must Regain Lost Ground and Also Meet Usual Quota.

PERSHING URGES ACTION

Faced with the necessity of raising almost $200,000 daily for the next three days if the $1,950,184.40 quota is to be reached, Community Chest workers plan a concentrated and intensive drive today.

Results of Saturday's work were disappointing. The campaigners will start out this morning with the handicap of gaining ground lost Saturday and covering the territory expected for today. Revised figures issued after an audit of the results of Saturday's report made but small change in the totals.

The total amount subscribed Saturday, according to the auditor's report, was $90,360.66, or $640.56 less than the unofficial figures. This brings the total to date to $1,375,810.88 and leaves $574,343.52 for the workers to raise before the closing meeting at Constitution Hall on Wednesday night.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will be guest of honor at today's report luncheon at the Washington Hotel.

Gen. John J. Pershing, chairman of the governmental unit, sent telegrams to the heads of every department and bureau of the Government yesterday, congratulating those who have exceeded their quota and admonishing those that have not yet equaled theirs to see that every legitimate effort is made to raise the amount assigned them.

"We must not fail," he declared. Gen. Pershing, at the start of the campaign, accepted for his unit an increase in quota from $350,000 to $400,000. The general, however, is confident the Government departments will raise the larger amount.

John Poole, president of the Chest, expressed satisfaction over the increased number of givers represented in this campaign over previous ones. He pointed out that the same period last year only 15,000 contributors had

SERIES OF HOLDUPS NETS BANDITS $1,500

Filling Station Collector Is Relieved of $1,360 by Three Armed Men.

TWO MERCHANTS VICTIMS

In four holdups yesterday, a gasoline filling station collector and two storekeepers were robbed of nearly $1,500 in cash, checks and merchandise, while a doctor escaped without loss.

In a stick-up, which police say was planned and executed with finesse, three men robbed Benjamin Burch, collector for the Lord Baltimore Gasoline Stations, of cash and checks totaling $1,360, just as he was leaving the company's station at Sixth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest.

Burch had made nearly half of his collections from the chain of stations throughout the city. He had just received the money from the attendant at the Sixth street station and was getting into his car, when two men approached him, drawing guns and demanding the money. Forcing him into an alley near Sixth and R streets, they took the cash from him, and then fled down the alley and jumped into a car which was manned by a third. The car sped south on New Jersey avenue.

The robbery was witnessed by Jerome Hall, of Columbia street northwest, near Fifteenth street. He and Burch, who lives on First street northwest near Van Buren street, procured a description of the men and noted the license tag numbers of the car.

Police were called and a flash message sent out over the police radio for the apprehension of the car and its three occupants. Headquarters Detectives Michael Dowd and Larry O'Dea investigated and found that the car used by the gunmen was stolen from Fredericksburg, Va.

The headquarters automobile, cruising through the city in an attempt to pick up the trail of the getaway car, found it parked in D street northwest near Sixth. It was noticed by H. H. Carper, driver. De-

Calvin Coolidge

Says: The episode involving Gen. Butler illustrates one of the peculiarities of our military organization. It is very difficult to regulate the speech of our officers. The public usually assumes that the right of free speech is universal and without control. So such breaches of discipline are usually ignored. But such a freedom does not exist in the case of officers, since they are voluntarily in a service where the right to talk is necessarily limited.

The ease with which gossip concerning persons in important positions finds credence is also remarkable. The most trivial incident is passed around and magnified until it becomes a serious accusation. The victims are usually without remedy. When anything of that kind occurs with reference to the officers of a foreign government it is especially reprehensible because it would be none of our concern even if it were true and because its repetition is very injurious to the friendly relations of the innocent people of the two countries.

There are good things enough in the world and good traits enough in all persons to supply about all the topics needed for discussion. International good will should not be imperiled by inconsiderate statements from any source.

Flames Raze Dower House, Built by 2nd Lord Baltimore

Marlboro Structure, Popular as Rendezvous for Washingtonians, Saw Marriage of First President's Stepson and Elenora Calvert.

The Dower House, 8 miles south of Marlboro, which was built by the fourth Lord Baltimore in 1642 and latterly has been a rendezvous for smart Washingtonians, was partly destroyed by fire last night.

All the original structure was burned and only an addition, but in 1720 remains standing. A large stock of antiques and priceless furniture was saved.

The fire was discovered by Miss Catherine Duvall, daughter of Mrs. Matilda Duvall, the present owner. The blaze apparently started under the roof, near the chimney, sweeping the wing in which were the dining room and kitchen.

Five fire engines fought the flames, but lack of water hampered the firemen. Hose had to be laid about 2 miles, but the firemen prevented spread of the blaze to the more recent wing.

Fire engines that responded to the alarm came from Marlboro, Capitol Heights, Greater Capitol Heights, Boulevard Heights and Seat Pleasant.

It was in Dower House that George Washington's stepson, John Parke Custis, married Elenora Calvert, granddaughter of the builder. The place was built as a hunting lodge, and became known as the Dower House when it was given to the widow of Henry Calvert, grandson of the fourth

New York Dry Force Raids $1,000,000 Distilling Plant

Equipment Found at Elmira Most Elaborate Located in State Since Advent of Prohibition; 11 Are Held on Conspiracy Charges.

Elmira, N. Y., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—A $1,000,000 alcohol distilling plant, said to have been the biggest and most elaborate taken in the State since the advent of prohibition, was raided here this morning by eight special Department of Justice agents, under the direction of Deputy Prohibition Administrator Martin O. Hanson, of New York.

Eleven men, found at the plant, were arrested on charges of conspiracy and operating an unlicensed brewery.

The equipment and materials were valued by the agents at $1,000,000. Huge vats, valuable stills, railroad cars and a large quantity of alcohol and alcohol mash were seized.

The men arrested gave their names as Frank Wilson, 35, Brooklyn; Lawrence Blackman, alias Harris, 38, Buffalo, N. Y.; Sam Kirsch, Chicago, George Adams, 38, Troy, N. Y.; Benny Goldberg, 36, Irving Gold, 38, Charles Bennett, 38, Louis Schneider, 30, Jacob Fried, 49, Jack Friedman, 37, and Mike Jacobs, 34, all of New York City.

The agents, picked from the New York City office, arrived in Elmira about 1 o'clock. They surrounded the brewery before climbing over a high board fence.

They said the plant was working when they entered into the rooms on the workmen.

All refused to pay and set up considerable of a demonstration, waving congress flags and refusing to quiet down even when the district magistrate and a strong police force arrested some of them.

SIX ALLEGED NIGHT HUNTERS ARRESTED

Maryland Game Wardens, Police Seize Two Parties Near Indianhead.

PAIR SWIMS TO SAFETY

Because of protests by duck hunters that night hunters were illegally slaughtering ducks in Southern Maryland and spoiling the sport, State Game Wardens early Saturday morning in a forary into the marshes of Blind Stump Neck, near Indian Head, arrested six alleged night game killers, consisting of two parties.

Led by Sergt. H. G. Machen, of Prince Georges County, who is an ardent duck hunter and was angered by the encroachment of the night hunters, Game Wardens J. W. Rogers, Harry Rogers, J. D. Fisher and P. H. Clark went into the flats of Chickamuxent Creek. They came upon a party of four hunters, two of whom escaped by jumping from their boat and swimming away. Those arrested, Peter Wheeler and Allie Wheeler, both of St. Marys County, were lodged at the Marlboro jail, and yesterday were released on bond.

Returning to the creek, the wardens arrested another party of four, who were alleged to be hunting. They were Edgar, Harold, Woodrow and Mitchell Milstead. Police say that Edgar carried the badge and credentials of a Federal game warden. All were taken to Marlboro and charged with hunting at night. Yesterday they were released on bond.

Wardens say there may be some question of jurisdiction, as the men were on the United States military reservation at Indian Head. The cases may have to be tried in Federal court.

The Maryland law provides that migratory birds can not be hunted after a half hour from sunset or before a half hour of sunrise. The penalty for such illegal hunting is a fine of from $50 to $200 and the confiscation of boats, guns, decoys and other hunting equipment.

PHONETIC ALPHABET SAVED IN OLD BOOKS

Mormon Letters Unlike Those of Any Existing Language Preserved.

USED IN SALT LAKE CITY

Salt Lake City, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—A phonetic alphabet, unlike that of any existing language, is among relics of the commonwealth set up in the Western desert by Mormon pioneers.

Devised by a committee named by Brigham Young, leader of the Mormon pilgrimage to the Great Salt Lake Valley, the Deseret alphabet was taught for several years in schools of the Territory and was used in books and for keeping accounts.

Besides school textbooks, first the Book of Nephi and then the entire Book of Mormon, of which it is a part, were printed in the Deseret alphabet. Several of these volumes are still in existence.

Because of irregularities of accepted English spelling and difficulties they presented to Mormon immigrants from Europe, Brigham Young desired an alphabet that would simplify the task of learning to spell and write English words.

With such an alphabet, it was believed, youths of the Latter Day Saints Church likewise would not have access to the "yellow-colored literature of the age or any unwholesome reading."

Type was made and two school books were printed in the new alphabet in 1868, and in 1869 it was used in the publication of the Book of Mormon. Gradually, however, with the increasing settlement of the Territory, it fell into disuse.

The alphabet's name was derived from that adopted by Mormon pioneers for the religious community they strove to establish in the valley of the Great Salt Lake. It was as the State of Deseret that they applied for admission to the Union.

The word "deseret" is from the Book of Mormon, signifying the honey bee. It has been adopted, with the bee hive, as an emblem of industry, and still is of common occurence in Utah names.

terials seized were one 1,000-gallon still, two 20,000-gallon stills, three 1,500-gallon copper condensers, 45 50-gallon steel drums of alcohol, and more than 7,000 gallons of alcohol in storage.

There were also included one railroad tank car of molasses, one freight car of 50-gallon steel drums, six steam pumps, three blowers, 70 25-gallon carboys of sulphuric acid, fourteen 50-gallon drums of straw oil, two 125-horsepower boilers, with oil burners, 2,500 pounds sugar, six steel vats of 50,000-gallon capacity with alcohol mash, three 10,000-gallon wooden vats of alcohol mash, six 5,000-gallon wooden vats of alcohol mash, three empty 10,000-gallon steel vats.

The plant was Briggs Brewery before prohibition days. Several years ago agents from Washington raided the place and seized a large quantity of "high-power" beer. Its license for making near beer was revoked then.

ITALY DENIES DUCE DROVE VANDERBILT

Says American Was Granted Brief Audience About Five Years Ago.

BUTLER IS IN SECLUSION

Rome, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The Italian foreign office, which last week was quoted as saying that Premier Mussolini had never met Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., said today it did not mean the premier had not met Vanderbilt, but merely that he had not driven with him.

This was in connection with the affair which has caused Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, of the United States Marines, to be summoned for court-martial, as Butler is accused of implying that Mussolini was a hit-and-run driver and is said to have based his account on the story of a motor ride Mr. Vanderbilt took with the premier.

"Vanderbilt had an audience with Premier Mussolini about five years ago," said a foreign office statement, "but it merely was a brief audience, such as hundreds of foreigners have been granted."

"We wish to reiterate emphatically that Vanderbilt never has been driven in an automobile by Premier Mussolini."

(Associated Press.)

Two colorful personalities who worked side by side in the Navy Department years ago will be pitted against each other in the court-martial of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler.

Capt. William C Watts, prosecution counsel, and Maj. Henry Leonard, one of those who will defend the outspoken Marine, were together in the Navy judge advocate general's office back in 1913. Capt. Watts was judge advocate general and Maj. Leonard was his assistant. They untangled many naval legal problems together.

"The prosecution paid us a fine compliment," Maj. Leonard said yesterday, "When they selected Willie Watts as counsel."

Butler, who was ordered court-martialed for remarks he was quoted as making about Premier Mussolini of Italy, remained in seclusion yesterday at the Quantico, Va., Marine base, as he awaited word of the formal charges against him. The charges are expected some time this week. The prosecution and defense then will prepare their cases.

Where and when the proceedings will be held have not been made known.

Maj. Leonard served with Butler in the Boxer rebellion in China and lost an arm saving the Marine officer from possible death from gunfire.

John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, may head Butler's defense counsel, but no definite announcement has been made.

Six rear admirals and a Marine officer have been appointed to hear the testimony against Butler and decide his guilt or innocence.

Los Angeles Test Flight Canceled

Departure of Navy Airship for Panama Tentatively Delayed Two Days.

Lakehurst, N. J., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Without explanation, the contemplated test flight of the Navy dirigible Los Angeles, set for tomorrow morning at 6:30 o'clock, was cancelled late today.

It had been planned to cruise over this territory preparatory to starting tomorrow for the Panama Canal Zone. It was indicated the Panama flight might not start now before Wednesday. One member of the crew was seriously ill tonight. He is Joseph W. Turner. His place will be taken by William F. Hook, radio, first class, of Arcadia, Utah.

When the Los Angeles starts South it will be under sealed orders. It will not be known until these orders are opened whether the ship will take part in the maneuvers on the side of the defending forces or the attackers.

U. S. Envoy to Chile Battles Gale in Plane

Santiago, Chile, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The Bolivian consul at Puerto Gallegos, Argentina, telegraphed the American Embassy today that Ambassador William S. Culbertson and Capt. Ralph Wooten flew there from Rivadavia last night after a hard five-hour battle with terrific winds.

Mr. Culbertson and Capt. Wooten, who is the American military attache in Chile, are covering much unexplored territory in a flight over southern Chile and lower Argentina.

Veto by Family May Wreck Romance of Young Prince

Royal Conferences Called by King When Troth Is Announced.

Stockholm, Sweden, Feb. 1 (A.P.). All Sweden is thrilled today at the royal romance of a 21-year-old prince and a 20-year-old daughter of a commoner which has drawn the frown of the youth's grandfather, King Gustave.

A family council was held at the palace today to consider the engagement just announced of young Prince Lennart and Miss Karin Nissvandt, the daughter of a wealthy stockholm industrialist, who is not of royal or even noble blood.

And while the royal grandfather sought to stop the marriage of the two, who were childhood sweethearts, the whole country from prince to peasant awaited the outcome of a romance which is following the traditionally rough road of true love.

No Swedish prince has married a commoner in almost 400 years. Should the marriage take place, young Lennart, who has always wanted to be a farmer, would be sheared of his title of royal highness and the right to succession to the throne.

Prince William, Lennart's father and second son of the king, today returned hastily from a vacation on the Riviera on summons of the king. Today he and the king held a long discussion of the situation but made no announcement.

Lennart and the young daughter of the prosperous business man first met ten years ago. At that time the girl's older half-sister had married Birger Moerner, the Swedish author, who lived near Prince William's country estate.

The two children became close friends. They attended school in Stockholm and were together so much that their friends spoke of them as "the pair."

Perhaps their common loneliness brought them closer together, for each had lost a mother through divorce—Lennart's mother, the former Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, leaving the country after her marriage to Prince William was dissolved in 1914. (She now is in New York), and the girl's mother being replaced by a stepmother.

Their sudden announcement that they intended to marry caused the aristocracy at the old court to raise its hands in horror and a tempest in a teapot broke about the heads of the young lovers.

While no official statement was forthcoming from the palace, news was circulated in sources close to the court that King Gustave had forbidden the love match. Meanwhile, public sympathy flowed out to the young people.

Some are convinced that the action of the king, who is noted for his kindheartedness, was merely aimed at changing the harsh old law. It was thought possible that the old monarch saw a chance of making use of the present public feeling to bring about legislation which would permit princes marrying commoners with out jeopardizing their royal rights.

As yet there is no confirmation of this surmise, but on its being true depends the future happiness of the young farmer-prince and his pretty would-be bride.

Plan Proposed to Aid China By U. S. Reparation Credits

Paul Monroe Would Have Washington Figure in Scheme Linked With Germany, England, France and War Debts.

Shangahi, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—A plan intended to alleviate the depression which has gripped America and Europe, and to ease China's acute economic situation by using German reparation payments, is under consideration in official Chinese circles.

Paul Monroe, New York, internationally known educator, author, economist and the author of the American plan of returning Boxer indemnity funds to further Chinese education, has approached the Washington Government with his plan.

It was reported officials at Washington have the plan under consideration. Monroe said Nanking Nationalist officials were favorable to the plan.

Briefly, he suggests that, by international action, Germany be enabled to make reparation payments in money and goods in sufficiently large quantities to furnish China the credit and machinery for domestic economic development, which is needed sorely.

Such German advances simultaneously would be credited by France and England as reparation payments to them, while the United States would credit France and England with similar amounts as payments on the latter's war debts to America. The United States, in turn, would accept China's obligations, secured on improvements in China made possible by German advances.

Monroe intends to return to the United States in March and report to the State Department on the results of his conversations with Chinese government leaders. If the Chinese and the United States governments are inclined favorably toward the plan, it is considered likely the State Department will place it before Congress.

Monroe emphasized that he was working in a private capacity.

He said that, so far as the United States was concerned, the crux of the plan was whether America would accept China's securities guaranteeing repayment of amounts Germany advanced to China. These securities, Monroe said, probably were not "gilt edged," but were perhaps better than those offered by the present European situation in connection with possible payment of war debts to America.

"China's problems can not be solved without a strong central government," Monroe said, "and such government is possible only by the suppression of military factions. Suppression of the military would increase banditry and Communism, unless the demobilized soldier is given remunerative employment.

"That is possible on a large scale only through development of railways, highways, rivers and other large public works, which is impossible without large foreign loans. Such loans are impossible now because the Nationalist government lacks credit.

"In untangling the European reparation-war debt situation the plan would greatly assist the European economic condition. Germany can not meet the Young plan obligations unless a market is offered for her goods. All funds advanced China would be expended under the supervision of an international commission representing the interested nations.

"This would not amount to foreign interference in China's political life, but would be limited to supervision of engineering enterprises resulting from the plan.

"In 1930 China imported $400,000,000 in food products. With enhanced credit large increases would follow and provide great relief for the American agricultural problem."

Four Alabamans Die When Auto Hits Train

Tuscumbia, Ala., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Four persons were killed at a grade crossing near here late today when their automobile struck a Southern Railway passenger train. The dead are Lawrence Powell, 25, Muscle Shoals City; James Hyatt, 33; Mrs. James Hyatt, 26, and Henry Grabb, 55, of Guntersville, Ala.

The automobile struck the baggage car of the train and was dragged for some distance along the track.

Hindus, Mohammedans Riot After Moslem Cooks Beef

Native Soldier Burned Alive as Fighting Accompanies Looting of Village Precipitated by Slaughtering Sacred Cow, Which Enraged Indians.

Rawalpindi, India, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The cooking of beef by a Mohammedan teacher in a boarding house today led to wild disorders in a village 40 miles from here, in which a native officer was burned alive and an undetermined number of persons were injured.

The officer killed was a Sikh Jamadar, or native army lieutenant. The rioting, which was of a communical nature, recalls one of the causes of the outbreak of the Indian mutiny, which also arose from the cooking of beef.

To the Moslems, a cow is simply something to be eaten, but to the Hindus it is a sacred animal, and one for which they will fight. When neighboring Hindus and Sikhs learned that the teacher was cooking beef they reprimanded him, whereupon he summoned Moslems from adjoining villages to his aid.

His call was answered by several hundred infuriated Mohammedans, who looted the village, set fire to fifteen shops and threw all the beef they could find into the Hindu temple. This stirred terrific fighting, which ended with the burning alive of Sikh Jamadar.

The trouble was not quelled until a deputy commissioner and a police superintendent took a large force into the village.

The slaughtering of cows always had been a source of trouble between Moslems on one hand and Hindus and Sikhs on the other, and was regarded even by the recent round table Indian conference as one of the most serious obstacles in solving the delicate communal question.

When Moslems throw beef into a Hindu temple, as they did today, it is as certain a way to start a sanguinary battle as for Hindus to heave the body of a dog into a Mohammedan mosque.

The Indian army mutiny of 1857 occurred after the British had introduced an improved rifle which required the use of greased cartridges. Reports spread among the native soldiers that the cartridges had been greased with beef fat, and for two months numerous regiments mutinied in at least 21 garrison points, massacreing hundreds of Europeans, including even women and children.

Static Is Blamed For $25,000 Blast

Chicago, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Three huge gasoline tanks, containing 120,000 gallons of gasoline, at the Sinclair Refining Co.'s plant in East Chicago, exploded and burned this morning. No one was injured. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

It took the combined fire-fighting force of the plant and of East Chicago five hours to subdue the flames.

R. J. Black, general superintendent, said he believed the first blast was caused by static electricity. Gasoline was being pumped into one tank at the time of the explosion.

Group Chairman Quits In Richfield Oil Dispute

New York, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Philip de Ronde, chairman of the common stock holders protective committee of the Richfield Oil Co of California, now in receivership, said today he will resign from the committee tomorrow, as a protest against statements issued on behalf of the committee, of which he has no knowledge.

Bandits Make Victims Tie Trousers in Knots

New York, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The little tikes who used to climb out of the old swimmin' hole to find their clothes all tied in tight knots had nothing on the gentlemen in the clubrooms of the Savoy Society, Inc., today.

Six bandits walked in on the club members, and, at the points of machine gun and shotguns, collected about $1,000. This done, the robbers required the victims to take off their trousers and toss them into a corner. Two men were assigned to tie the pants into lots of knots.

The bandits then walked out, leaving the scene of club members with the knotty problem.

BONUS COMPROMISE SEEKS $800,000,000

Plan Proposed to Bridge Chasm in Dispute Over Move to Aid Needy.

HEARINGS RESUME TODAY

(Associated Press.)

A compromise proposal to provide war veterans with approximately $800,000,000 on their adjusted compensation certificates was under consideration last night in the effort to enact veterans' relief legislation this session.

This plan has been advanced to bridge the chasm between the conflicting views of House members who favor payment of the certificates, full face value and those who oppose any legislation at this time.

Secretary Mellon has led the opposition nto the full payment plan. He told the House ways and means committee such action would upset the Nation's financial structure and would cost $3,400,000,000.

There were indications the compromise might be accepted by House opponents of any legislation, provided those who favor cash redemption would not press for additional payments

The compromise would permit additional loans on the bonus certificates, allowing a maximum of 52 per cent, indebtedness, instead of the 22 per cent.

The ways and means committee expects to resume hearings today with such veterans' champions as Representative Rankin, Mississippi; Edwards, Georgia, and Johnson, Texas, Democrats, and Clancy, Michigan, Republican, to be heard, in addition to witnesses for the opposition.

Chairman Hawley said it would be Wednesday night "at least" before the group could meet in executive session to determine on its recommendations.

Bonus Cash Is Opposed By Investment Bankers

Absecon, N. J., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The board of governors of the Investment Bankers Association went on record today as opposing legislation for immediate payment of soldiers' bonuses.

In a resolution unanimously approved at the annual board meeting by 40 representative investment houses, the board said that for Congress to pass pending legislation for payment of the bonuses would give temporary relief to some American people, but would be detrimental to the recovery of prosperity of the Nation as a whole.

The bankers pledged support to the constant effort of obtaining adequate appreciation for war work, but declared that the payment of cash this year would only hinder recovery of business generally in the Nation and would block opening of avenues of employment. Henry T. Ferris, of St. Louis, presided.

New York, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—General opposition to the floating of a bond issue by the Government to convert soldiers' adjusted compensation certificates into cash was expressed in telegrams from 35 bankers in all parts of the country made public today by the National Securities Owners Association.

All of the bankers said they believed the proposed bond issue would unsettle financial conditions, and were in agreement with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as to the possible effect on the bond market.

TWO BOYS ARE SAVED FROM DEATH IN MUD

bog. Gus Law tried to pull him out and he, too, was drawn in. Layne Loeffler went to their aid, lost his balance, and sank into the mud.

The two Tippet boys, apparently not realizing the danger, went home. As the three fought to free themselves, their struggles only served to imbed them more deeply in the muck.

Toward 4 o'clock, Eddie Krause, who had sunk to his waist, managed to grasp a log and draw himself to safety. He tried to aid the other boys and failing, he ran for aid.

Screams of the other two boys were heard by Dorrell and Hayes, who were walking along the railroad tracks. Loeffler and Law had sunk beyond their shoulders when Dorrell and Hayes reached them.

The two rescuers made a path of wood and tin across the mud and Dorrell then drew them to safety with his belt. Meanwhile, the Krause boy notified his father who, in turn, informed S. G. Loeffler.

When the parents of the boys and the Fire Rescue Squad arrived the boys had been drawn to safety.

Farmer Offers Trade, Cows for Auto Tags

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—One Missouri farmer wants to go back to primitive methods of barter and exchange.

The secretary of state has received a letter from a rural resident who drives his ancient car to town about once a week. He proposed that the secretary accept "two good cows" in lieu of $10.50 cash for a 1931 license.

DO-X'S NEXT FLIGHT HALTED BY CLOUDS

845-MILE VOYAGE AHEAD

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The German seaplane DO-X postponed the second leg of its flight to Brazil until tomorrow because of rough seas, cloudiness and generally unfavorable weather conditions.

The giant passenger flying boat, which arrived here yesterday from Lisbon with nineteen persons aboard, probably will take off at 7 a. m. tomorrow for the 845-mile hop to the Cape Verde Islands, if flying conditions improve. The flight had been scheduled for today.

After the twelve American motors of the plane had been tested today the DO-X was refueled and her officers piloted her to an anchorage in the bay. There she will remain until tomorrow. A large crowd watched today's maneuvers.

The airship, which is carrying 180,000 pieces of mail in addition to six passengers and a crew of thirteen, made the 715-mile jump from Lisbon, Portugal, in a little more than seven hours. The trip was uneventful.

Scores Injured In Student Riot

Greek Hospital Attaches Attack Young Turks in Istanbul Fight.

Istanbul, Turkey, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Scores were injured today in a fight between Turkish medical students and attaches of the Yedikoule Greek Hospital, oldest hospital in the Near East.

One hundred students marched to the hospital and demanded the Greek director apologize for newspaper statements attributed to him which were viewed as insulting Turkish medical science.

Hospital aides, brandishing knives, attacked the students massed in the hospital garden.

Two hundred policemen dispersed the combatants. Ten hospital employes were arrested.

Four Killed, 8 Injured When Autos Collide

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Feb. 1 (A.P.). Four persons were killed and eight others injured when an automobile occupied by eight white persons collided with one in which four Negroes were riding near here today.

The dead: G. G. Berry and Mrs. Rosy McCoy, of West Palm Beach, and Fred Bartlet and Harold Smith, Negroes, of Jupiter. Officers reported that shortly after the collision another car crashed into the wreckage, running over two of the injured. Three sailors in it were arrested.

Wales Disappoints Havana By Remaining Aboard Ship

Thousands Line Sea Wall in Vain to See Prince and Brother, Whose Vessel Leaves for Kingston After Only Five-Hour Stay.

Havana, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales and Prince George, who are traveling to South America as royal drummers, were in Havana this forenoon on the liner Oropesa, but left for Jamaica without disembarking.

The Oropesa steamed into the harbor at 6:40 a. m., and lifted anchor for Kingston, the next stop, at 11:44.

Thousands were disappointed that they did not get to see the British heir and his younger brother. Despite the early hour, thousands of Cubans and tourists lined the docks and sea walls, but the liner merely dropped anchor in midharbor, where immigration and customs officers boarded her.

No one had any luck, for the princes remained inside.

The only persons who went aboard were the British Minister, Thomas J. Morris; Francisco M. Fernandez, Cuban secretary of state, and Enrique Soler y Baro, official representative of President Machado. They stayed only a short time.

As the boat left, however, the Prince of Wales came on deck and waved to some 2,000 persons, among them many members of the British colony here, who were clustered on Morro Castle Heights.

Passengers said that the prince, who by this voyage hopes to increase England's lever in South American commercial eyes, has spent much time on shipboard brushing up on his recently acquired knowledge of Spanish.

Prince George's newly displayed ability at the piano delighted those aboard ship, the passengers said.

Mrs. McPherson's Voyage Explained

Evangelist's Son Says She Is on Way to Visit Grave of Husband in China.

Los Angeles, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Rolf Semple, son of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, told the congregation at Angelus Temple today his mother and sister, Roberta Semple, were aboard a ship bound for Shanghai. The evangelist's object, he said, was to visit the grave of her first husband, Robert Semple, who died in China, eighteen years ago, where he was a missionary.

Rolf, speaking from the pulpit, said he had received a cablegram from his mother at Honolulu, authorizing him to make the announcement.

Mrs. McPherson disappeared from Angelus Temple, where she is pastor, January 22. Honolulu dispatches Friday said Mrs. McPherson and her daughter had wisited there on the regular stop of the liner President Wilson, and continued their journey toward Shanghai.

Will Rogers' Relief Tour Nets $82,000

Estimate Based on Week's Drive to Aid Those in Drought Area.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The efforts of Will Rogers, cowboy humorist, actor and writer, to bring relief to drought and unemployment sufferers in Texas are estimated to have netted approximately $82,000 in one week.

Beginning a State-wide speaking tour of the State in Austin last Monday, Rogers swung rapidly through thirteen cities, making the jumps for the most part in a Navy airplane, piloted by Capt. Frank Hawks, but resorting to automobiles when flying conditions were unfavorable.

Rogers flew here last night with Capt. Hawks. Tomorrow he will open a tour of Oklahoma and Arkansas, with three and four performances scheduled each day. Ticket sales for tomorrow night at Oklahoma City have reached $7,000. Extra chairs have been placed in the auditorium as no more regular seats are available.

VICTOR EVANS DIES; PATENT FIRM'S HEAD

Attorney Conducted World-Wide Practice; Funeral to eB Tomorrow.

INDIAN RELIC COLLECTOR

Victor Justice Evans, 65 years old, of 2500 Massachusetts avenue, died suddenly yesterday at Emergency Hospital at 5 o'clock of heart failure, following an apparently successful operation. He was widely known as a patent attorney and head of the firm of Victor J. Evans & Co., with offices in the Victor Building, Ninth street and Grant place. He was a resident of Washington for 51 years.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Karen Evans; a brother, Arthur L. Evans, and five nieces and nephews, Merlin M., Arthur L., jr., David S., Frances E. and Zenobia E. Evans.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternon from the Church of the Epiphany, on G street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets northwest, under Masonic auspices. Mr. Evans was a member of King Solomon Lodge, Scottish Rite Masons and Almas Temple Shriners. Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers will be Senator Smoot, of Utah; Senator Norbeck, of South Dakota; Senator McMaster, of South Dakota; Senator Dill, of Washington; Representative Gasque, of South Carolina; Representative James Baird, of South Dakota; Everett Sanders, John B. Larner, JoJhn E. Mitchell, Bates Warren, Col. W. A. Winter, Dr. Alex Wetmore, Capt. C. C. Calhoun, Col. Wade Cooper, Dr. Walter Hough and Houston Thompson.

Mr. Evans was born in Delaware, Ohio, in 1866. He spent his early youth in Minnesota and moved to Washington in 1880. He founded the firm of Victor J. Evans & Co. patent attorneys, in 1898.

Since its inception the firm has grown and prospered until it now is considered one of the largest in the world of its kind, and handles many important cases in the United States and foreign countries. It maintains branches in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and San Francisco.

Mr. Evans was a man of wide interests. He owned a large amount of Washington property, built the Victor Building, the present Interstate Commerce Building, the present Department of Commerce Building at Nineteenth and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, the Civil Service Building and the Ordinance Building.

Among his hobbies were collecting Indian relics and rare zoological specimens. His private collection of Indian handiwork was known as the largest one of its kind in the world and he also gave many rare pieces to museums. Mr. Evans also had a notable collection of Indian paintings.

The interest he took in zoo and animals led him to build a 25-acre private zoo, Acclimation Park, at Ridge road and Cathedral avenue. It was known for its rare birds and animals. Mr. Evans made many donations to the National Zoological Park and similar institutions.

He once presented the Washington Zoo with a blue bear, at that time the only one in captivity.

Mr. Evans' interest in Indian lore brought him directly into some of the most bitter fights made by the race for justice in the United States courts. He arrived at his office one morning to find about 40 Indians awaiting him. The delegates asked him to represent them in their struggles.

Mr. Evans replied that he knew nothing of Indian affairs, but the delegates pointed out that he must like Indians, or he would not have so many Indian things around. They declared that they knew they could trust him, and Mr. Evans took over their cases.

He represented the Sioux tribe in the Black Hills case and later the Cherokees, Assiniboines, and Winnebagos, in claims against the United States, under treaty rights. He was almost uniformly successful in representing the Indians and later, when they were granted citizenship, they often consulted him on political affairs.

Mr. Evans was a pioneer as a backer of aviation and in 1911 promoted the Atwood flight, from St. Louis to Washington, and donated $10,000 as a prize.

Mr. Evans was a director of the Continental rust Co., a member of the Columbia Country Club, the Ten of Us Club, the National Geographic Society, Archaelogical Society and several organizations interested in zoological affairs.

HOUSE WILL REFUSE EFFORTS FOR RELIEF BILL COMPROMISE

the rebellious Senate there were evidences of a movement in the ranks of each side looking to a settlement which will eliminate necessity of an extra session.

Conferences will be started this week between the Senate and House on the dispute. Only four weeks remain before the March 4 adjournment. A showdown before the end of the week is looked for.

Hoover Behind Leaders.

opposed to an extra session of the new Congress, which will be almost evenly divided politically, is standing behind the Republican leaders who have accepted the Democratic challenge for the special meeting.

President Hoover, who is strongly Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, who Saturday formally accepted the challenge, yesterday said he had nothing to add. He indicated support from the President on his stand.

Meanwhile, Senator Caraway (Democrat), of Arkansas, prepared to go before the Senate today in an attack upon the Republican position.

The measure of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, proposing a $25,000,000 Federal relief appropriation to the Red Cross, was supported originally in the Senate by his party and a considerable group of Republicans, including the independent bloc, which has combined with the Democrats consistently in a majority against the Hoover policies.

United Front Problematical.

Whether Senator Robinson can keep this united front on a showdown involving an extra session is problematical, but he was given assurance of united support from his party at a caucus on Friday. The Senate Democrats can admittedly forestall passage of any appropriations for Government operation before the March 4 adjournment and thereby force an extra session.

Six of the measures supplying funds for next year's Government expenditures have passed both the Senate and House, and are now in conference. Included among these is the urgent deficiency bill making more than $120,000,000 immediately available, much of it for construction work.

House leaders have contemplated a general resolution continuing in effect for another year this year's appropriations, but it is conceded this could not get through a Senate blockade any more than could the regular supply bills without some Democratic support.

Compromise Being Sought.

Although the leaders boldly disclaim any compromise, already such a proposition is being sounded out. The proposal would provide for an appropriation of $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 to be made available to a Government agency and to be used for relief upon direction of the President in event of an extreme emergency.

The proposal of Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas, to turn over 20,000,000 bushels of wheat held by the Farm Board for use in the drought areas also is included in the Democratic program, but this, too, faces House opposition.

People's Lobby Assails Statements by Tilson

House Majority Leader J. Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, has been asked why the Federal Government shouldn't "appropriate at least as much to supplement the expenditures of States and cities to prevent starvation as it does to help the States enforce a law prohibiting the consumption of certain beverages" by the People's Lobby in a letter, made public yesterday, in which the lobby refers to the recent House vote on the $25,000,000 appropriation as "a brief postponement of adequate relief."

The letter, in part, follows:

"You are credited with chief responsibility for the brief postponement of adequate relief for victims of the policies of the party of which you are House leader, which have brought America to the inevitable disaster which your party and President seek to hide under the concealing mantle of charity.

"You and your friends characterize Federal appropriation to prevent the suffering which the Red Cross first attempted to deny, then to appease, as a 'dole.'

"Should not the Federal Government appropriate at least as much to supplement the expenditures of States and cities to prevent starvation as it does to help the States enforce a law prohibiting the consumption of certain beverages?

"Since the Federal Government may legitimately spend $50,000,000 a year (including all departments and prison costs) to keep America dry, may it not legitimately spend as much to help the States to keep America fed?

"Nearly every speaker last Friday against the $25,000,000 relief appropriation knowns that not a single city is looking after its unemployed adequately. Why was the House committee on appropriations afraid to summon Col. Arthur Woods to tell it how much he thought Congress should appropriate for relief?

"Congress will appropriate $250,000,000 to $500,000,000 for relief within a year, and you know it—but upon you rests the responsibility for the suffering meanwhile of millions of women and children, because you have refused to recognize and deal with the facts."

tectives O'Dea and Dowd questioned persons living in the vicinity and located a woman who said that another car bearing Virginia tags had been parked there for several hours. Police believe it was left there for the change by the fleeing bandits.

At this same gasoline station an attendant was shot and killed by colored holdup men about two years ago. Late in November it was held up and robbed by two white men who escaped. Early last June, Walter Tapscott, a collector for the Lord Baltimore Co., was robbed of several thousand dollars at the Company's station on Pennsylvania avenue northwest, near Second street.

Two armed colored men held up Joseph Ware at this store on Seventh street northwest yesterday morning and robbed him of $81, he told police. He said the men entered the store and one of them drew two guns and menaced him with them, while the other searched his pockets. He told police that both wore dark glasses and had black mustaches, which he believes were false.

William E. Brown, colored proprietor of a delicatessan store on First street, near O street, northwest, told police that he was held up yesterday morning by four colored men, who robbed his cash register of $8.50 in bills and change and also took cigarettes worth $3.60. He said they escaped in a black, closed automobile.

When he answered the bell of his apartment at Seventeenth street, near I street northwest, early yesterday morning, Dr. Robert E. Motley was greeted by two men, one of whom held a pistol and asked for money. After searching him they left with nothing of value, police said.

Lord Baltimore. Legend says that the British staff made the house a headquarters on the march to Bladensburg in the War of 1812.

The house has changed hands by purchase only once, having been bought by Mrs. Duvall in 1898. She purchased it from the heirs of the fourth Baltimore.

In recent years it was "discovered" by a few Washingtonians, and had been the scene of many exclusive luncheons and teas. On occasion, 300 have had luncheon in the commodious rooms of the old place.

Flowered Crepes Smart for Pajamas

Paris, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Even pajamas have adopted the vogue for flowered crepes. One of the smartest women in Paris has selected lounging pajamas of beige georgette crepe patterned in flowers of dull blue.

A short hip-length coat is worn with the pajamas, which combine blouse and trousers in one piece.

registered, whereas up to Saturday noon, more than 49,000 names had appeared on the list of donors.

Elwood Street, director of the Chest, predicted that 100,000 would contribute this year, as compared with 68,500 last year.

Chest leaders are expecting a $300,000 report at today's luncheon. Many of the Government departments behind on their quotas have promised a large report for today. Members of the Metropolitan and Special Gifts Unit spent most of yesterday visiting prospective contributors. The Schools Unit, late in organizing, is expected to make a good report today and workers of the Group Solicitation Unit, with Saturday and this morning to work, also expect to have a big day.

In response to a letter from E. F. Colladay, campign chairman, the Community Chest plea was presented by nearly all ministers of the city. Some of them again devoted their entire sermons to the Chest and others took time from the regular sermons to explain the seriousness of the situation should the Chest fail to reach its goal.

Girl Athletes' Collapse Stirs Foes of Training

Sydney, Australia, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Recent schoolgirls' athletic championship contests here have aroused fierce controversy as to whether vigorous sporting events may not be more harmful than good for girls.

Winners and losers alike retired to weep after strenuous contests, several of the champions collapsed, and others were trembling so violently that glasses of mild stimulants had to be given them.

Brocaded Waistcoats Latest Paris Style

Paris, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Brocaded waistcoats are seen these days with the dressmaker suits which are such a favorite in Paris just now.

One of the smartest is a green and gold affair of Persian inspiration which has a plain round neck, five buttons down the front and ends in two points like a man's dress waistcoat.

More Australian Divorces.

Sydney, Australia, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—One result of economic depression in Australia is a big increase in divorce actions. The cause is attributed to lower incomes resulting in domestic hardship. A decrease in marriages also is noted.

CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

GROUP IN ARLINGTON TO STUDY ZONE PLAN

Amendment to Memorial Parkway Bill Also Before Federation.

TO DISCUSS GAS RATES

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Zoning proposals and the gas rate situation will be considered by the Arlington County Civic Federation at its February meeting in the Lyon Park Community House tomorrow night, Harry A. Fellows, president of the federation, has announced. Acting upon Mr. Fellows' suggestion, Arthur Orr, chairman, has called a meeting of the federation committee on internal improvements and zoning for 7 o'clock tomorrow evening, an hour in advance of the federation meeting.

The committee has before it the bill recently introduced in Congress by Representative Cramton, of Michigan, amending the Capper-Cramton act, providing for the George Washington Memorial Parkway.

Revise Existing Terms.

The amendment specifies that the parkway shall include a park drive from Arlington Memorial Bridge to the Chain Bridge on the Virginia side, and alters the provisions of the present law that no money shall be expended by the United States for any unit of the project until definite commitments have been received from the States of Maryland and Virginia for one-half the cost of acquiring land.

The new bill would provide that up to $3,000,000 may be expended by the United States, for the payment in full of the purchase price of lands deemed necessary to the project, with the agreement that the amount spent is to be matched by subsequent donations from Maryland and Virginia. The total expenditure of the Federal Government for lands in the parkway is not to exceed 50 per cent of the total cost under the revised plan.

Others Pay Later.

This provision is interpreted as meaning that $3,000,000 of the total authorization may be spent immediately, without waiting for the States of Virginia or Maryland to commit themselves, under the assumption that the two States will, eventually, contribute their half of the cost.

It is understood that a number of important tracts, contemplated for use in the parkway, will have to be purchased immediately to prevent their being put to adverse use. It is thought the provisions of the pending bill wil enable the Government to make such purchases soon.

Funeral services for Minor R. Jacobs, 53 years old, who died suddenly fololwing a heart attack in the engine room of the Wardman Park Hatel, Washington, Saturday afternoon, will be conducted from his late home in Cherrydale tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, by the Rev. A. G. Garland. Services at the grave will be conducted by Harmony Lodge, No. 17, F. & A. M., of Washington, of which he was a member. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mildred, and two sons, Bartlet and Edward.

After viewing the body of a colored man found to be James E. Hamlett, 50 years old, in a cabin on the Potomac River, just above the Key Bridge, yesterday, Dr. B. H. Swain, coroner, issued a certificate of death due to lung congestion. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of C. J. Ives, in Clarendon.

The preschool dental clinics for the month of February will be held as follows: Today and tomorrow at the Clarendon Health Center; Wednesday, at the Jefferson District Health Center, and Thursday at the Cherrydale Health Center. The clinics will be conducted by Dr. C. R. Fyfland, county school dentist, from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Hume School and Civic League will hold its monthly meeting Thursday night at the schoolhouse. Mrs. Marshall Wright, chairman of the school committee, has announced that there will be a meeting of the committee preceding the league session.

An old-fashioned spelling bee will be held tonight at the Virginia Avenue Christian Church in Lyon Park, under the auspices of the young peoples' class. Those attending are to dress as children. A prize will be awarded for the funniest costume.

The Fideles Circle, of St. George's Episcopal Church, will meet Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. T. Stone, 149 Marion avenue, Clarendon.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will hold a card party Friday evening, February 13, in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements are C. K. Kloman, chairman; Joseph C. Anderson nad Dr. J. A. Boston.

The Missionary Society of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church of Ballston, will hold an all-day joint meeting at the home of MHrs. McKinney.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Washington Lee High School in the school auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

A benefit supper will be given by Ballston Council, No. 20, Daughters of America, tomorrow evening at the Ballston Firemen's Hall.

Plans are being completed by the Cherrydale Fire Department for its eleventh annual minstrel show, to be given in the auditorium of the firemen's hall on the evenings of March 19, 20 and 21.

The Holy Name Society of St. James Catholic Church, at West Falls Church, will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Falls Church Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has elected the following delegates to the national convention: Mrs. C. N. McGroaty, regent; Mrs. John Bethune, vice regent; Mrs. George Fadeley, Mrs. M. A. Cobb, Mrs. S. H. Styles, Mrs. Philip Talbott, Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. Pearce Horne, Mrs. E. C. Hough, Miss Gertrude Orr, and Mrs. George Baxter.

The Arlington Chapter No. 149, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Pemmie Miller, 26 Holly street, Clarendon.

The Arlington Volunteer Fire Department announces that it is giving a benefit oyster supper at the firemen's hall tomorrow night from 5 to 8:30 o'clock.

Chief A. C. Scheffel is general chairman in charge of the arrangements. Officers and members of the ladies auxiliary will assist.

Marine Is Killed By Freight Train

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., Feb. 1.—Sergt. J. J. Justice, 27, attached to the Marine Aviation Squadron here, was killed this morning as his car stalled and was hit by a freight train. Wreckage was strewn for 300 yards along the tracks.

Justice was the son of William Justice, of Lima, Ohio. He had been in the Marine Corps seven years. He was stationed in Haiti for two years with the Aircraft Squadron and took part in quelling several native uprisings.

$50,000 BOND SALE WILL BE DISCUSSED

Revenue Commissioner Is to Assist Taxpayers in Fairfax County.

LEIGH RITES ANNOUNCED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Fairfax town council will hold a special meeting this evening to consider ways and means of selling the $50,000 bonds for the construction of a municipal water system, which was authorized at a special election last November.

The official pump test of the well which has been drilled on the land purchased by the town from Mrs. Norah V. Allison on Payne street to supply water for the municipal system averaged better than 60 gallons a minute flow from a depth of 170 feet. Engineers believe the well is capable of producing more than 100 gallons a minute from a depth of slightly more than 200 feet.

The well was drilled 305 feet deep. This is more water than is needed, as the automatic pump has a capacity of only 50 gallons a minute.

Engineers from the McCrary Co., who have the contract for installing the water system, state that the construction of the system will be started immediately. Trenches for the mains will be dug, the pumphouse built and the foundations laid for the storage tank. This tank is to be 100 feet high. Local labor will be used for the entire system, except the supervisory jobs. The contract calls for the completion of the entire system within 80 working days. Hydrants will be available in the central portion for fire protection before that time, but it is stated no connections for consumers will be made until after the system is completed and the mains thoroughly flushed.

Members of the town council believe that a second well will be drilled to provide an emergency supply as soon as a site can be selected. A number of suitable locations have been tentatively selected. This second well is to be located in a different section, probably the northeast section, on as high an elevation as possible. While the first well is adequate enough to supply the entire demand, it is planned to operate the two pumps at the same time on less than a maximum capacity, in order that the reserve pressure may always be available in the event of fire. The pumps will force the water into the mains. The water in the storage tank will be used as a reserve in case of an emergency.

The school and the Community League at McLean will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night in the auditorium at the Franklin-Sherman School at McLean.

The joint meeting of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and the County School Board, which was called for today, has been postponed until tomorrow, so as to suit the convenience of several members who had planned to attend the annual meeting of the Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers Association at Silver Spring, Md., today.

The Junior Auxiliary of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church at McLean will hold its meeting this afternoon under the direction of Mrs. LaMar Harris.

Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, will meet with the 4-H Club at Falls Church this afternoon. She will give a demonstration on economical meat dishes. Following the demonstration Irene Henson will talk on "Every Day Courtesies in the Home." Mavis Kearns will talk on "How to Introduce People;" Ernest Williams, on the "Duties of the Hostess;" Betty Ward, on "The Duties of the Guest;" Pauline Brown, on "Etiquette in Public Places," and Mary Fox on "Social Customs."

Commissioner of Revenue James U. Kincheloe has announced that he or his deputy, J. Sidney Wiley, will be at Accotink today and at Engleside tomorrow to assist taxpayers in those communities to make out their income tax, and tangible and intangible property returns for this year. Under the State law the taxpaver must meet the commisisoner and make their returns at this time.

The Boy Scout Council of Fairfax County will meet this evening in the scout hall at Annandale. Plans will be completed at this meeting for church services next Sunday in honor of the national Boy Scout birthday anniversary, and for the program to be given next week in the scout hall.

Funeral services for Marmaduke Leigh, 71, prominent Fairfax County farmer, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Southern Methodist Church at Andrew Chapel. Mr. Leigh had been a well-known civic leader in the Colvin Run neighborhood. He was found dead in bed Saturday morning by neighbors who forced their way into his home. He had been dead about 48 hours before his body was discovered. Mrs. Leigh had been in Washington visiting a daughter.

Dr. E. C. Shaw acting as Fairfax County coroner declared that the death was a result of heart disease.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Anna Leigh, of Washington, and Mrs. Luther Harrison, of Clarksdale, Miss.

EFFICIENT METHODS USED BY CHARITIES

SCHOOL PLANS DELAYED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The first week in which the Alexandria United Charities occupied officers in the city hall, indicated that the present arrangement is more satisfactory. According to Mrs. T. Clifton Howard, approximately 100 tickets, calling for groceries and other articles, were issued during the week, each case being investigated.

In order to prevent duplication of orders to persons who had already obtained tickets, it was decided that each day ward workers would call headquarters and report the names of those who had obtained orders from them during the day. A record will be kept so those on duty may be able to familiarize themselves with conditions. This system, it is said, will result in a wider distribution of aid to the worthy poor. Mrs. Howard believes the present system is more satisfactory than the former method of having applicants call at the homes of ward workers.

Announcement has been made of the receipt of a check of $100 from the Sanitary Grocery Co. from its Washington headquarters, and the information that the company's employes will each donate one day's pay to the charity fund. The clerks of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad have decided to forego their usual annual banquet, and contribute $150, to the charity fund.

The ward workers are now issuing tickets for wood which has been donated by the Fruit Growers Express.

Plans presented to the city council by the school board for the erection of a new high school, to cast $325,000, hardly will be realized this year, according to the city council. The plans as presented were quite elaborate, the building proposed to contain all modern school conveniences, including an auditorium.

Lack of funds and the unwillingness of the city council to float a new bond issue are given for the failure to include this building in the plans for the current year. One councilman estimated that the construction and maintenance, together with the additional force of instructors required, would incerase the annual budget of the city by approximately $50,000, and would probably result in a necessary increase in the tax rate, which is believed to be already as high as conditions will warrant.

According to R. M. Colvin, superintendent of the Potomac Freight Yards, approximately 400 carloads of fruits and vegetables are now passing through the yards each night, en route from the South to the Eastern markets. The fruits come chiefly from Florida, and the vegetables from Georgia and South Carolina. All are consigned to New York.

The proposal for the removal of three big signs erected by the Northern Virginia Hotels Corporation along the highway near Alexandria, advertising the George Mason Hotel in Alexandria, has been deferred by the board of directors. A movement was launched recently to have the highways cleared so far as practicable of these advertising signs in advance of the bicentennial celebration of Washington's Birthday in 1932, the movement, so far, being entirely voluntary o nthe part of the owners of the signs.

A report of the accomplishments of the local Salvation Army headquarters, by Capt. Ernest Hopkins and Envoy Annie Tustin, shows that during January 354 persons were given lodging, 162 meals furnished, and seven men supplied with overcoats. Clothing was given to many of those seeking shelter.

Capt. Hopkins has announced that the local unit does not receive any aid from the Community Chest or local charities, and asks that the general public of Alexandria come to his assistance.

Mrs. Amelia Virginia Wiley, 64, widow of W. F. Wiley, died on Saturday at her home at Lorton, Va. The body was brought to the Wheatley Funeral Home until the funeral at 3 p. m. tomorrow afternoon, from Lewis Chapel, to be conducted by the Rev. Dr. H. H. Hoyt.

Albert Callahan, 61, a derrick engineer employed by the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad, died on Saturday at his home, No. 7 North Washington street extended. Besides his widow, Mrs. Lula Callahan, he is survived by two daughetrs, Mrs. Catherine Watson and Miss Nellie Callahan; two sisters, Mrs. Sallie Watson and Mrs. Bettie Robye, both of Washington, and a brother, William Callahan, of Culpeper, Va. The funeral party will leave the home at 12:10 o'clock today for Andrew's Chapel, Stafford Courthouse, Va., where the services will be held at 2 o'clock.

Three Cows Worth 33 Others.

Durham, N. H., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Some farmers have to milk 33 cows each to make as large returns above feed cost as others who milk only three. In a test, 1,600 cows averaged an annual income of $18 over feed cost while 2,000 others, producing five times as much butterfat, averaged $200.

Build Trucks for Russia.

Turin, Italy, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Work has been started on 300 motor trucks, to be delivered to the Soviets under the Italian-Russian trade treaty signed last summer. Spa, a fiat unit, will deliver 25 light trucks and 275 of its model 31. The machines will cost $300,000.

WORKER NEAR DEATH FOUND BY ROADSIDE

Assailant Sought in Brutal Attack; Victim Has Hand Amputated.

REPORT DRINKING PARTY

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Feb. 1.—Authorities today are hunting an unidentified assailant who last night brutally attacked Carter Roberts, 27-year-old highway worker, with a weapon believed to have been an ax and left him lying for dead on a by-road near Three-Cornered Handkerchief, a roadside hamlet in Spotsylvania County, 20 miles from here. His right hand was almost completely severed from the wrist; a deep scalp wound was inflicted, and two 5-inch gashes over the heart were found this morning, after the hand had been amputated in the hospital here.

Doctors said coagulation prevented his bleeding to death, and described his condition as dangerous, although he has a good chance of living.

Roberts said he was drinking last night at the home of Homer Smith, a neighbor, with several fellow workers, but could recall nothing that transpired after becoming intoxicated. He believes he was struck on the head first, and that the other blows followed. A man named Goodman, who was in the Smith home, said he left when the owner and Roberts quarreled. As he was returning later he found Roberts lying on the road near Smith's home. It is not known whether the injured man was taken there or walked in a state of semi-consciousness.

Investigators had made no arrests at a late hour today. Roberts is married and the father of four children.

WILSON APPOINTED PETERSBURG JUDGE

Named by Pollard to Succeed Late J. M. Mullen, of Hustings Court.

TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 1.—Richard T. Wilson, former Mayor of Petersburg, has been appointed by Gov. Pollard as judge of the Hustings Court of Petersburg to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Judge J. M. Mullen, and he has qualified by taking the required oath. He will enter upon the duties of the new post at the end of the January term of the court, over which Judge E. M. Cox is presiding.

Judge Wilson was born in Petersburg September 24, 1881, and has spent most of his life here. He received his preliminary education in the public schools. In 1901 he received his bachelor of arts degree from Randolph Macon College and the following year his master of arts degree from the same college. He then taught mathematics for six years, two years in McGuire's School, in Richmond, and then at Randolph Macon Academy, Bedford City.

In 1908 he entered the University of Virginia, where he received his LL. B. degree in 1910. After receiving his law degree, Judge Wilson returned to Petersburg and has been practicing law here ever since. During the World War Judge Wilson was special assistant to the United States attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia.

Judge Wilson is the son of the Rev. R. T. Wilson, who served two churches in Petersburg and was for some time presiding elder of this district and who prior to his entrance into the ministry had practiced law in Petersburg from 1871 to 1887.

Chinese Officials May Arm.

Nanking, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Municipal and district officials have been granted permission by the national government to carry firearms for self-protection. Under the old law these lesser officials were denied the privilege of carrying weapons.

Australian Rent Lower.

Canberra, Australia, Feb. 1 (A.P.). Reductions in rents have led the items making for lower costs of living in Australia in recent months—although living costs generally are about 45 per cent higher than before the World War.

More Russian Copper.

Moscow, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Despite the state of the world copper market and the efforts of American interests to reduce production, the Soviet union has announced its intention to mine 85,600 tons of the metal in 1931 as against 48,600 tons last year.

Careful Switchman Knighted in France

Paris, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The French government has made Louis Mathurin, switchman at the Saint Lazaire Station, a knight of the Legion of Honor.

Mathurin recently hung up his jumper and resigned after 41 years on the job.

In that time lives of 594,000,000 passengers were in his hands, but no accident marred his record.

Gov. Pollard to Speak In Interest of Park

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Feb. 1.—Gov. Pollard has consented to speak at a public gathering here on February 19 in the interest of the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania Battlefield Park. He will also attend the dinner prior to the meeting.

The session has been called partly as the result of a desire by Representative R. Walotn Moore, newly appointed park commissioner, to acquaint the people of this section with the park status and its prospects. A number of prominent military and civil officials will attend.

FOREIGN VETERANS WILL HEAR PATMAN

Texas Representative Listed to Address Post Dinner at Harrisonburg.

HIGH OFFICERS INVITED

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Representative Wright Patman, of Texas, who has been a leader among those in the House of Representatives seeking immediate cash payment of the World War adjusted compensation certificates, will be among the speakers at the tenth anniversary dinner and reunion of the Rion-Bowman post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars here tomorrow night.

A group of high officers and veteran officials was expected to join the Harrisonburg veterans in celebrating the anniversary.

Among those who accepted invitations were Rear Admiral Robert E. Koontz, of Washington; Paul C. Wolman, of Baltimore, commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Col. George E. Ijams, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau; Capt. Edwin S. Bettleheim, of Washington, national legislative chairman of the V. F. W.; Col. E. W. Jordan, of Richmond, regional manager of the United States Veterans' Bureau; John W. Moss, of Hampton; Frank Cavedo, of Richmond; Mrs. Ada E. Harrison, national president of the V. F. W. Ladies Auxiliary, who will come from Woodlawn, N. Y. and Mrs. Marie J. Nerren, of Roanoke, president of the Virginia Department auxiliary.

SALES OF TOBACCO NEAR NEW RECORD

BRIGHT TYPE FEATURED

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 1.—The Petersburg bright tobacco market is 8,000 pounds ahead of last season and 1,100,000 pounds ahead of the same time last year, it was disclosed by tobacco authorities today. Total receipts for tobacco sold here this season are 6415,521.34. For the past week sales amounted to 244,580 pounds. With the present rate it is believed that the market will handle at least 5,000,000 pounds this season. This would establish a new high record for the Petersburg market, the best previous year, 1924, having totaled but 4,482,000.

During the last week inferior grades have held sway and the price average has been low, but some good lots brought as high as 45 cents per pound. The price average here so far is exceptionally good, and it is believed that when the season ends, about the last of this month, the average will be high.

Dark tobacco continues to arrive slowly and that being brought is not of the best grade. Inferior quality seems to have made up the greater part of the crop to be sold here this season. Some lots have brought as high as 42 cents per pound. Only 13,228 pounds were handled here during the past week.

DANVILLE MENACED AGAIN BY VIOLENCE

New Outbreaks Feared Today if Mill Strikers Are Refused Work.

VERBAL ASSAULTS FLY

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 1.—The local textile situation once more assumed a sudden and menacing attitude tonight with 3,000 textile union members who had been informed that they would be reinstated without discrimination. Uncertain whether they had gained a point by the strike now over or had unconditionally surrendered, they were torn between two verbal fires.

Organizer C. W. Bolick, addressing last night's mass meeting of unionists at Dansylvania Hall, in the absence of Francis J. Gorman, represented as being "unavoidably detained," read and explained the terms of an alleged agreement in which it was made to appear that H. M. Morgan, president of the Virginia Coal Corporation, had represented the cause of labor and Dr. Carroll Flippen, of Charlottesville, the mill management. Dr. Flippen is the father-in-law of H. R. Fitzgerald, mill president.

Mr. Fitzgerald was reached by telephone in New York at 1 o'clock this morning and declared that the mill management had not entered into any agreement "of any nature, directly or indirectly, with any organization, individual or group of individuals," and that the mills were under no obligation, expressed or implied, to take back the strikers. He said, however, that it had "always been our policy to give preference to such of our employes whose record entitled them to be considered employes."

Union members were mystified today by the contradictory statements. It was learned realiably, however, that the union was preparing to broadcast a charge that the mills had broken faith with the union. At last night's meeting union men and women were told to go to the mills tomorrow and apply, not for "old jobs," but for work, and, if denied, they are to proceed to union headquarters and register their names and their experience. Fearing that open conflict might result between those who have filled the places of strikers and the union members, Chief of Police J. H. Martin today planned to cover the mill with the 100-strong police force acting as a riot squad. C. S. Garrison, speaking for the union this morning, said that the union would completely ignore the Fitzgerald statement printed today.

Hopewell Man Shot From Ambush at Night

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 1.—John Dillon, 23, of Hopewell, was shot from ambush near that town last night and seriously wounded. He was taken to the Hopewell Hospital, where the bullet was removed.

It is said he was shot because he refused to obey a command to halt. Three boys who accompanied him fled. Who fired the shot is not known.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

G. P. O. IS NEW UNIT OF STANDARD GROUP

TRADE BODIES AFFECTED

The affiliation of the United States Government Printing Office, the largest printing plant in the world, with the American Standards Association, will be announced today at the association's headquarters. The Government Printing Office is the eighth division of the Federal Government to become a member of the American Standards Association participating in the direction of national standardization work.

George H. Carter, the public printer, has appointed B. L. Wehmhoff, technical director in charge of the research laboratory of the office, as its representatives on the Standards Council, the body which governs the technical work of the association.

The Government Printing Office has taken a leading part in standardization work affecting printing establishments. Standardization of blank forms and stationery of various types has been effected by the Printing Office, resulting in the elimination of waste and confusion.

The printing office has been active in developing specifications to cover its major purchases. Standard specifications are now established for the purchases of such materials as paper, ink, type metal alloys. The research laboratory carries on constant investigations covering paper, type metal, inks, adhesives and numerous other printing and binding materials. It also studies air conditioning and other engineering problems of a printing plant. Extensive tests of newsprint paper have been made in cooperation with the mechanical department of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The American Standards Association, which was established by the five major national technical societies in 1918 to coordinate industrial standardization work, now includes in its membership 11 technical societies, 26 national trade associations and the following Federal divisions, in addition to the printing office: The Panama Canal, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, U. S. Department of Commerce, U. S. Department of the Interior, U. S. Department of Labor, U. S. Navy Department and U. S. War Department.

Filipino Veterans Shy at Roxas Plan

Vote Solidly in Refusing to Affiliate With Move for Independence.

Manila, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The Filipino Veterans Association at an annual convention today voted solidly against affiliating with the Bagong Katipunan, the brain child which Manuel Roxas designed to unify various elements behind the Philippine independence campaign. Roxas is speaker of the insular House of Representatives.

Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, leader of the Filipino insurrection against the United States and president of the Veterans' Association, had been expected to attack the new party. Instead he limited himself to saying it looked like a trick to win more votes for the Nationalist party and that Filipino national unity could not be attained through resorting to schemes of defying the sovereign power of the United States.

The remoteness of the general's proposed trip to the United States was suggested when he said he would not go unless he had the united support of the Filipino people. Since some politicians oppose him, it was believed this support was impossible of attainment.

Hitler Newspaper Placed Under Ban

Munich Police Suspend Organ for Attack on Envoy to Italy.

Munich, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Police today suspended the Voelkischer Beobachter, an organ of the Socialist leader, Adolf Hitler, for "violating the law for the protection of the republic." The suspension is effective until February 7.

The offending article on Mussolini and Schubert, attacked Carl von Schubert, German Ambassador to Italy and undersecretary of state under the late Dr. Gustave Stresemann, calling him "the evil spirit behind Stresemann." It also recalled that he and Friederich W. von Prittwitz und Gaffron, now ambassador to Washington, were fellow members with the former crown prince in the Borussia fraternity at Bonn University "when both apparently had not discovered Democracy in their hearts and had "not started founding democratic clubs."

On the other hand, Mussolini was pointed to as exemplary for squelching Schubert's democratic speechifying by delaying the official reception of the German ambassador, although Il Duce accorded immediate reception to the steel helmet organization.

New Albanian Quakes Make Buildings Fall

Koritza, Albania, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Further earth shocks in this area last night caused many buildings to tumble which had been cracked in the severe shocks of last Wednesday. The population fled in panic and camped in the fields.

There they will await the erection of barracks to replace the houses destroyed last week. At that time at least 70 buildings were razed and 1,000 more were made uninhabitable.

Passengers, Crew Safe When Steamers Crash

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Passengers and crew of the liner Arabia Maru, from Vancouver, B. C., for Tokyo, were successfully transferred to the steamer Takoa Maru after the two steamers collided at the entrance of Tokyo Bay this afternoon.

The Arabia Maru was so badly damaged she was abandoned in a sinking condition.

ABOUT $610,000,000 OF OLD BILLS IN USE

Small, New Notes Prove So Popular That Few of Others Are Seen.

$4,388,000,000 IS CUT UP

(Associated Press.)

The large-size bank notes abandoned nineteen months ago in favor of smaller currency are rapidly disappearing from the Nation's pocketbook.

They have been replaced so rapidly that only about one-eighth of nearly $5,000,000,000 is outstanding.

The small notes proved so popular that use of the old currency soon stopped. It is a rare thing nowadays to receive a large note.

In the nineteen months, 721,000,000 of the old bills have been redeemed and gone the way of all old currency—to the macerators in the Treasury and in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Much of the pulp has been dumped on waste piles, for the Government stopped selling it about the time the new notes went into circulation because the price dropped so low there was no profit.

When the small currency appeared there was $4,997,840,000 of the large currency outstanding. Since then the Government has macerated $4,388,000,000 of it, leaving about $610,000,000 outstanding.

United States gold and silver certificates redeemed amounted to $1,840,778,729, Federal Reserve notes to $2,447,867,160, and national bank notes to approximately $100,000,000.

The Government is saving money through adoption of the smaller notes. In the first year of its operation officials estimated use of the smaller, tougher paper had saved the Government about $2,000,000. In future years that amount may be increased if it is found the small currency outlasts the old notes.

Prominent Minnesotan Ends Life by Shooting

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—David Williams, 68, prominent Duluth banker, ended his life today by shooting.

Despondency over ill health and personal affairs was assigned by friends as the cause. Until his resignation a few weeks ago, Mr. Williams was chairman of the board of the First and American Exchange National Bank, oldest and largest institution of its kind in Duluth.

SCHOOLS TO STRESS HISTORY OF NEGROES

Exercises Are Outlined for Week of Observance; Funds Sought.

CITE BANNEKER'S WORK

With the purpose of disproving the theory that the history of Negroes began when the enslaved descendants of Africa in America were emancipated, community centers of divisions 10-13 of public schools will give special programs during National Negro History week, beginning February 8. Each community secretary has invited all of the pastors of the community to speak to their congregations on this theme and all of the colored civic associations have indicated their intention of taking part in the programs.

Organizations will be invited during the week to present funds to the National Association of Colored Women for the upkeep of the home of Frederick Douglass in Cedar Hill, Anacostia. Special programs commemorating progress of the Negro women will be held, with Miss Nannie H. Burroughs, Mrs. Mary Church Terrell and Mrs. Julia West Hamilton as the principal speakers.

During the week stress will be placed upon the service rendered by Benjamin Banneker, Negro astronomer, of Ellicott Mills, Md., who came here with Alexander Ellicott and surveyed the Federal territory, taking up the work where L'Enfant left off and completing it in two years. This historical information is being presented to center interest in the planned Banneker recreation center, between Barry place and Euclid street on Georgia avenue, which will also be the site of the proposed memorial to the achievements of the Negro in America.

Two Deaths Blamed On Premature Spring

St. Paul, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Warm weather indirectly caused the death of two persons in Minnesota when automobiles sank through softened ice today.

At Dassel, Minn., Fred H. Anderson, 45, drowned when his automobile broke through the ice on Lake Washington. William Knutson, 24, Pepin, Wis., drowned when his car went through the ice of Lake Pepin. In each case companions of the drowned men escaped their fate.

CRASH KILLS HEATH, AIRPLANE DESIGNER

CRAFT FLOWN IN RACES

Chicago, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Edward Heath, designer and manufacturer of the Heath parasol airplane, was killed today when a ship he was piloting crashed near suburban Morton Grove.

Heath crashed from an altitude of 200 feet over the farm of Fred Stolting. The flier apparently was having engine trouble, as Stolting said he heard the plane sputtering. The plane was of the high winged monoplane type, powered by rebuilt motorcycle engines.

One of the pioneer light plane designers and manufacturers in the country, he turned out hundreds of the tiny, single-seated craft now in use. Their cheapness, both in original cost and in upkeep, attracted the attention of fliers who could not afford the larger type of ship in general use.

Several ships designed and built by Heath have been flown in the light plane classes of the national air races in recent years, and others competed in the Ford reliability tours.

His latest experiment concerned the use of pontoons on his planes, enabling them to alight on and take off from small bodies of water.

Funny Thing

Public psychology is a funny thing. Sometimes two or three spectacular failures stampede people into thinking that the whole financial structure of a city is unsound. The facts may show that the conditions which cause the crash were in existence months before and have long since passed. Often the actual failure of a concern indicates that an unsound situation has been corrected. The time for alarm was when the unhealthy condition existed, not now. The first month of 1931 has been much better than many people predicted. Many business firms in Washington and other parts of the country feel encouraged by the showing of the last thirty days.

The Washington Gas Light Company, for one, wishes to thank the public for the best January it has ever had, in sales of modern Gas Appliances. We deeply appreciate the confidence which the people of greater Washington place in their Gas Company as shown by the fact that 400% more Gas Appliances were purchased last month than in January a year ago.

The index of our appreciation must be reflected in the improvement of Gas Service. It is our earnest desire to merit your confidence.

President,
Washington Gas Light Company.

RASKOB CALLS A HALT.

The Democrats of the Senate are already flying the distress flag. On Friday they issued the ultimatum, "Federal dole or an extra session." On Saturday they heard from the Democratic press and from their master, the owner of the Democratic party, John J. Raskob. They are now begging the administration to agree to a "compromise."

To what extent the Senate Democrats blundered into their fatal ultimatum by acting upon the advice of their real leader, Senator Norris, and to what extent the blunder is the result of the struggle between Democrats for nominal leadership in the Senate is, of course, not disclosed. Senator Robinson was compelled to surrender his leadership or eat his words promising cooperation with the administration in the common effort to relieve public distress. He ate the leek. But he is a dry, and opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He must be set aside if the plans of the party's mortgagee are to be made effective. He must go, in order to make way for the renomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith upon a wet platform.

The revolt of Democratic drys began on Saturday when Senator Morrison, of North Carolina, served notice that Southern Democrats would not permit their party to adopt a wet platform, and would not consent to be read out of their party if the Raskobites should force a wet candidate and wet platform upon them. But Mr. Raskob has already arranged with a high-powered syndicate to drum up funds on a commission basis, with which to repay his mortgage upon the party. Mr. Raskob is in a position to issue a little ultimatum of his own: "Pay up or shut up!" What is Mr. Morrison's answer to that? He can point to subscriptions of $15,000 toward cancellation of the $600,000 mortgage, but the public is even more reluctant to relieve the Democratic drought than it is to help the Red Cross. Not a Democrat in the Senate has contributed a cent toward cancellation of Mr. Raskob's mortgage.

So the Democratic party is moving toward 1932 with a Southern revolt already arranged, and a Senate record which arrays the business elements of the country against the party. Mr. Raskob is rich, but he can not afford to prolong hard times indefinitely by forcing an extra session of Congress which would paralyze all enterprise and break down hard-pressed institutions. Mr. Raskob doubtless has directed Senate Democrats to save themselves if possible by obtaining a "compromise" from the administration.

There can be no compromise on the question of a Federal dole. The administration and the House have defeated the Senate three times on that proposition since December 15. They can defeat the Senate as often as the proposition is advanced. The only terms that can be granted to the Senate on the dole question are those of unconditional surrender. The Senate Democrats may manage to save their faces to some extent by stressing minor items in the relief program, but they will not get the dole. The Republican party will not stultify itself by accepting a Federal dole system and the destruction of the Red Cross as the price of avoiding an extra session.

Mr. Tilson, Republican leader of the House, serves notice that the House will not yield on the question of the dole. "There is no proper place for compromise," he says in a public statement. "The House does not desire an extra session of Congress. There is not the slightest need for an extra session so far as the public interests are concerned. There is no legitimate excuse for an extra session. The country should be saved from an extra session. But deliverance from it should not be bought at the sacrifice of an important principle. Those who insist upon such a price must take the full responsibility for an extra session and whatever consequences may follow from it."

THE NYE EXPENSE ACCOUNT.

The Comptroller General of the United States is an independent officer, whose duty is to prevent the drawing of money from the Treasury without warrant of law. In scanning expense accounts and "lump fund" expenditures Mr. McCarl has been very diligent, and all improper, doubtful, or unexplained items are held up. The Comptroller General gives special scrutiny to expense accounts that are not carefully itemized and supported by vouchers.

What has the Comptroller General done, or what does he propose to do, in regard to the astonishing expense account of the Nye campaign investigating committee? This committee obtains its funds from the contingent fund of the Senate. It reports to the Senate. Its account should be subject to the scrutiny of the Comptroller General, since the money is drawn from the United States Treasury. Some of the items appearing in the Nye expense account would be rejected instantly if they had appeared in the account of any officer or commission under the executive departments. Is a Senate committee above the law of Congress, and are its expenditures exempt from scrutiny?

The Nye expense account has been attacked in the House. Some of the items call for explanation and justification. The expenditure of money for the entertainment of "prospective witnesses" would not be allowed by the Comptroller General to an independent or executive commission. Extravagant hotel bills, extra luxurious railroad accommodations, a taxicab bill of $50 for one person for a single day, and similar items appear in Mr. Nye's report. If the Senate has the right to approve of such items without submitting them to the Comptroller General it may be expected that the House hereafter will demand a change in this system, in view of the Nye report.

The contingent fund of the Senate should be subject to the test of all other drains from the Treasury. It is public money. The Senate can not afford to have its own accounts brought into question when it is engaged in the work of investigating the accounts of candidates.

Section 53, Chapter 1, Title 31 of the Code of Laws of the United States reads as follows:

> The Comptroller General shall investigate, at the seat of government or elsewhere, all matters relating to the receipt, disbursement and application of public funds.

THE COLONIAL EXPOSITION.

The authorities of the International Colonial Exposition in Paris are delighted with the promptitude and energy displayed by the American commission in preparing America's buildings, as well as with the unexpected extent and variety of the exhibits. Although Commissioner General C. Bascom Slemp and Commissioner Charles H. Burke were not appointed until September, the chief building of the American section is practically completed and exhibits have been drawn from all insular possessions, to be ready for the opening of the exposition on May 2.

The chief American building is an exact replica of Mount Vernon, Washington's home. It occupies a picturesque position and is greatly admired. In it will be displayed historic portraits, documents and articles associated with Franco-American relations, constituting a museum of unique character. The French government is contributing objects and material from the national library, the Louvre, and other institutions, illustrating American colonial history. From Virginia and from the Library of Congress will appear portraits, documents, maps, &c., equally interesting to French and foreign visitors to the exposition.

America's exhibits at the exposition will give special prominence to tropical sanitation, roads, reclamation and the utilization of agricultural waste products. In these activities, all of vital importance to colonial development, the United States leads the world. The model of the Panama Canal will afford an opportunity to give an object lesson in the triumphs of American methods of tropical sanitation. A map-model of Manila and its environs will also reveal the progress of modern sanitation and hygiene. Exhibits from the Philippines, Porto Rico, Alaska, Virgin Islands, Guam and Samoa will include some of the finest pictorial effects in existence. America's attractions at the Colonial Exhibition will also include models of skyscraper architecture, including a striking model of the Empire Building, in New York City, the tallest structure in the world.

A RED PROPAGANDIST.

Valery I. Meshlauk, vice chairman of the Soviet supreme economic council, formally denied before a New York audience last week that the Russian five-year plan constituted a threat to world trade. The Soviet, he said, is interested only in building up the prosperity of its own people. As for wheat exports, he claimed that they were only about one-third the prewar total. "It is my belief," he added, "that matters of ruinous international competition in wheat and other products should be solved by means of international agreements, in which the Soviet Union would willingly join."

Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, lays part of the blame for the depressed price of wheat in the world market on the export policy of Russia. The Soviet, he said recently in an address delivered in Chicago, does not consider the cost of production when selling wheat. The first cost shown on its books, he said, is for loading the grain into cars. He continued: "Russia as a wheat producer is a menace. Its spokesmen said they would export only 20,000,000 bushels. They have already shipped out 80,000,000 bushels and I believe they will sell 100,000,000 or more. They lied to us once and I believe they are doing it again. Their program for 1931 calls for a 19 per cent increase in acreage for the avowed purpose of controlling the grain market of the world."

One of the best informed newspapermen in Russia estimates that the Soviet requires annually about 13,000,000 metric tons of grain for the needs of the urban population and the army. The year's collections to date he estimates at approximately 19,000,000 metric tons. Total exports by the beginning of January, he says, amounted to 3,500,000 metric tons of all grains, of which about 2,500,000 tons was of wheat. This is equivalent to about 100,000,000 bushels.

The Communist Meshlauk makes a blanket denial of Russia's intent to ruin world trade. What else is to be expected from this propagandist? In view of the fact that the Soviet has willfully misrepresented its wheat exporting activities, does he expect Americans to believe that Russia would live up to such an agreement if it were consummated? Russia hopes and intends to ruin the world's grain markets by dumping the products of her forced labor. An international agreement such as is suggested by this propagandist would be a screen behind which the reds could conceal their campaign of destruction.

How did this Communist get into the United States, and how long will he be permitted to stay?

Norway's population has just been estimated at 2,500,000, including the Scandinavian.

A new radio will have a clock incorporated in its cabinet. We'll bet it'll be wrong over half the time.

Up in Canada they claim the pussy willows are bursting out, but in Washington the pussyfooters have been in evidence since December 1.

The charge that Al Capone has invaded Arkansas is probably premature. He's too good a business man to make a move of that nature until he's sure the Government has sent that money out there.

DUAL NATIONALITY.

By JOSEPH CONRAD FEHR, in Current History.

The fact that under Swiss law President Hoover is still Swiss and technically subject to military service in Switzerland just because his original ancestor, a man then going by the name of Huber, came to this country from Switzerland more than a hundred years ago, illustrates how serious as well as absurd the doctrine of dual nationality can be.

The annoyances to United States citizens resulting from dual nationality have become so obnoxious that Congress on May 28, 1928, passed a joint resolution requesting the President to negotiate with nations not yet parties to naturalization treaties with this country in order to protect American citizens from forced military or naval service when temporarily sojourning in the countries of their own or their parents' origin. The chief aim of this resolution is world-wide recognition of an individual's right to voluntary expatriation from his native land and subsequent naturalization as a citizen or subject of another country, and of the immunity of persons born in the United States of parents having the nationality of another country from liability for military and other services in the latter.

By way of reaction the Italian Government announced that henceforth her sons who are now citizens of other countries are free to visit in Italy in time of peace with exemption from military service. Heretofore Italy was perhaps the most obstinate of all the nations in declining to enter into naturalization treaties with the United States, because under Italian law subjects of Italy remain liable for military service in Italy even though naturalized abroad. France, Switzerland, Russia and Turkey are only a few of the other countries which regard a native-born American citizen as a subject of their own countries because of his father's original allegiance. As long as the United States makes the same claim concerning children born abroad of American parents it is a foregone conclusion that the Department of State and Congress will have to make some concessions in order to obtain the desired result.

While native-born or naturalized American citizens stay out of countries where they or their parents were born and owed original allegiance, they are given the full protection which the United States accords to all its citizens. Complications arise, however, when these American citizens enter the countries of their own or their fathers' birth. During the World War there were thousands of former Italians, Frenchmen and Russians who, though naturalized American citizens, were called to the colors by their native land, and the United States was practically helpless to prevent their impressment into such military service. In time of war such chaotic conditions are, of course, excusable. But when, in time of peace, these foreign nations assess military taxes against their former citizens or subjects and seek to collect them in the countries of their adoption, it is high time that steps be taken to remedy matters. Switzerland, for instance, has attached to her legation in Washington a tax collector specially commissioned by his Government to collect military taxes not alone from Swiss citizens temporarily residing in the United States but from naturalized Swiss-born American citizens as well. Altogether there are thirteen nations that make essentially the same astonishing claims as Switzerland. Although the United States is by far the greatest sufferer on account of the dual nationality doctrine, the Department of State has been in a difficult position with regard to the matter; first, because of the lack of a naturalization treaty with Switzerland, and, second, because of the lack of a satisfactory agreement among nations concerning the status and obligations of persons born in one country of parents having the nationality of another.

HERCULES WRESTLING THE GIANT.

SHORT CIRCUITS.

Erroneous But Often True.

Spearville News: A North Carolina paper records that a sailor "was killed by coming in contact with a live wife." Possibly a linotype's error, yet such things have happened.

Explained.

Rutland Herald: The lambs are still wondering who got the money in the stock market crash. The answer is, nobody. It wasn't dollars but counterfeit values that were lost.

The Alarmist.

New York Sun: It is strange that many of those alarmists who foresee the destruction of all culture by machinery use the radio to broadcast their fears, read their speeches from typewritten manuscript and then ride home in a taxi.

Experts in the Making.

Minneapolis Journal: Hartedale, N. Y., voted for the employment of six paid firemen, but voted against the purchase of a fire truck. The village board, puzzled, equipped the firemen with checker boards.

The War's Over.

Detroit News: An Ohio item mentions an "international basket ball contest" between a Springfield college and the University of Alabama. Later dispatches, however, are expected to bring word of Lee's surrender.

A Big Combine.

New Orleans Times Picayune: Little is said nowadays about the coming of the time when "the wolf shall dwell with the lamb," but New York reports negotiations in progress for a combination freight service "using planes, ocean liners, trains and motor trucks."

AFRICAN SIGHTSEEING.

Tourists who wish to get a close view of wild animals of Africa in their native homes are taken through hundreds of miles of the Sabi game reserve in the northern Transvaal on sightseeing trains made up of observation cars and lookout posts, according to the Wall Street Journal. The train travels at an average speed of 20 miles an hour, often within a few yards of the elephants, lions, zebras, deer and buffalo.

Lookout balconies are located at each end of the cars, and the operator, who rides in the locomotive, blows one blast of the whistle when he sights game to the right of the track and two blasts when it is on the left. Sluggish hippopotami are seen floundered in a jungle river where the train enters the great zoo park in which the animals are protected by the law. Sometimes beasts can be observed tracking down their quarry.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE UNWISE WISE MAN.

There was a man who to himself
Said: "Since the books upon the shelf
Hold all there is of knowledge,
Until I've read them one and all
I'll stay within my quarters small,
And make my room a college.
Till I've learned all there is to know
Through every printed page I'll go."

And so he shut himself within
His stuffy den and started in Life's musty facts to swallow;
In rest or play he ne'er indulged
And though in time his forehead bulged,
His cheeks grew pale and hollow.
But knowing much he didn't know
Why children shrieked and shouted so.

And one day when he ventured out
With other men to walk about
He wondered why they hurried,
And why they laughed and why they sighed,
And why they cheated, robbed or lied,
And also why they worried.
Love, hate and grief perplexed him much
Because he'd lost the human touch.

He found to his dismay that men
Did many a foolish act and then
Paid dearly for their folly;
Passed wisdom by for pleasures gay,
Suffered strange fits from day to day
Of hope and melancholy.
Of wisdom he had but a part,
He'd never read the human heart.

You Can't Grow Lilies in a Pig Sty Merely by Telling Them to Grow.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

SOME time ago a German student of mankind wrote a book in which he attempted to prove that criminals are born and not made.

He traced the life history of many twins and found each pair alike in character as in appearance. If one was a criminal, his twin was a criminal. Therefore, he reasoned, they were born with criminal tendencies that were equal—else in many instances they would have gone separate ways.

As though to confirm this theory, an American investigator has made a study of boys in reform schools. He found that the boys who had been given religious training in childhood were almost equal in number to the boys who had not, and from this discovery he reasoned that religious training does not affect subsequent moral conduct. The boy will be what he is born to be.

The report of these conclusions has inspired much argument pro and con, but all of it is meaningless and unprofitable because both sides make the age-old mistake of failing to define their terms.

How can anybody determine whether religious training is or is not an aid to righteousness until he first decides what religious training is?

It is impossible to prove that any man was born to be a criminal, for it is impossible to know what he might have been if trained in a different environment.

The fact that both twins become criminals proves nothing, for their environment in childhood is identical. To establish their predisposition to crime, it would be necessary to rear one among criminals and the other in an atmosphere of culture, decency and honor.

That some boys and girls seem destined to be criminals is obvious. They are by nature stupid, rebellious and vicious. That is their heritage from criminal and weak-minded parents, and no training can make them intelligent or give them strength of character. The best of environment can do no more than keep the evil in them subdued. In their native environment they are doomed.

But normal youngsters are made good or evil by the influences that surround them. Training makes them what they will be, but training doesn't consist in crying: "Don't do that!" You can't teach a boy courage by telling him not to be afraid.

"Religious training" is effective, else where do these millions of religious people come from? But it isn't "do" and "don't" training. It is a home atmosphere from which youngsters absorb the desire to be righteous and honorable, and what they absorb they keep.

PRO AND CON

The Senate Runs Amuck.
(Chicago Tribune.)

To the conspicuous ironies of our American political experience the United States Senate is now contributing one of the most acute. The Senate was devised as a brake upon the hasty and short-sighted legislation which it was feared the House of Representatives would propose under the influence of popular clamor. The popular branch of the national legislature is was assumed must be, and in fact is, closer and more immediately responsive to public opinion, and therefore to those quick and violent gusts of sentiment which we the people occasionally experience.

Yet in the present painful and difficult situation it is the Senate which is headlong, while the House, at least thus far, has shown deliberation and restraint. It is the Senate which is proposing to throw overboard well-proved principles of American action and embark upon experiments in Government responsibility and activity without due disinterested deliberation and with conspicuous disregard for ultimate consequences. In short, it is the body which once was called "the most august deliberative body in the world"—and then largely deserved the description—which is now acting like a hysterical old maid, while it is the popular House which has been showing a decent responsibility for the Nation's welfare.

Getting Behind Hoover.

The people are less bitter against President Hoover than a few months ago. They are beginning to feel sorry for him because they realize he is not responsible for a world-wide condition, and can not give each and every American citizen a million dollars at the beginning of each of the four seasons.

Robbing Paul to Pay Peter.
(Florida Times-Union.)

Want Congress to Quit.
Detroit News.

As the Seventy-first Congress began its final session in December, several leaders of the Democratic party issued a manifesto in which they pledged their organization to a political truce with the Republicans, for the purpose of getting the scheduled program finished by March 4 to avoid a special session of the new Congress elected last November.

That truce, which was greeted with applause all over the country, was forgotten at the first opportunity the Democrats had to line up with insurgent Republicans to delay and hinder the appropriation bills. The Senate majority, composed of dissident Republicans and nearly the whole Democracy, began to question presidential judgments and involve that branch of Congress in a squabble as to whether relief to drought sufferers should become a political football in the 1932 campaign.

Political Hellbroth.
Omaha World-Herald.

It is inconceivable that the Senate believes it can change our form of government and establish itself as a supergovernment. Its great constitutional lawyers are clearly more intent on playing politics, on "putting the President in a hole," than they are on upholding the Constitution. Senator Norris frankly admitted as much when he said that he is less interested in the outcome of the dispute than in having proved that the power commission, and inferentially President Hoover, is "controlled by the power trust." It is campaign material that is being manufactured.

Those Dangerous Doles.
Atlanta Constitution.

The Federal Senate having passed the Robinson amendment to hand over $25,000,000 to the Red Cross with which to supply food and other relief to drought sufferers in Arkansas and elsewhere, it is probable the House of Representatives will resolutely reject the measure.

It is astonishing that Senator Robinson and other Democrats in the Congress should stand for such a malappropriation of public funds.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Virginia Democrat Denounces Tactics of Senate Democrats in Forcing Extra Session.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If there ever existed any doubt during the past four weeks as to the ultimate aim of the Democrats on Capitol Hill to force an extra session of Congress, that veil of doubt has now been lifted in the program which the minority party of the Senate has promulgated and announced to the public must be swallowed, line and sinker, by the majority party or failing to do so, an extra session will be forced.

While I have consistently voted the Democratic ticket all my life and up to this time have predicted an overwhelming victory for my party in 1932, that hope is now swiftly fading because of the tactics now being indulged in by the Democrats in Congress.

Every Democrat with whom I have talked in the past three weeks, and they are many, has without exception deplored the course now being pursued by the Democrats of the Senate and has to a man favored the policies of the administration.

In view of the latest announcement of the Democratic members of the Senate to force an extra session it now seems apparent that their wishes will blossom into a reality. If so, it is to be hoped that the President will defer the calling of the extra session until June or July. If he does this he will not only be carrying out the wishes of the vast majority of the American people, but will at the same time insure his renomination in 1932, which will be equivalent to election, because thousands of Democrats who are now disgusted with the brand of politics the leaders of their party in Congress are putting out in disguise will vote for him.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRAT.

Three Big Industries Consume Nearly 50 Per Cent of Steel Production.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If the old economic maxim holds good that the progress of a country can be measured to a large extent by the amount of iron and steel used, the United States has made considerable progress during the period of relative nation-wide depression. For the five years ended with 1926, according to the Iron Age, the railroads held first place in steel consumption. During the three years ended with 1929, the automobile industry stood at the head, with the railroads in second place. In 1930, however, of a total production of about 29,600,000 tons of rolled steel, the building and construction industries jumped to the head as consumers, leaving automobiles in the second place, and railways third.

The business and construction business took 5,300,000 tons, or about 19 per cent of the entire 1930 production. The consumption of steel by the automobile industry was just about 1,000,000 tons short of that figure, while the railroads fell about 150,000 tons behind the automobiles. Thus these three chief consumers of steel took a little less than 50 per cent of the year's entire production. This was the first time since 1922 that their purchases exceeded that of all other steel users combined. Hence, from the above figures it is quite evident that the country has been progressing along steadily even though it was hit by the world-wide depression.

Subway the Only Solution of Traffic Problem—Streets Will Not Hold All the Cars.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I think it is hardly too much to say that the efforts of our traffic specialists to bring about satisfactory traffic conditions in certain motor-congested downtown areas are fatuous. They do not seem to realize that what they are up against is a motor impasse, against which the effect of minor regulations is not particularly noticeable.

For instance, in the neighborhood of Fourteenth street on F there is, roughly speaking, a constant business-hour drive of about three times as many motor vehicles as the driveway will conveniently accommodate. The various vehicles interfere with and delay each other in all sorts of ways, and the traffic rule intended to remedy one deplorable condition may result in another equally deplorable, if not worse.

Every other citizen you meet can furnish a plausible rule for the relief of motor congestion, but what I can not understand is why some regular traffic expert has not before now called attention to the fact that the traffic problem can not be adequately settled without digging underground.

The cost will be immense, but the day will come when the big city without provision for underground traffic will be considered a back number. That being so, the sooner the work of digging subways is started the better. It is not a bit too soon for the authorities to undertake a traffic-subway survey in anticipation of what is bound to come.

PARKER WILLIAMS.

Good Luck of an Arkansas Candidate Who Escapes Investigation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is reported that the campaign activities of a resident of Arkansas are as follows: Lost 1,349 hours of sleep thinking about the elections; lost two front teeth and a whole lot of hair in a personal encounter with his opponent; donated one beef, four sheats and five sheep to a county barbecue; gave away two pair of suspenders, four calico dresses, $5 in cash and 13 baby rattles, besides kissing 126 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; put up four stoves; walked 4,016 miles; shook hands with 9,508 persons; told 10,103 lies and talked enough to make in print 1,000 volumes; attended 16 revival meetings and was baptized four times by immersion and twice some other way; contributed $50 for foreign missions and made love to 9 grass widows; hugged 40 old maids; got dog-bitten 30 times and then was defeated.

This man has a great deal to be thankful for. If he had been elected he would now be under investigation for campaign corruption. Because of his defeat he has undoubtedly drifted back into oblivion and has nothing to worry about.

MOTIVES ARE HIDDEN AS BENNETT LEAVES

MANY OFFICIALS SEEN

(Associated Press.)

The Canadian prime minister, R. B. Bennett, left the Capital for Ottawa late yesterday without disclosing publicly the purpose of a busy three-day visit, described by him as strictly "unofficial."

After a morning spent in a final conference with Canadian Legation officials, Mr. Bennett lunched with Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador, together with Secretaries Lamont and Wilbur and Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Tariff Commission.

He had conferred and dined previously with President Hoover, Secretary Stimson and Eugene Meyer, jr., who has been named governor of the Federal Reserve Board, subject to Senate confirmation.

Declined to Tell Reason.

The Canadian premier declined to ascribe any other reason for his visit than that of "looking over the legation" here, which he had never seen.

At his conference with newspapermen Saturday Mr. Bennett turned aside all questions touching upon Canadian-American affairs, including queries on wheat, finances, the St. Lawrence waterway project, prohibition and the recent capture of the Canadian rumrunner Josephine K, a report on which has been sent to the Canadian Legation.

The Canadian premier was escorted to a private car by Sir Ronald Lindsay, Assistant Secretary Castle, of the State Department, and virtually the entire staff of his country's legation here.

Traveling "Incognito."

Traveling, as Secretary Stimson said, in an "incognito consisting of the wearing of a derby rather than a silk hat," Mr. Bennett and his party created little public stir as they passed through the railway station plaza.

After an interparty waving of hats, as the private car rolled from the station, Assistant Secretary Castle told newspapermen he had heard of no official reason for the prime minister's visit other than that of inspecting the Canadian Legation, but added that he had "talked over all sorts of questions informally."

Immediately before the Bennett party departed, Mr. Castle talked privately with Maj. W. D. Herridge, of Ottawa, whose presence with the prime minister here caused a renewal of the speculation as to whether he might be named Minister of the Canadian Legation, now headed by Hume Wrong, the charge d'affaires. Maj. Herridge has been mentioned for the post. Whether his conversation with the Assistant Secretary of State was any more than an informal chat was not disclosed.

London Theaters Test Sunday Law

Owners Decide to See What Happens as Edict of 1781 Is Revived.

London, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Shadow folks of filmdom strutted their usual stuff on Londons silver screen today regardless of the rattling bones of a resurrected legal skeleton.

For from the dim past when movies were never dreamed of, an ancient law has been revived and doubly interpreted to forbid Sabbath picture shows.

The Lord's Day observance act of 1781 was so shrouded in cobwebs of antiquity that for a long time it had gone unheeded and the London County council had disregarded it by freely handing out licenses for Sunday movies. Then suddenly it was dragged out and brought into court. The court of appeals has upheld it as a ban to the Sunday showing of motion pictures.

After holding a council of war, however, the theater owners decided to fight against closing. And so, today the city's 160,000 Sunday movie fans were not denied their usual recreation. A resolution had been passed by the exhibitors to keep all film houses open, including the seven American ones, and "see what happens."

120-Year-Old Man Dies At Philadelphia Home

Philadelphia, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Isaac Glickman, Philadelphia's oldest resident, smoked his last cigarette today, told his last joke and smilingly greeted death after more than a century of life. His age, records in his possession indicated, was 120.

For the last few years Glickman had lived at the uptown home for the Jewish aged. According to his papers Glickman was born in Roumania in 1811 when Napoleon was master of Europe. He left his native land in 1903 and came to Philadelphia.

Princess' Illness Held More Acute

Physicians Report Rise in Temperature of King George's Aunt.

London, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Physicians of Princess Beatrice, who is lying ill with bronchitis, said late today that her condition was not so satisfactory as it had been this morning.

Their bulletin reads: "A slight rise in temperature took place this afternoon, associated with an exacerbation of the bronchitis."

An earlier bulletin said that the princess, who is the aunt of King George and the mother of Queen Victoria of Spain, had gained some strength following a comfortable night. The Queen of Spain is at her mother's bedside.

THE point has been made that it is more difficult to bring to the people a realization of the plight of the drought sufferers than if they were the victims of a tornado or earthquake. Radio, however, is proving a great medium for waking up the country to the situation.

Seldom, if ever, has there been a more dramatic presentation over the air than the plea made by the drought-stricken farmer from Little Rock, Ark., Saturday night with a family of twelve children, all in bed, and one of them ill and without medical attention. He was the first of several speakers presented by Will Rogers, who is doing such wonderful work in that area.

This farmer broke down at the end of his talk and apparently was sobbing as he left the microphone. It was an appeal which, unless we miss our guess, will easily mean a million dollars to the Red Cross and the drought sufferers. No one who heard that talk will fail to respond and no medium could have brought the plea into the homes of the country as speedily and as effectively as radio did.

THROUGH the enterprise of the Gray Ladies of Walter Reed Hospital, Washington will be the second city to hear Roxy and his Gang next Thursday. Thirty-six cities from Toronto to Jacksonville, Fla., and as far West as Kansas City will be visited.

Several of the original members of the gang will accompany Roxy, including "Wee Willie" Robyn, Frank Moulan, "Daddy Jim" Combs and Mickey McKee.

Andy, otherwise Charles J. Correll, erstwhile partner of Amos in the famous air team, will celebrate his birthday tomorrow.

The Campbell program, a half-hour of popular tunes, will be broadcast each week day (WRC, 9:15 a. m.). Andy Sanella will direct an orchestra, assisted by Lew Conrad, vocalist, five days.

"HE Knew Lincoln," Ida M. Tarbell's famous reading, which for nine consecutive years has been broadcast by Edgar White Burrill, will be heard again on Lincoln's birthday.

It was in 1922 that Edgar White Burrill went to the studios of old WJZ in Newark and read "He Knew Lincoln" for the first time. The program became a feature of the Eveready hour.

This year, however, the Eveready hour is no longer on the air. But radio listeners made it plain that they were expecting "He Knew Lincoln," so N. B. C. officials decided to give the program its tenth annual repetition.

The Wireless Military Band concert will be rebroadcast from London, atmospheric conditions permitting, tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 2:45 p. m.). On Wednesday the BBC Symphony concert from Queens Hall, Adrian Boult conducting, will be retransmitted (WRC, 3 p. m.).

Cheramy Nights, a new series starting tomorrow evening (WMAL, 8 o'clock), will feature a Cuban orchestra, which uses several unusual instruments, including gourds of every conceivable shape and size.

A NEW and different radio receiver is the "Columnaire," a slim, vertical cabinet occupying a floor space 10x12 inches, which was the winner of the Westinghouse prize for $5,000 for a new idea in radio receivers. The set will be offered to the public shortly.

"I was at the head of the New York Symphony Orchestra for 40 years and during each season conducted about 100 concerts in New York and on our concert tours all over the country," Walter Damrosch observes. "These audiences would perhaps average 250,000 listeners during the year.

"During the four years I have been giving orchestral concerts over the radio, we have succeeded in developing an audience of music lovers numbering millions."

Jane Interprets the MODE

Paris, Feb. 1.

ABOUT three years ago the two-color dress was launched in Paris by, I believe it was, Heim. Then one saw very little of the two-color idea except when it was in the form of the one-color dress and the contrasting color note in accessories. It has taken until this spring for the idea to really go over with improvements! For this spring not only two colors but three will be the mode—perhaps as a reaction to "bad times." Milady is going to be extravagant at least as to color in her costumes!

The all one-color ensemble is no longer smart, and excepting for certain occasions where it will always be needed, neither is black. Browns, beige and gray will only be truly smart when they are of a tone which makes them more of an off-color bordering on reds or purple in the browns, yellow or cream for the beige, rose or lavender for the gray.

Along with color lightening the general depression this spring, we are going to become very youthful in our fabrics. Everything printed or plaid is sprightly and youthful!

Do you want to make real furniture out of packing cases that cost 50 cents or $1? Well, this week's leaflet tells you how to make a studio couch, table, wardrobe and bookcase out of packing cases—and smart ones, too!

And there is a clever design for a dressing table that closes up to hide everything and look like a chest, and a fireplace pillow made of oilcloth—better send that stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for "The Bachelor Girl's Studio" leaflet, for it is crammed full of clever ways to furnish and decorate a studio or apartment out of absolutely nothing!

• • • •

The drawbacks to velvet can be circumvented—is that the word? For instance, you can design or choose evening gowns with a peplum or overskirt effect, the overskirt or peplum to be lifted when you sit so that it does not wrinkle and crush into that lighter area that is so unbeautiful when you dance.

• • • •

And an elegant evening gown of black velvet from Lenief, with a skirt cut into a longer line that is almost a train in the back, is today's sketch! The decolletage is most discreet, and a white flower lends a chaste note. They are so hard to do justice to in a sketch, these elegant gowns which look so well on!

You're reading, of course, Dare's weekly fashion letter. Do look for it in each Sunday's Washington Post.

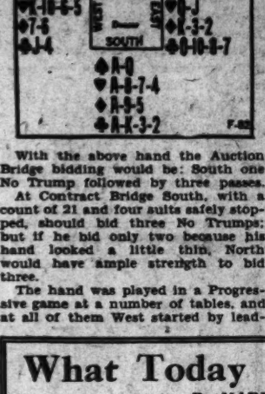
HAW TO LOSE A SCRE GAME.



With the above hand the Auction Bridge bidding would be: South one No Trump followed by three passes.

At Contract Bridge South, with a count of 21 and four suits safely stopped, should bid three No Trumps; but if he bid only two because his hand looked a little thin, North would have ample strength to bid three.

The hand was played in a Progressive game at a number of tables, and at all of them West started by leading the Jack of Spades. Many of the Declarers, appreciating that they had two sure Spade tricks no matter how the cards of that suit were played, and that a Diamond lead from Queen-Jack-Ten in dummy, could be made toward closed hand's Ace, won the first trick with the King of Spades and led the Queen of Diamonds, South ducking when East played small. With that trick won, North led the Diamond Jack and South finessed again when East played small a second time. After that it was impossible to put dummy in the lead and consequently all that Declarer made was two Spades, one Heart, three Diamonds and two Clubs, one trick short of game.

A minority of the Declarers saw that game was there by sacrificing the Diamond finesse. They took the first trick with South's Spade Ace and then led the Ace of Diamonds. Then Diamonds were continued until the adversaries won with the King; after that North's remaining Diamonds were good and that hand had the Spade King for an entry. Played in that way, Declarer won two Spades, one Heart, four Diamonds and two Clubs; which was all he needed to secure his game.

What Today Means to You

"AQUARIUS."

IF February 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to midnight.

February 2d will be found a turning point in many ways. It will be a good time, from astrological disclosures, to work out future business plans. Anything which calls for delicacy of handling may be attempted on this date.

The child born on this February 2 will have a tendency to pout when things go wrong, but will smile brightly when it is having its own way. It will love commendation from its elders, and popularity amongst its playmates. It will be fascinated by the study of history, and will be a great reader.

If you were born on a February 2 Kismet will find it difficult to overcome your optimistic spirit, or to over-ride your pluck, by any of the adverse things which it has in store for you. You will make more than one slip in life, but as a philosopher, you are a complete and unequivocal success. When exterior clouds are the darkest, you exhibit more sunshine from within. You do not duck your head against the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. The modesty with which you accept your glories, and the courage with which you face your failures, show the true caliber of your character.

Your love for humanity, your sympathy and tolerance for the weaker brother or sister, and the whole world of down-trodden, is not a pose on your part. You are ever helping some one by some simple kindly word or act-helping, where you expect neither material returns or gratitude. You are not blind to the tiny miracles, which go on in our every-day lives—the little things which melt the ice on your dreary days. Your heart is big, but it has little room for envy or jealousy, but much room for love.

You are a very methodical, conscientious worker, paying almost too much attention to details. Your spirit often forces you beyond your physical strength, and you never know when to stop, when you are eager to get a thing done. You are almost childishly eager to try out any new idea or thing as soon as you are in possession of it—to you there is no time like the present.

Successful people born February 2:
Knute Nelson, United States senator and former Governor of Minnesota.
William Kinnicutt Draper, physician.
Jascha Heifitz, violinist.
Geoffrey O'Hara, composer.
Fritz Kreisler, violinist.
George Loring Brown, landscape painter.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Clean-Mindedness.

DEAR Frances McDonald: Nothing you have ever written will bear better fruit than your comments upon the girl with a nasty mind. I read and re-read that and wondered how many boys would read it and get a new light upon a heretofore unmentioned subject. And I wondered, too, just how many girls would read it and see that they were too as subtle as they thought. May I explain my keen interest in the subject of the girl whose mind is like a dirty puddle?

I am the proud mother of four splendid sons. The oldest married a girl none of us knew, and of a different faith. Not even a girl of any standing. It was a disappointment to me and he saw it. One evening he said, "Mother, wait till you know her before being sorry about my choice, for she is the only girl I ever went with who never shocked me." I questioned him, as he had gone with two girls who should be above reproach. I was amazed at his discoveries. And sure enough his wife is a wonderful girl, womanly, sure of herself at all times, plenty to talk about but never a word out of order. We were dressing her little girl for a party one day and when I admired the child's beauty her mother said, "Yes, if she will only be that way inside" I thought to myself "She will be."

My second son went with a girl we knew for years. I supposed they would marry. Suddenly there was a break. He was morose. They came together again but again parted. At last I asked his brother what the trouble was. He replied "The same thing I told you about. Mother, he loves her but he simply can not marry a smutty-minded woman and it is simply eating him."

Now two such experiences in one nice family would seem to prove something. And I am glad, so glad that you have discussed the matter. Boys are entitled to some assurance of decent offspring. Besides, if they want low conversation they can find it. But when they think of marriage they think of decency and purity and a future that stretches into old age. And what sort of old age awaits a girl who is nasty at 25?

I never read anything in any paper that was so much needed today as those few words of yours: "A clean-minded man tied for life to a nasty-minded woman is a spectacle to make the angels weep." May the modern girl who tells some mother's boy not to be so "slow" ponder those words. And many thanks for your column.

A MAN'S MOTHER.

As a great many letters have been received on this subject, and as it seems that the men wish to be heard, we will publish tomorrow a letter from David who "drives by her house" and "thinks of her constantly" but who simply can not go back to her because she was not the girl he had thought her to be.

How much a woman has to answer for in this world! Dreams that never come true. And never can. Men who go through life alone. Men who try to figure out the why and decide it is no use.

Is it asking too much to ask a girl to be as decent as the boy who takes her out? If so, this is a topsy-turvy world!

M. U. Professor to Speak.

Dr. Tobias Dantzig, professor of mathematics at the University of Maryland, will address the round table of the Jewish Community Center at 9 o'clock tomorrow night on "The Empty Column," which deals with the origin of numbers. He is the author of a book entitled "Number."

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Tomatoes. Broiled to a delicate brown on top, slipped into crisp toast, and served with a few rashers of bacon, make the center of an ideal lunch or supper for a warm day. Another easy and appetizing way to cook tomatoes is to cut in half and bake under a sprinkling of buttered bread crumbs. The Bureau of Home Economics tells just how to broil and bake tomatoes.

Broiled Tomatoes.

Wash tomatoes, remove the stem ends, cut in half, put in a greased shallow baking dish, add salt, peper and melted butter or other fat to season, and place under the flame of a broiling oven, far enough from the heat to allow the tomatoes to cook before browning. Broil for 20 to 30 minutes, or until tender and lightly browned. Serve hot garnished with parsley on crisp buttered toast.

Baked Tomatoes.

Wash tomatoes, remove the stem ends, cut in half, place in a shallow greased baking dish, cover with buttered bread crumbs seasoned with salt and pepper. Add a little water to keep the tomatoes from sticking to the dish. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes, or until the tomatoes are tender and the crumbs brown.

Amelia Earhart Writes For New Magazine

Amelia Earhart, Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer and Merle Thorpe are among the contributors to the first issue of Greater Washington magazine, which is being distributed today. The number contains 24 pages of articles and photographs pertaining to the Capital. Dorsey W. Hyde, jr., is editor and William H. Hobbs, business manager.

"I congratulate Washington," writes Miss Earhart in "Airports, Modern Gauge of City Development." "I cannot begin to enumerate everything Washington has to be proud of. On the side of aviation I can congratulate her on having a more accessible airport than any city in the United States."

THE ABUTILON AND LANTANA.

THE abutilon, popularly known as the flowering maple because of the resemblance of its foliage to the leaf of that tree, is one of the most easily cultivated plants we have. Unfortunately, we do not see the abutilon as frequently as we should. It grows well with virtually the same care as the geranium and does even better than the geranium in that it flowers continually almost the entire year. For this reason it is desirable at all seasons.

Its flowers are pendulous and bell-shaped, this fact being suggestive of another common name for it, "Chinese bell flower." The foliage of the abutilon is particularly beautiful, being very bright green. A specimen in full bloom, with its myriads of flowers hanging from long branches beneath the overlapping foliage, is always decorative. Since it has no insect enemies and demands only a sunny window and a daily drink, any one can grow a flowering maple.

It is easily propagated from cuttings which can be rooted in soil or sand. Not one in fifty will fail to take root in sand, and almost the same number will root in soil. It can be grown as a shrub or as a small tree. Choose which form you like best and give the plant the necessary training. A large specimen can be grown in one season.

When it has outgrown its surroundings, the limbs at the top can be cut back to within 8 or 10 inches of the crown or head of the plant and a new growth will very soon result. In this way the plant can be renewed from year to year.

Ferns, Ferns and

JANE LESLIE KIFT,
Care of The Washington Post.

The lantana, which we all know as an outdoor summer bedding plant, makes an admirable house plant, as it will bloom the entire winter. All the care it requires is a sunny window and water every other day. It is usually necessary to pinch young plants back while small to make them bushy. Left to train itself the lantana generally grows in straggling fashion and makes itself more noticeable for awkwardness than for grace.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

Unwise Tactics.

His parents decided they must teach him a lesson in proper filial regard.

After his last silence of six weeks, they wrote him that because of his failure to write home with decent frequency, his allowance for January would be cut in half and in the future he would receive no spending money at all unless he wrote regularly once a week.

It happened that before receiving this letter, the boy had contracted various small obligations to some of his classmates. From one he had bought a camera on a promise to pay for it out of his next month's allowance. From another he had gotten a fishing rod to be paid for in the same way.

The unexpected penalty put him in a most embarrassing and humiliating position, and stirred rather bitter feelings toward his parents.

The net result of the parent's tactics was to make the son even less inclined to write than before.

It is a mistake to use the child's allowance as a weapon of punishment. To do so puts a money value on something which can not be measured in such terms.

A child's allowance is his by virtue of the fact that he is a member of the family and as such entitled to a certain amount of spending money.

Punishing him through docking this allowance vitiates its purpose, which is to teach him how to spend and how to save. He can do neither with any system if he can not be sure how much he can count on from week to week.

The Life Story of Gen. Wood

By HERMANN HAGEDORN

CHAPTER XXX.

Gen. Wood took command of the Southeastern Department on May 13, 1917, receiving such a reception as no officer of the United States Army had received since the Civil War. The South, extravagantly proud of its history and traditions, had not relished the intimation that the military command at Manila or Hawaii was "more important" than the training of its youth. Wood's laconic reply, "I choose Charleston," had opened the hearts of the South, and he had the devotion of its people even before he arrived. Charleston gave him a big parade. Ten thousand were in line; practically the whole city was on the streets. His instinct to do the kindly thing, came to his aid at a public meeting that first day. Wood spied a small Confederate flag in the hands of a veteran and asked him why he did not display it. "That is an honorable flag. Men have died for it." After that, the South was his.

Atlanta outdid Charleston. Through vast crowds, the greatest military parade the city had ever known marched past the commander of the department. Atlanta took a personal pride in Wood, remembering his days at Fort McPherson; and orators spoke of his "home-coming." The students of Georgia Tech came with a band and transparencies: "Wood's Got the Ball. Look Out, Hindenburg!"

Crowds Stop His Car.

Chattanooga turned out to greet him; Macon gave him a demonstration. Savannah, Columbia, Athens, Birmingham, New Orleans, Little Rock, jostled and whirled about him. Not since the Civil War had there been such throngs in the villages. Crowds stopped his machine in the road for a speech, trains were held for a word from him. Everywhere he emphasized "the little done, the undone vast;" spoke of a long hard war, the need for earnestness, for the will to push forward and carry through. There was in his gravity, his enthusiasm, for the cause, something that stirred in these Southerners emotions which had not been stirred in 50 years.

Everywhere men and women came to him, pathetically grateful for his candor and what it revealed of confidence in their steadiness of mind. The administration was sending broadcast laudations of what had been done and what might be expected and the hard truth proved stimulating.

"The interest among all these crowds of people is very remarkable," Wood wrote in his diary. "They seem to be just waking up to the fact that they haven't been told the truth."

"They are beginning to ask why isn't something being done," he wrote Roosevelt. "They can not be much longer fooled by throwing dust in the air and shouting, 'Onward Christian Soldiers.'"

"They seem to be more than anxious to learn the truth and to do something, but they are all pathetically uninformed. To let them know the real conditions is a sort of idol-shattering process."

Praised by Charlotte Paper.

"All of Gen. Wood's expressions in the South—all of his actions," said the Charlotte Observer editorially—have been in the direction of inspiring loyalty to the Government in time of war as well as in time of peace * * * to encourage support of the President and his Administration, and * * * to impress upon the people * * * the importance of not only building up and sustaining a strong military establishment at this time, but for the further purpose of strengthening the influence of the United States in aiding in bringing about the peace of the world. He has presented these views with the same degree of fearlessness that characterized his utterances in the direction of warning the country of its unpreparedness."

The Southerners were ready to be stirred, and Wood's unpretentious eloquence, his short, burning sentences that were like the spark flung from a comet on its course, kindled fires. But making the war understandable to the South was only one phase of Wood's work. There were a dozen camps to establish—an officers' training camp, a central concentration camp, conscription camps at various points, camps where men below the draft age might secure three months' intensive instruction. Then, when the camps were established and the men came flooding in, would come the greatest work of all, a work peculiarly his own, to take them and make them soldiers, eager for the sacrifice and prepared to serve their country better when peace returned. He was deluged with appeals from governors, senators, congressmen, mayors, chambers of commerce, demanding inspections of camp sites. He went everywhere, traveling night and day. Politicians surged about him, but he had a gift for refusing a request in such a way that those aggrieved somehow became his friends. Two of the cities, indeed, which had asked most urgently for camps, Savannah and Charleston, presented costly silver pieces to the agent of their disappointment.

Roosevelt Is Amused.

"I can not help grinning over the way in which the attempt to exile you has turned out," Roosevelt wrote. "You have had a really wonderful reception in the South, and have made a wonderful impression there. To my great amusement Gen. Bridges, the Englishman, who is rather taking the administration view, told me that the President had informed him that he had purposely sent you in the South, because of the great work he knew you would be doing down there! I asked Bridges if that was the reason the President had tried to get you to go to the Hawaiian Islands."

Wood was ready to begin the construction of the cantonments when, unexpectedly, Washington sent orders that he was to have nothing to do with construction. A bureau in Washington was to do it, and Wood was to keep hands off. He obeyed, but where he found civilians in uniform as Reserve Corps quartermasters making a botch of plans or of construction he sent his own staff officers to "help" the incompetents do their work. At Atlanta the civilian was willing merely to "run the office," and one of Wood's quartermasters constructed the cantonment. On one lumber contract alone, by a swift intrusion of his authority, he saved the Government $3,000,000 or $4,000,000.

Appalled by Slow Pace.

Wood enjoyed life in Charleston—the atmosphere of the old South, the stately and charming old houses, the gardens whose beauty was in the eyes of Charleston what rush was to New York and bigness to Chicago. On hot summer nights, he liked to sit on the veranda with the members of his staff and their wives around him, and compensate himself for the self-control of his public utterances. His frankness was attractive; and starting it was known that secret agents had been sent from Washington to spy on him; and one such agent was caught in the act and secretly hustled out of the city. Even then, mood modified only slightly the frankness of his speech.

He was, indeed, appalled by the slow pace of the preparations.

"We are now in the fourth month of war," he wrote to Roosevelt on July 10, "with no one in training except a few regular recruits and the militia called to guard bridges, public utilities, &c. In the whole history of this country I know of nothing to equal it. It is a type of inactivity which paralyzes interest in the war."

He spoke of his recommendation to Baker to call the militia to the colors.

"Had my advice been followed, we would have from 250,000 to 300,000 men well on the way to preparedness for duty in France. There would have been some response. Fools are talking about 22,000 aeroplanes and ignoring the fact that up to date we haven't as yet built one single fighting machine in this country. In other words, there is a tendency to keep out of the war. An energetic, strong policy from the date of the declaration of war to the present time would have had this country an armed camp."

The War Department had yielded to Wood's supplications to adopt the Lewis gun. It had followed also Wood's recommendation to manufacture the Lee-Enfield rifle which was being manufactured in huge quantities for the British. Wood had urged the use of this weapon on two grounds—standardization of caliber, making the ammunition of the Americans and the British interchangeable, and speed of production, since numerous factories were actually turning out thousands of rifles every day. But, after a consultation with Pershing, Crozier, Scott and Bliss, and with their approval, Baker decided to have the Lee-Enfield rechambered for the use of American ammunition.

Finds Facts Hard to Believe.

"It seems to me inconceivable that this can be true," Wood wrote the adjutant general. "In chambering these rifles to receive American ammunition, we have deliberately defeated one of the principal objects hoped to be gained by its adoption—namely, the standardization of calibers." This action violates absolutely the lessons of the present war and indicates that there has been no proper appreciation of the difficulty of ammunition supply and the necessity of keeping the number of different calibers down to a minimum."

Crozier, the chief of ordnance, declared that he was having the Enfields rechambered in order that the ammunition of the American forces at least might be standardized. There were 500,000 Springfield rifles on hand and 200,000,000 rounds of ammunition. Surely these could not be wasted.

"This argument is not sound," Wood answered, "because these rifles will all be wanted for the home forces and for use in training here. * * * But even if our Springfields should be used on the other side, the argument would not have sufficient weight to justify a violation of so basic a military principle as that which demands uniformity of calibers of both rifles and machine guns to the greatest extent possible. But the 600,000 Springfield rifles which we have will not be used on the other side to any great extent. They are but a drop in the bucket and we shall want them here. * * *

"In this change we have imposed an unnecessary and dangerous delay in the supplying of arms. We have also added greatly to the difficulty and uncertainty of the supply. * * * The change made indicates that those responsible for it are not thinking in the terms of modern war. * * *

"The situation is very serious. I earnestly recommend, therefore, that the procedure which impresses me as being the height of folly and short-sightedness be not adopted, or, if adopted, be at once dropped and one based on present conditions and sound military policy be adopted."

Change Requires Months.

Crozier had declared that the change of caliber would be a simple matter and would take little time. Actually, it took months and seriously impeded America's participation in the war.

From Washington, meanwhile, came odd rumors. Gen. Wood was failing. Gen. Wood was ill. He was, it happened, working like a dynamo, keeping at the peak of fitness with rides at dawn and elaborate contortions on the floor at night designed to search out obscure muscles.

"Ill? Ye gods, what damnable lies!" wrote one of his aids to a friend. "They didn't bother him—he was too busy getting camps started. But we, who served with him and were devoted to him, they hurt us."

Wood suspected shrewdly that what was in the wind was an attempt to keep him from service in France. Maj. Johnson Hagood, receiving orders for overseas, went to Wood to tell him the good news. As Wood stretched out his hand to congratulate him, Hagood for once noted the surge of a sharp emotion across his feature. "Well," said the general, "I shall see you there soon."

If he felt any forebodings, his work left him no leisure to indulge them.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sarnoff

GETTING HIS GOAT

THOROUGHBRED RACE HORSES ARE NEARLY ALWAYS TEMPERAMENTAL AND REQUIRE THE COMPANIONSHIP OF SOME OTHER ANIMAL LIKE A DOG OR GOAT IN THEIR STABLE. WHEN GOATS WERE COMMONLY USED FOR THIS PURPOSE UNSCRUPULOUS RIVALS WOULD STEAL THEM TO MAKE THE HORSE FRETFUL AND UNABLE TO DO HIS BEST.

JERK-WATER TOWNS

IN EARLY RAILROAD DAYS IT SOMETIMES BECAME NECESSARY TO STOP TRAINS AT WAYSIDE STREAMS TO REPLENISH THE WATER SUPPLY. THE PRACTICE OF CARRYING WATER IN LEATHER BUCKETS FROM THE STREAM TO THE ENGINE WAS KNOWN AS "JERKING WATER." LATER TRAINS STOPPED AT SMALL TOWNS WHICH BECAME KNOWN AS JERK-WATER TOWNS.

FEBRUARY WAS THE MONTH IN WHICH THE ROMAN FESTIVAL OF PURIFICATION WAS CELEBRATED. FOR THAT REASON IT RECEIVED ITS NAME FROM THE LATIN WORD "FEBRUARE" WHICH MEANT TO EXPIATE OR PURIFY.

French Toast, Serving 4.

2 eggs.
½ teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon paprika.
1 teaspoon sugar.
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons fat.

Beat eggs in shallow bowl or deep soup plate, add salt, paprika, sugar and milk. Beat with fork, quickly dip bread into mixture and while "dripping" place in frying pan in which the fat has been heated. Cook over moderate fire until well browned.

Creamed Oysters, Serving 6.

1-3 cup butter.
½ cup flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon paprika.
2½ cups milk.
1½ cups small oysters.

Melt butter and add flour, salt and paprika. Mix well and add milk. Cook slowly, stir constantly until very thick, creamy sauce forms. Sauce must be very thick. Heat oysters one minute, add to sauce, mix well. Serve at once, poured over toast, crackers or in patty cases.

Chicago Chicken, Serving 6.

1½ teaspoons salt.
¼ teaspoon paprika.
¼ teaspoon celery salt.
2 eggs, beaten.
2 tablespoons milk.
½ cup flour.
5 tablespoons fat.
1 cup water.
6 wooden skewers.

Have steaks cut into 1½ inch squares. Sprinkle with salt, paprika and celery salt. Alternate pork and veal on skewers, putting 5 or 6 pieces on each skewer. Dip in eggs, which have been mixed with milk. Roll in flour. Heat fat in frying pan and brown the "chicken." Place in baking pan and add water. Cover and bake one hour in moderate oven. Baste frequently.

Hollywood Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY.

Hollywood—Imagine the plight, if you can, of a small-town theater man who got the film for one picture and the words for another. It is said to have happened.

Equally terrible was the predicament of the exhibitor who wired a small studio, so goes the story, "All records broken."

"Congratulations," was the reply. "It's a great picture."

ELISSA LANDI

John McCormack, the Irish tenor, is back in Hollywood, not to make pictures, but to spend some of the money he made here.

McCormack's "Song o' My Heart," his first and his only picture to date, was a success vocally and artistically, but it was not a clean-up financially, except for him. He is said to have been paid $500,000 to make it.

Luck in Bunches.

Elissa Landi was more fortunate than most players of the stage. She received three offers simultaneously to come to Hollywood.

Miss Landi came from the English to the New York stage, and before the play in which she was appearing in had been running long agents from three studios talked terms with her.

She took all three offers under consideration. The first studio, she learned, had Greta Garbo. The second had Marlene Dietrich, then being groomed for stardom.

While Elissa in nowise compared herself to either the Swedish or the German stars, she reasoned that she would have a better chance on a lot where there were no other blonde actresses. So she chose the third studio and now is under contract there.

Superstitions.

Unlike their fellows on the stage, movie players believe in few superstitions. There is one, though, that comes from the theater: The wearing of green while at work. Neither personal nor studio wardrobes contain green costumes.

Green, it is said, never is worn by seasoned stage troupers, who recall the legend of the lady who wore a green costume in a new play. The play soon failed, and the lady died of a broken heart. Anyway, that's the story.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFARRARI, Ph. D.

Many persons who are interested in the origin of family names have expressed surprise that so many such names indicate the occupation of peddlers and various kinds of wandering traders. In this connection one should remember that in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, the time when surnames were becoming hereditary in England, the small towns and villages were far removed from even such "general stores" as are seen in our own country districts today. Furthermore, the roads were so poor that travel was exceedingly slow, laborious and dangerous. Such isolation, therefore, was the source of great profit to the many peddlers who were willing to undergo the hardships and dangers of travel in those early days. In fact, so great did the numbers of such wandering tradesmen become that it was at times necessary to pass laws to reduce them. They generally traveled in groups through the lonely districts which were infested by robbers, and they took care to be well armed and constantly on the alert. The "chapman" was a frequent member of these wandering groups of peddlers, and was perhaps the most ambitious of them all, since he often had a small wagon filled with a great variety of goods. "Chapman" is based on the Old English "ceap," meaning "price," "bargain" and "market." The modern word "cheap" is an abbreviated form of the original expression "good cheap," meaning "good price" or "good market." The Hundred Rolls mentions a certain Thomas le Chapman and a Grante le Chapman.

The family name "Nietzsche" is a variation of the Germanic "Nitho." "Nitho" was an old personal name meaning "envy," "anger" and "warlike zeal."

HELP WANTED

No Unemployment in Housekeeping

Jobs are scarce nowadays. But there's no lack of work for the woman who does her own housekeeping. She has enough to do, and that's certain.

In fact, the less work there is for other people, the more there is for her. Because in trying to save money during bad times she has to work harder than ever.

But women who trade in A&P stores find the work of saving on their food bills already done for them. It is done by an organization that is in the business of keeping food prices low.

Comdr. Towers And Wife Going To West Coast

Recently Wed Couple to Leave Here Early This Spring.

HAVING been assigned to new duty which will take take him to the West Coast, Capt. John H. Towers, assistant chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, and his attractive wife, the former Mlle. Pierette de Grandmont, will leave in the late spring.

Capt. Towers will be chief of staff of the aircraft battle force, succeeding Capt. Arthur B. Cook, who will come to Washington to take over his duties in the Bureau of Aeronautics.

Although "farewells" are always in order in the Navy, news of the departure of Capt. Towers and his wife, a bride of a few months, is received with much regret in official circles in the Capital, where they have enjoyed great popularity.

Capt. and Mrs. Towers leased a house, in the fall, at Georgetown, 1400 Twenty-ninth street, the home of Commander and Mrs. Charles C. Hartigan, who are in China. Mrs. Hartigan is a sister of Kathleen Norris.

The marriage of Capt. Towers and Mlle. de Grandmont was one of the most colorful events of the summer. It took place in August at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pell at Ticonderoga, N. Y., in the presence of the ranking officials of the Navy.

Mrs. Towers is the daughter of Mme. Pierre Chauvin de Grandmont, of Paris. Mr. Pell was appointed guardian for Mrs. Towers, and thus the wedding took place at his home.

Capt. Towers has been on duty in the Bureau of Aeronautics for two years. Before her marriage his wife visited here occasionally.

Hoovers to Receive Army and Navy February 11.

The President and Mrs. Hoover have sent out cards for a reception on the evening of Wednesday, February 11, when the Army and Navy will be the guests of honor. The function will be the last state reception but one, this season, the next being scheduled for Monday evening, February 16, in honor of the officials of the Treasury, Postoffice, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce and Labor Departments.

Fellow fficers Say Farewell to Comdr. Straus.

Commander S. M. Straus, of the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics, was guest of honor at a dinner given by the officers of the Bureau Saturday evening in the grill of the Shoreham. Commander Straus is to be transferred soon to a new station, and the dinner was in the nature of a farewell party.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett was the ranking naval official present. Other guests were Capt. John H. Towers, Col. T. C. Turner, U. S. M. C.; Commander E. A. Cobey, Commander R. K. Turner, Commander R. D. Weyerbacher, Commander A. H. Gray, Commander F. C. Ceres, Commander C. A. Pownall, Commander H. B. Cecil, Commander W. W. Webster, Commander Garland Fulton, Commander M. A. M. T. Seligman.

The Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. Richard B. Bennett, was the guest of honor at a midday breakfast given by the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, at the embassy yesterday.

Mrs. John L. Cassin and her sister, Mrs. Charles Dearden, of Chattanooga, have motored to Atlantic City to spend a week. On their return to Washington, Mrs. Dearden will be the guest of Mrs. Cassin for a week before returning to her home in Tennessee.

Mrs. William Wolff Smith will entertain at luncheon at the Willard Thursday. She will resume her book talks then.

Mrs. Smith's luncheon guests will be Miss Janet Richards, Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, Mrs. Harry Atwood Colmand and Miss Minnie Kendall Lowther, whose book, "Mount Vernon," will be reviewed.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

Rome and the Vatican City were the combined subjects of E. M. Newman's Travelogue yesterday in the National Theater—with "Standing Room Only" signs adorning the premises.

They are modernizing Rome, it seems, and also antiquating it a bit; by excavation work that reveals some of the old landmarks—when the Caesars strolled the streets. So Mr. Newman has a perfectly glorious time showing the contrasts of ancient and modern Rome—with street cars being abolished and buses taking their place.

Mussolini and the Pope, the king a side issue, are the two central characters in Mr. Newman's rather blithe excursion into the time-honored town—the Eternal City. Some of the glimpses of Mussolini, the man, are interesting—and when Mr. Newman shows motion pictures of Pious XI he has what the newspaper boys call "a scoop." It never had been done.

Single performers this season in Washington seem to have things all their own way. Ruth Draper last week came very near breaking the house record at the Belasco—and Mr. Newman, on his two visits to Washington has faced audiences occupying every seat in the celebrated playhouse on E street. They are enthusiastic audiences, too, for Newman, to use the vernacular, "delivers the goods."

There was quite a disappointment at the Belasco when "Blackbirds of 1930" failed to open a week's engagement last night, as scheduled.

It seems that, at the last moment, the Baltimore engagement of this troupe was canceled. "Blackbirds" was supposed to go from Washington to the Monumental City. With no nearby harbor, no place in which to light, the birds flew Westward from New York, and that is why, like Mr. Joe Cook, refusing to imitate the Four Hawaiians, there was no performance in the Belasco Theater last night; why anxious theatergoers, who had no way of learning the news, were sent home or to nearby halls of the cinema.

A frantic attempt was made to bring in a substitute production, but that was impossible, so two theaters in Washington will go dark this week; or, practically dark, for the National does not get under way until Thursday night, with the first performance of the New York Grand Opera Company.

Stimson Among Those Who Would Aid Disabled Veterans.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson have taken a box for concerts to be given on Thursday afternoon and evening at Constitution Hall for the benefit of the memorial chapel fund at Walter Reed Hospital, under the auspices of the Gray Ladies.

Other box holders are Senator and Mrs. Hamilton F. Kean, Gen. John J. Pershing, Mrs. Karl D. Klemm and Senator and Mrs. Felix Hebert.

Other patrons of the concerts are the Chief Justice and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, Senator and Mrs. Peter Norbeck and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Amos Fries.

The program at the concerts will be presented by "Roxy and His Gang," assisted by Mme. Schumann-Heink and an orchestra of 35 pieces. Mr. S. L. Rothafel ("Roxy") and Mme. Schumann-Heink, in contributing their talent, add to the already long list of services they have given in brightening the lives of disabled veterans.

Lieut. Burnside to Wed Miss Cecil Jewell.

Col. and Mrs. Frank C. Jewell have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cecil Jewell, to Lieut. John Lockwood Burnside, U. S. N., nephew of Mr. and Mrs. W. Eben Burnside, of this city.

Miss Jewell, who has just come, with her parents, from Atlanta, attended the National Cathedral School for Girls.

Lieut. Burnside, who was graduated from the Naval Academy in '26, is attending the submarine school in New London, Conn., and spends much time in Washington as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Burnside in their apartment at the Highlands.

Mrs. Andrew Jackson Somerville entertained at a bridge party Saturday in honor of Mrs. Harry H. Steck. Among the guests were Mrs. John C. Harding, Mrs. J. Reginald Conard, Mrs. Karl E. Jarrell, Miss Susan Nicholson, Miss Margaret Somerville, Miss Kirwin Steck, Miss Elizabeth McInerney, Mrs. Harrison Somerville, Mrs. Channing S. Walker, Miss Kathaleen Lyons, Mrs. E. A. ESPINOSA'S TWO SUB PAR 69S WIN TEXAS OPEN

Sweepstakes Tradition At Stake

Clarke, Now Leader, May Be First Outsider to Win.

Group of Stars Close on Heels; Others Have Failed.

By JOHN V. HINKEL.

FOR the first time since the Howard Campbell Swepstakes were inaugurated, a dark horse has the best chance to cop the first money, Astor H. Clarke, a good bowler, but little thought of in the pretournament dope, now being in front with five pins to spare and only five more games to be rolled.

When Clarke finished in third place during the rolling of the first block, with Bradley Mandley leading by 35 pins, the so-called experts immediately declared that the latter, a noted "money" bowler, was just the same as "in," while it was freely predicted that Clarke, then rated third, and Charley Walson, who was in second place, would crack.

"Experts" Were Crossed.

But, in Saturday's second block, the experts were crossed—and how! Wilson slipped as they predicted, but Clarke stepped out and turned in a 638 total to take the lead, while the highly touted Mandley could do no better than 541, skidding all the way from first place to fifth, with Jack Wolstenholme, Eddie Espey and Hokie Smith passing him. Now, the experts have stopped experting except to predict that anything is likely to happen when the pinmen take the drives for the final block at the Lucky Strike alleys next Saturday night.

Results of the second block have convinced all that an event of this kind can not be correctly doped out in advance and that bowlers are just as inconsistent with respect to past performances as are the ponies.

Burgess, G. W., Leading Local College Scorers

Forrest Burgess, George Washington forward, continues to lead local college basket ball scorers with a total of 125 points. His nearest rival is Del Cosgrove, Gallaudet forward, who has collected 108. Third place is held by Johnny Ringle, Gallaudet center, with 96 points, while Jack Conner, G. W. guard, with 90 and Bozey Berger, Maryland guard with 84 occupy fourth and fifth places.

Maryland in Second Place In Dixie Conference Race

By DILLON GRAHAM.

ATLANTA, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Without firing a single shot during the week, Alabama's Crimson Cagers today headed the Southern Conference basket ball race by virtue of Georgia Tech's stunning 37 to 19 defeat of Georgia Saturday.

The defending champions from Tuscaloosa automatically advanced into first position with seven victories accomplished earlier in the season. Two teams from the upper sector, Maryland and Kentucky, were the only other quintets with perfect marks. Maryland has five and Kentucky four victories.

Maryland Goes Into Second Place.

Georgia, at the top of the ladder, with eight wins, including a decision over Georgia Tech, was caught by a surprisingly effective offensive barrage, executed by the Tech Steers, which gave them a safe early lead.

Auburn struck a hard luck trail, losing to Tech, 37 to 33, Clemson, 37 to 33, and to Vanderbilt, 36 to 35.

Maryland pushed into second place by two decisive victories. The Old Liners beat V. M. I., 44 to 20, and trounced V. P. I., 33 to 16. Kentucky also improved its standing, but only after a heated extra period encounter with Tennessee last night. The Wildcas won, 36 to 32, but Tennessee, trailing by 18 points at the half, outplayed the Kentuckians during the final period to knot the count as the regular game period ended, 32 to 32.

Tennessee also dropped another close one to Vanderbilt, 40 to 41. In a pair of hotly contested affairs, V. P. I. nosed out V. M. I., 28 to 27, and then lost to Virginia, 36 to 28. In another game providing a mild surprise, Duke beat North Carolina, 30 to 18, after the Tarheels had previously beaten North Carolina State, Conqueror of Duke, 32 to 16. After losing five straight games, Tulane finally downed Mississippi, 42 to 40.

Generals Lose Brace of Nonconference Games.

In nonconference brushes, Virginia beat William and Mary, 36 to 34; Washington and Lee lost to Temple, 24 to 38, and to New York University, 26 to 39, and V. M. I. bowed to the Navy, 24 to 39.

The standings of the Southern Conference basket ball teams, including games of Saturday night; following games of Saturday night, follow:

Alabama	7	0	Virginia	2	3

VIRGINIA RING TEAM HOST TO GATORS

Florida, Conference Champs, to Be Met Tomorrow.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., Feb. 1.—Florida's boxers, 1930 champions of the Southern Conference, will oppose Virginia in the ring here Tuesday night. The match will begin at 7:30 o'clock. This is the fourth dual meet between Cavaliers and Gators since they first met in the ring in 1927. Virginia won that year, 5 to 2. They did not get together in 1928, but in 1929 the Florida team won 4 to 3, and it took a victory by the same score last season.

Florida has never failed to make an impressive showing in the conference tourney. The Gators placed third in 1927, when the Cavaliers won the title. They were in the same position a year later, in 1929 they moved into second position, and in 1930 they took the title for the first time, with V. M. I. second and Tulane third.

Virginia Personnel Uncertain.

Johnny La Rowe, coach of the Cavalier ringmen, won't decide which of his men will go in against Florida until just before time to weigh in. Some of his men are still stiff and sore as a result of the match with the V. M. I. Cadets last night, but he hopes to have them in shape for the next engagement.

Jack Fishburne is the most likely choice as bantamweight and Bobby Goldstein will probably go in as featherweight. The lightweight position is uncertain. Capt. Bob Rainey is almost sure to be the welterweight entry, for Gene Stevens, who fractured a small bone in his hand against Virginia Tech, can't be used.

If Lewis Reise is moved up into the light-heavy division to give the veteran Fenton Gentry a rest, the middleweight class will be left open for either Dan Williams or St. Julian Oppenheimer. Either Herbert Bryant or Hunter Motley will be the heavyweight.

Battery C Winner In League Contest

Battery C cagers defeated Battery B, 42 to 18, yesterday in the opening game of the 260th Coast Artillery National Guard League. Headquarters team also was credited with a win when Battery A forfeited.

Fine shooting early in the game by Tegeler and Gheen gave the C's a lead they never relinquished. Smith and Daniels in the second half did the heavy scoring.

RAILROADERS WIN COURT FEATURE

Beat Baltimoreans at Alexandria; Other Games.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 1.—With Lester McMenamin performing in sensational fashion at center, Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad Co. tossers soundly thrashed the Denny Tag Co., leaders in the Baltimore Industrial League, by 54 to 28 here this afternoon in the feature of a five-game bill at Schuler's Hall.

McMenamin counted 18 points on 9 field goals while Ellett Cabell and Buddy Zimmerman, two teammates, pushed him for top honors, each scoring 14 points. Rutiger topped Denny Tag Co. with 11 points while O'Toole was close behind with 11.

Frat Five Forced Overtime To Triumph.

Alpha Delta Omega Fraternity was forced to play an overtime period to defeat the Woodside A. C., of Montgomery County, Md., by 27 to 23 in the semifinal attraction after "Doc" Dreifus' foul goal in the final ten seconds of play had tied the score for the locals.

Three baskets in the overtime period clinched the decision for Alpha Delta Omega, the visitors being able to score but one. West and Dreifus led the fraternity scorers, while Marks and Williams stood out for the aliens.

A trio of Alexandria Junior Basket Ball League games were played as preliminaries to the two main games. Friends A. C. trimmed the Central Cougars, 26 to 25; Whitestone's Store defeated the Clover A. V., 15 to 14, and Alexandria High School Lightweights downed the Clovers, 15 to 8.

A field goal by Fairfax in the waning moments of the battle gave Friends the decision over the Centrals while Gene Zimmerman's foul shot trimmed the Clovers for Whitestone's. Fairfax, Friends, and A. Prinks, Centrals, were the day's leading scorers in the loop tilts with 15 and 17 points, respectively.

WINS GERMAN TITLE.

Baer Battles Loughran Friday

Bout, Test for Californian, Tops Program for week.

King Tut to Oppose Petrolle Tonight; Risko Shows.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—One of the biggest boxing weeks in recent months is on tap for the Nation's followers of the cauliflower brigade during the next six days. Principal shows are at New York, Chicago, St. Paul, Detroit, Philadelphia and Boston.

At New York, Max Baer, California heavyweight, who has been something of a disappointment to the East so far, makes his third appearance in Madison Square Garden Friday night against the clever Philadelphian, Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion. Loughran has had little success since he abandoned the 175-pound crown to mingle with the heavyweights, but he figures to be entirely too fast and experienced for Baer. The Californian was beaten by Ernie Schaaf in his first Eastern start and was taking a fine trouncing from Tom Heeney when the veteran New Zealander tumbled outside the ropes and was counted out in the now famous "8-count" of Timekeeper Arthur Donovan.

Two shows are booked for Detroit. Tomorrow night Scotty Monteith, Olympia matchmaker, will hold a heavyweight carnival with two dozen young behemoths in action. On Friday Johnny Risko, Cleveland veteran, meets Charles Retzlaff, Duluth heavyweight, in a ten-rounder.

St. Paul's show tomorrow night is headed by a ten-rounder between King Tut, of Milwaukee, and Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express," who recently gave Jimmy McLarnin the worst beating of his career.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, will battle at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night against an opponent yet to be selected. Tony was to have met Goldie Hess, but the Californian is down with the influenza, and a substitute will have to be secured.

Bouts on the national schedule include:

Monday—At Detroit, Olympia arena, heavyweight carnival; at St. Paul, King Tut, Milwaukee, vs. Billy Petrolle, Fargo, N. Dak., lightweights, 10.

Tuesday—At Indianapolis, Tracy Cox, Indianapolis, vs. Marty Fields, Chicago, featherweights, 10; at Los Angeles, Fidel La Barba, Los Angeles, vs. Claude Verner, Bakersfield, featherweights, 10; at San Francisco, George Manley, Denver, vs. Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., light heavyweights, 10; at Oklahoma City, Jackie Goldman, Akron, Ohio, vs. George Moran, Memphis, lightweights, 8.

Wednesday—At Chicago, Stadium, Tony Canzoneri, New York, vs. opponent to be selected, lightweights, 10; and Larry Johnson, Chicago, vs. Lou Scozza, Buffalo, light heavyweights, 10; at San Francisco, Gilbert Attell, San Francisco, vs. Ettling Dozier, Wichita, Kans., Negro, welterweights, and Bud Stringham, Salt Lake City, vs. Bob Robinson, Oakland, light heavyweights, each 10.

Friday—At New York, Madison Square Garden, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, vs. Max Baer, California, Ralph Picuccello, New York, vs. Paul Swiderski, Syracuse, N. Y., and Stanley Poreda, Jersey City, vs. Walter Cobb, Baltimore, all heavyweights, each 10; at Boston, King Levinsky, Chicago, vs. Jack Gagnon, Boston, heavyweights, 10; at Detroit, Johnny Risko, Cleveland, vs. Charles Retzlaff, Duluth, heavyweights, 10.

Scholastic Grid Coach Dies in Fall on Stairs

Hamilton, Ohio, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Daniel Savage, 41, football coach at Xavier High School, Cincinnati, died in Mercy Hospital here late today of a fractured skull suffered when he fell downstairs.

Savage, who also taught Latin and English at the high school, was visiting at the home of Louis Dunivan, an old friend, here when the accident occurred.

3 Virginians Named On College Rule Body

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Three members of the University of Virginia athletic staff have been placed on official rules committees recently named to serve the National Collegiate Athletic Association in 1931. They are James Driver, director of athletics, on the committee for boxing; Gust Tebell, coach of basket ball and baseball, on the basket ball rules committee, and Dr. Allen, chairman of the faculty committee for athletics.

No other Southern institution has more than two holders of posts on the rules committees.

Clabby, Former Fight Figure, Dies in Crash

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—James (Pop) Clabby, 71, the Pa Stribling of another era, was killed here early today when an automobile in which he was riding crashed into a steel bridge girder. His two companions, Chester Sexton and Joseph Smith were injured.

The dead man was the father of Jimmy Clabby, who has been described as one of the greatest middleweight boxers of all times.

Together with Eddie Clabby, a welterweight, who attained lesser fame than his brother, the group made an inseparable trio on barnstorming tours that took them around the world.

The elder Clabby was to be seen in Jimmy's corner on all the latter's major engagements, including the bout in which he won the middleweight championship of Australia and the memorable battles with Eddie McGoorty, Frank Klaus, Jack Dillon, Mike Gibbons and Bugs Kelly.

Before prohibition Pop Clabby operated a saloon that for many years was the gathering place for sporting celebrities of the Middle West.

CONTRARY to popular notion, the Ohio River is not the boundary between Ohio and Kentucky. The northern boundary of Kentucky is the low water mark on the north side of the Ohio River. Thus, it might be possible to walk into Kentucky from Ohio without crossing the river provided the river goes lower than the "low water" mark. Usually, when a river is between two States, the title of each State extends to the middle of the river. The jurisdiction of the Federal Government over such streams is merely incidental to its constitutional power to regulate and improve navigation for interstate and foreign commerce. The Ohio River is an exception in that Kentucky and West Virginia have absolute jurisdiction over the entire river along their shores as far as the low water mark on the opposite side.

Richard the Lion Hearted was King of England from 1189 to 1199, but he spent only about one year of that time in England. During most of the other nine years he was on crusades.

Before she became coach of the Brownies of the Illinois Woman's A. C., Elsie Schreiber played an average of 35 games a season over a period of seven years. She was captain of each of the teams on which she played.

Any reader wanting further proof of anything depicted here should address John Hix, care of The Washington Post, and inclose a stamped and self-addresstd envelope for reply.

Few Seconds at 200 Miles Per Hour Seems "Eternity" to Auto Driver, Says Campbell

Car and Course, Not Human Element, Uncertain.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Fifteen seconds may be only a fleeting period of time to some people, but to a man driving an automobile 200 miles an hour or more it seems like an age.

Take it from Capt. Malcolm Campbell, of England, who is here awaiting favorable beach conditions to attack the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles an hour.

If Campbell can cover a mile twice in the average time of 15 seconds for each run he will set a new world's record of 240 miles an hour—4 miles a minute. But to him, he says, those few seconds will seem "eternity."

The 46-year-old driver, who has had more experience at superspeed racing than any other man in the world, today described some of the sensations he encounters while traveling at such breath-taking paces.

Fifteen Seconds Seems Long Time.

"How does it feel to drive a car more than 200 miles an hour?" he asked and, answering the question himself, said:

"Like waiting an interminable time for something dreadful to happen and expecting all that time that it will. The fifteen seconds or so that it takes to make a record run of 1 mile seems like an age—an eternity.

"From each flag to the next that are set out a hundred yards or so apart to mark the outside of the course on the local beach—although you are conscious of going terribly fast—somehow it seems an appalling distance—an ordeal that never ends."

Campbell said determination, experience and ability to think fast were three of the prime requisites man should have to drive a car at such speed. A capable car, well built tires and smooth course are the others.

"A quick brain is essential," he said, "although that brain only can be applied to certain things when you are going at record speeds. You dare not take your feet off the accelerator; to do so means certain death in the sea or sand dunes.

"Bumps in sand you can not see, nor can you swerve radically to avoid them if you could see them. Expert steering is necessary but any considerable swerving is impossible."

Campbell is confident of himself and confident he can break the record. Beyond keeping himself fit he does not worry about the human element. He regards the condition of beach and stability of his car as the only two uncertain facts.

Campbell attained an official speed of nearly 200 miles per hour yesterday in a practice run and plans to put the huge 1,450 horsepower motor through more test spins tomorrow if beach conditions permit.

Low tide tomorrow occurs at 1:30 p. m. but it probably will be possible for Campbell to take the car onto the beach from an hour to two hours before or after that time.

Boy Extends Borotra In French Net Finals

Paris, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Jean Borotra, veteran French Davis Cup ace, captured the French covered-courts tennis championship for the third consecutive year today, defeating 18-year-old Jean Lesueur, 6—3, 11—9, 5—7, 6—4.

Lesueur was ranked thirteenth among French players in 1930 and held no ranking whatever in 1929, even as a junior. Big Bill Tilden was the finalist against Borotra last year.

D. C. All-Star Netmen Blank Annapolis Team

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Feb. 1.—With only one match going to three sets, the Washington All-Stars easily conquered the Annapolis Team, 9-0, in a Winter Indoor Tennis League match in the Fifth Regiment Armory here today. Frank Shore and Clyde Yeomans were extended in the doubles by Gokey and Folk before taking the decision, 4—6, 6—3, 6—4.

Bill Buchanan registered a notable victory over Lieut. D. C. Redgrave, a member of the Navy Leech Cup squad, 6—4, 6—4.

Washington's position in the league standings remains unchanged, the Capital crew trailing closely behind the first-place Clifton Park Team.

SINGLES.

Dooley Mitchell (W.) defeated H. R. Pitch, 6—7, 6—4; Frank Shore (W.) defeated M. W. Gokey, 8—6, 6—1; Bill Buchanan (W.) defeated D. C. Redgrave, 6—4, 6—4; Ed Yeomans (W.) defeated Defeated W. F. Folk, 6—4, 6—1; Clyde R. S. Merrick, 6—3, 6—1; Colin Stam (W.) Yeomans (W.) defeated T. Caldwell, 6—3, 6—2.

DOUBLES.

Mitchell and Buchanan (W.) defeated Pitch and Redgrave, 6—4, 6—4; Shore and C. Yeomans (W.) defeated Gokey and Folk, 4—6, 6—3, 6—4; Stam and E. Yeomans (W.) defeated Merrick and Caldwell, 6—1, 6—1.

Cannes Chase Feature Is Won by Feu de Joie

Cannes, France, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Senator James Hennessey's Fue de Joie won the Grand Hurdle race of Cannes today with Dictateur second and Himar third. The race, worth 65,000, was run over a course of 2 miles.

Feu de Joie, a 4-year-old son of Cerfeuil, out of Pusee D'Or, won by four lengths and paid 5 to 1 in the mutuels. There were six starters.

Sewell, in Top Shape, Expects To Be Regular With Yankees

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 1 (A.P.). Joe Sewell, who celebrated his twenty-first birthday by playing shortstop in a world series with the Cleveland Indians, at 32 is looking forward to a regular berth with the New York Yankees.

"I am in better shape today than I have been in for several seasons," Sewell said, as he walked off a tennis court after two hours continuous play. "I weigh 174 pounds, just one less than my best playing weight for the last few seasons."

Of course, it will be up to Manager Joe McCarthy, but Sewell says he isn't worried about the outcome of the training days in St. Petersburg in March. "That team has plenty of coaches and I expect to play ball for them," he replied to a question as to his coaching youngsters.

"Slowing up? There's nothing to it," Joe said, grinning, "just something to write about, I guess. Of course, after a fellow has been playing major league baseball for eleven years, he isn't exactly as fresh as he was at first, but he can be just as good a player, probably better."

"Why, lots of major clubs have been paying $60,000 and $40,000 for players' services older than I am, players that never went to the big leagues before. Old? I can't see it at 32 just because I happened to be just 20 when I got my first chance in the majors.

Joe hung up a record of 1,365 consecutive games before flu brought him down last season and slowed him up for the year, but he doesn't believe the regular call every day during the season for ten years hurt him.

"No, sir!" he said, with emphasis. "In these ten years before 1930 I played only two games that I didn't really feel like playing, and those were days on which I took a little medicine and felt just the same after the game as I did before. All this talk about me playing while hurt and seriously sick is just talk. I never was sick until last spring."

Joe says his eyesight is just as good as ever, and he doesn't anticipate increasing his strike-out average, which is low.

"There are several more good years ahead," Joe said, as he swung a tennis racquet at an imaginary ball and went through the motions of a forehand drive.

Shute Ruins Chances on Last Nine

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.

BRACKENRIDGE PARK, San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—A half dozen rival stars drew the gallery today but Abe Espinosa, swarthy little Chicago professional, won the tenth annual Texas open and $1,500 first money.

While an estimated throng of 5,000 swarmed after Harry Cooper, Denny Shute and Joe Turnesa, the new champion went quietly about his business of shooting two par-shattering rounds of 69, to post a 72-hoole total of 281 strokes, two lower than his closest competitors. Shute, Cooper and Turnesa, not so quietly, ruined their chances with disastrous final rounds.

The best Cooper and Turnesa could do was to create a three-way tie with Frank Walsh, Chicago professional, for second place, and divide $1,900 in prizes. Walsh came through with a fine 69 on his final round while his comrades at 283, staked themselves to pooro 73s.

Turnesa Falters in Stretch.

Turnesa, a former champion, had a heart-breaking finish. Needing only pars on the last two holes to tie Espinosa, who had finished an hour earlier, the Elmsford star missed easy one-foot putts on both.

Shute, the defending champion, went to pieces on the last nint to lose his chance at the title. After having led the field for two rounds, the Columbus, Ohio, sharpshooter started the final 18 in a triple tie with Cooper and Turnesa. He had a fine 35, one under par, going out, but lapsed on the way home and went four over to finish with 284 and tie Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn veteran, for third place.

Until he lost out at the very last, Shute had not been out of first place in 135 holes of play in the last two Texas opens. He led all the way to win last year with 277 strokes.

John Golden, winner of the Agua Caliente open, finished with a sparkling 68, low score for the day, to compile a total of 285 and capture fifth place. Bunched at 286 were Tom Lally, San Antonio; Charles Guest, Los Angeles, and Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J. Wood finished with a strong 69 while Lally, only two strokes behind the leaders at the start of the last round, fizzled his chances with a 74.

Horton Smith far Down List.

Morton Smith, the New York sensation of two winters ago, tied with Francis Scheider, veteran Dallas pro, at 287. Ralph Guldahl, young Dallas star, who won the movie industries match play event last week at Los Angeles, lost control today and finished in a tie with Johnny Dawson, crack Chicago amateur, at 290. Dawson led his closest amateur rival, Tod Tofefee, of San Antonio, by six strokes.

Six blows behind the leader, Shute, when the field teed off for the final 36 holes today, Espinosa was overlooked almost entirely by the big gallery that overran the bunkers and fairways. Where the star threesomes had to wait for the crowd to be controlled before every shot, Espinosa had no distractions. Even after he came in with his 69 at noon and was only two strokes out of the lead, the fans failed to give him a tumble. Only a small ring of spectators saw him hole out a birdie two on the final green.

Espinosa, who had played in six previous Texas opens without finishing on top, had to overcome a poor 74 on his second round to win out. He put three 69's with it and capped his entire performance with birdies on the last three holes. His putting was deadly all the way.

Abe Espinosa, Chicago, 69, 74, 69, 69—281—$1,500.

BASEBALL'S "HOLDOUT" SEASON IS ALMOST HERE

Few Worries For Nats' Owner

Macks and Indians Having Plenty of Trouble.

Gehrig Said to Crave $35,000 Per Year From Yanks.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

SIGNING up the Washington players for 1931 was "just a breeze" for President Clark Grifth, all but seven having been swung into line with practically no argument. Of those yet to enter the fold, Pitcher Fred Marberry has intimated that he and the club owner will .have .little .trouble, .Pitcher Adolph Liska has not yet been heard from, and Grifth will give no information as to the status of Jack Hayes' case.

The others still unsigned are not worrying the Nat owner, while he is condent that he will have no trouble agreeing to terms with Liska and Hayes. The latter, known among his mates as the 'Alabama Wild Man," put up a slick kick last spring and probably will do so again, but Grifith is confident that he can tame him if necessary.

But contractual matters are not so quiet along the other baseball fronts. Connie Mack, manager of the world's champion Athletics, never gives out information regarding which of his players have signed and which are kicking over the traces, but from the diamonders themselves come hints that Mack is having plenty of trouble.

Simmons May Repeat Threat.

Outfielerd Al Simmons held out last spring until the very day that the season opened and has advised friends that he is looking for another healthy salary boost. From George Earnshaw's home comes a quotation from him that he believes he is worth at least $20,000 next season, while Lefty Grove also is said to be clamoring for more. As the A's have just won their second consecutive league title and world's championship and made plenty of money last year, in addition to the trio named above the chances are that several of the others also are asking for their slice of "melon."

From New York comes word that Firstbaseman Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees, will be the season's big holdout. "Columbia Lou," who, with Babe Ruth, form the famous "Siamese Twins," ended his contract last season and he and Col. Jake Ruppert are now in the throes of a heated argument. Gehrig, who drew $25,000 per year on his last contract, figures that he is worth at least $35,000 and wants this much for a two-year term. Gehrig and the club probably will compromise at $30,000, but possibly not until both sides have given a number of lengthy interviews to the newspaper,a quaint old Spanish custom which the Yanks have adopted as part of their publicity campaign. Myril Hoag, $75,000 outfield purchase from the Coast, also has returned his contract unsigned, but no noe seems to be worrying much over this.

Cleveland Club Center Of Trouble.

While there are several hot salary debates going on in the National League, the Cleveland Indians seem to be the only other club in the American having their troubles, and they are having plenty, no less than five of their stars having returned unsigned contracts with demands that the figures be raised.

First Baseman Ed Morgan, whose dad has a box factory and a good job in it for his offspring, has threatened to quit baseball if his terms are not met, while Wesley Ferrell, second best pitcher in the circuit, is up to his old tricks again. The other near holdouts are Outfielders Earl Averill and Dick Porter and Second Sacker Johnny Hodapp.

Ferrell, from all reports, wants the whole Cleveland Club. Last year, only his second in the majors, he demanded and got $9,000, and it is understood that he wants just double that amount during the coming one. Business Manager Billy Evans figured on paying him about $15,000, and is said to have declared that he will "stand pat" on this offer.

"I had my troubles last year with Goose Goslin and Roy Spencer," said Grifith in discussing these signing-up arguments, "and, believe me, it's a relief not to have any serious ones this spring. I can really enjoy my vacation this spring."

DE MOLAYS LEAGUE VICTORS

The De Molays last night defeated the Black Pirates, 58 to 16, in an Intercity League game at the Laurel Armory. As the score indicates, there was no competition to the game, the De Molays leading by a big margin throughout.

W. Sinclair, with 17 points, was the game's high scorer, with Dougan and R. Sinclair registering 10 points each. Two league games are listed for tomorrow, the Laurel Guards meeting the Black Pirates and the Laurel Independents taking on the Western Electric fives.

COMPANY F WINS OVERTIME

Company F, National Guard tossers, won an extra-period game at the Hyattsville Armory yesterday afternoon, beating the Mercurys, 18 to 14.

The string was knotted at 3-all when the regulation game ended, two foul shots by Jack Williams breaking the deadlock in the extra period.

Boots and Saddles

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—Miami Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

THE East Coast Claiming Handicap, a test for 3-year-olds and upward, over the mile and 70 yard route, is the outstanding event on the card at Miami today. The Derfield purse, supporting feature, an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and upward, will be contested over the 6-furlong sprint distance.

In the main attraction, the fifth, a field of seven leading routers will match strides for the honors and major share of the $1,200 purse. OKAYBEE, from the Carroll Stable, was scratched out of the Hialeah Highweight Handicap to start in this event. The fast stepping daughter of Omar Khayyam is admirably placed in this heat and should romp to an easy victory. The Carroll mare appears the most solid selection of the entire program. The opposition to the top selection will be furnished by SUN SHADOW. This unsexed son of Sun Briar—Edwina displayed remarkable speed in his Bowie efforts and with the benefit of a brief rest, should extend OAKYBEE. ALCMAN, carrying the G. C. Winifred silks appears outclassed here but is favored for the short end of the purse.

FIRST RACE—SUNNY PAL, from the G. M. Hendrie Stable, was weakly ridden last out and with an energetic rider should account for the purse. MINERALOGIST is favored by the conditions and is given the place call. FAIRDALE tired in his recent start and should show improvement. The McGee steed appears best of the others.

SECOND RACE—Another limit field of twelve juveniles will face the barrier in the three furlongs of the second dash. DON RED was beaten a head by the outsider Hamlet the other day and figures to break into the winning circle against this field. SUN PLEASURE, owned by Mrs. M. Koerner, won in his debut. The clever Sun Flag gelding should finish in the runner-up position. CRAIGCO, a surprise winner on Saturday, may falter at the added furlong. However, the Martin youngster should last to save the show.

THIRD RACE—DODGSON, a useful plater in the Everglade Stable string, winner of his two previous starts, is picked to lead this field past the judges' stand. BOUNDING DEEP, a natural router, will favor the distance and is placed in the second notch. GRIFFIN has shown improvement and should get into the picture.

FOURTH RACE—FERVID has shown the most consistent form and is selected as the choice. SAXILBY, from the Livingston barn, is another possibility, while DURVA, the Nevada Stock Farm entry, is given the minor award selection.

SIXTH RACE—PROTRACTOR, a recent winner at this track, gained an impressive victory when the L. Perry 5-year-old gelding stepped the 6 furlongs in 1:11 1-5. On that effort, he should repeat here. CROSSBONES was withdrawn from the Highweight Handicap and is favored to save the place. OPPONENT has raced consistently in his previous efforts and is selected for the show award.

SEVENTH RACE—OUTCRY disappointed at odds-on last out and should redeem himself with a winning effort. WATCH GIRL, from the Loma Stable, is improving and is favored for the runner-up position. BOUNDER has raced in sprints in recent efforts and may find the distance a handicap. However, the Mayberry steed should account for the minor award.

NORTHWESTERN FIVE WINS.

The Knights of Columbus Boys Club five was the Northwestern's twelfth victim in 15 starts when it bowed yesterday on the "Casey" court, 26 to 22.

The winners, who plan to enter the District A. A. U. tourney in the 80-pound class, overcame a small K. C. half-time lead to cop.

FEBRUARY 2, 1906.

The nomination of Henry Litchfield West to be a Commissioner of the District of Columbia was confirmed by the Senate.

At the close of 40 years of service in the public schools of Washington, Supervising Principal J. R. Keene was honored in a meeting at the Petworth School.

President Roosevelt today sent the name of James F. Smith, of California, to the Senate for confirmation as Governor General of the Philippine Islands.

William Walter Hamilton, Negro wife murderer, was hanged in the District Jail at 4:45 o'clock this morning.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

HAIR ON BALD CATS.

THE Journal of the American Medical Association began the new year with an editorial which is liable to start something more than a year. The hair question is a live issue. It is not surpassed by the Norris controversy in the United States, the bisecting of an arc, or the conquest of the racketeers in Chicago. The editorial is by way of comment on the success of a German animal research man in growing hair on bald cats. For this purpose he used a solution of mustard gas in alcohol, water, and glycerin. His recipe is:

Mustard gas, 1-100 of 1 per cent.
Alcohol, 40 per cent.
Glycerin, 2 per cent.

To protect against criticism of the mathematics of the above the authors compensate by advising that a short cork be used. When this mixture was applied to the hairless skin a nice lot of natural fur appeared. It grew fast and it grew long, and no other local application—not even those widely touted as hair restorers—gave such satisfactory results. Thus we see that the same science serves us in both peace and war. Or, peace has its victories as well as war. Or, the sword shall be beaten into a plowshare. One can take his choice.

But the ever conservative journal drops a fly into the ointment; in fact, it rather decorates the ointment with these insects. First, it reminds us that man is no cat. This discovery, while it is a boon for bald cats, may not promote the pulchritude of man.

This second insect is also quite disturbing. By inference in some instances, by direct statement in others, the reader gets the impression that the growth of hair is stimulated by greasing the skin with yellow vaseline but not with the purified white product; by wetting it with alcohol and water, equal parts; by applications of a solution of tincture of cantharides, 1 per cent mustard oil, tincture of cinchona, and some other local applications. We have been accepting as final various reports that greasing the skin and using alcohol on it did not cause hair or beard to grow.

Another fly is not of particular interest to the ordinary reader. Rendered into plain terms it is—if you skin a man with rays, or with strong mustard gas he will not be in danger of cancer of the skin.

THE LONG ARMED IRISH.

A. C. writes: Are there any people in a certain part of Ireland that have arms that reach below their kneecaps and heads as big as watermelons?

REPLY.

Although I have never seen all the people in Ireland, I feel certain that none have arms that reach below their knees when they stand erect. There are doubtless some cases of hydrocephalus in Ireland as elsewhere, but none of these has a head as big as a respectable watermelon.

STOMACH WORMS.

J. S. writes: Please state the symptoms of stomach worms that grown people have.

REPLY.

By stomach worms you mean ordinary round worms. As a rule, such worms cause few symptoms. Finding a worm is about the only dependable symptom.

TRADE EXPERIENCING SEASONAL RECOVERY

SLOW UPTURN FORESEEN

New York, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Industry enters the second month of the New Year planning further acceleration in such important lines as steel and automobile manufacturing.

Reports of the past week indicate that January improvement was no more than the normal seasonal upturn for that period, possibly a little less, but it is now widely recognized that the mills of the economic gods grind slowly, a none too nourishing grist, in the early stages of recuperation from a major cyclical depression.

Steel ingot production was estimated in the weekly surveys at 47 per cent of capacity, a slight gain from the previous week, but a little short of the 50 per cent rate which the industry had hoped to reach by the end of January. The quarterly earnings statements of United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel made their appearance, graphically depicting the low levels to which activity fell late in 1930. The U. S. Steel management made no comment on conditions, but President Harrell has stated recently that he believed the bottom of the depression was touched more than a month ago. President Grace, of Bethlehem, however, said definitely that there would be further expansion of output in February.

Show Cheers Auto Trade.

The motor trade was cheered by the results of the Chicago automobile show. The Ford Motor Co., which has been working at about half capacity, is expected to accelerate its output shortly. It was announced that the Oakland division of General Motors would increase output 30 per cent in February, in response to early sales results. Walter P. Chrysler stated that business should now follow a slow upward trend, becoming more apparent by spring.

The past week saw some improvement in lines which had failed to respond to the acceleration of heavy industry earlier in January. Textile plants were helped by increasing business in preparation for spring. Motor tire, furniture and machine tool makers were generally more active. The shoe manufacturers were a little busier, but Dun's reported results of the Boston style shows as disappointing.

The unseasonably warm weather in parts of the Middle West tended to hamper retail trade, and wholesale buyers proceeded rather cautiously.

Mercantile Reviews Quoted.

The mercantile reviews were rather vague as to the trend in wholesale trade. Dun's reported "additional activity," while Bradstreet's indicated gains in spring apparel lines, but stated that some reports from road salesmen had been disappointing. Standard Statistics, in its monthly survey of sales and credit prospects, said executives might expect results for the current quarter to average about 10 per cent lower than last year, and should emphasize low-priced lines.

Price reductions in wholesale merchandise markets were said to be growing less frequent, but raw staples were under pressure in spots. Corn recorded the lowest prices since 1922. In nonferrous metals, zinc was firm, while copper eased, custom smelters quoting 9¾ cents a pound, a reduction of ¼.

The petroleum industry remained unsettled over disagreements regarding proration, and further piling up of gasoline stocks. It was reported, nevertheless, that large refiners are considering another 1-cent-a-gallon gasoline increase in the Eastern marketing area.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 1.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue receives annually thousands of letters of inquiry relative to the income-tax law and regulations.

Taxpayers ask for information concerning the personal exemption allowed a single person, a married person, and the head of a family; the credit for dependents, deductions for business expenses, losses, depreciation, taxes, bad debts, contributions, &c., and the rates of tax. The purpose of the bureau is to answer the questions most frequently received in a series of newspaper statements based on the latest regulations and rulings relating to the income-tax laws.

The normal tax rates on individual net income of a citizen or resident of the United States for the calendar year 1930 are 1½ per cent on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption, $400 credit for a dependent, &c., 3 per cent on the next $4,000, and 5 per cent on the balance. The rate of tax on the net income of a corporation is 12 per cent. These are the rates provided for by the revenue act of 1928. The 1 per cent reduction on individual net income and corporation net income, later provided for by joint resolution of Congress, applied only to income for the calendar year 1929. The surtax rates on individual net income in excess of $10,000 remains unchanged.

The period for filing returns begins January 1 and ends at midnight of March 16, 1931. March 15, the usual close of the filing period, this year falls on Sunday, allowing taxpayers an additional day of grace, which, however, it will be to their interest to disregard. To file early is of mutual benefit to the Government and the taxpayer, especially if the latter is in need of aid in making out his return, a service available without cost at the offices of collectors and deputy collectors of internal revenue.

The return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four equal installments, due on or before March 16, June 15, September 15, and December 15, 1931.

U. S. GOVERNMENTS DROP DURING WEEK

RAIL LIST SAGS SHARPLY

New York, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The sharpest reaction in a decade in the prices of United States Government securities last week upset the bond market, and clouded the outlook at a time when many bankers were looking for the continuance of the advance that got under way shortly before Christmas.

The retreat of Government bonds from the peak levels of the last two years developed unexpectedly, but the financial community was in agreement that the cause was the uncertainty over whether the Government would be called upon to float the largest bond issue since the war, which would, in the opinion of prominent bankers, prove harmful, not only to outstanding Government securities, but other bonds as well.

The uncertainty over what action Congress might take on the various proposals for cash redemption of veterans' insurance certificates caused nervousness among banks and investors. It caused some to liquidate Governments and made buyers cautious, and persistent pressure brought daily reactions that have no precedent since 1920, or perhaps even longer. Accustomed to daily fluctuations of 1-32d or so in the price of Governments, Wall street folowed with close interest the downward course of prices with daily losses of ¼ or more, and in some instances a full point.

In several sessions governments rallied from their minimums, but made new lows each day.

The decline naturally brought a sympathetic reaction in corporate obligations. As a consequence the price level of domestic bonds as reflected in standard statistics averages sagged in the final week of the month to about where it was when the new year opened. Railroad obligations suffered the most with wide declines in second-grade issues, and even the prime bonds yielded ground. Utilities were less affected.

The week made a big contribution to new capital and the total of $301,000,000 in new bond issues gave no indication that the trend of seasoned issues had stemmed the tide of new financing. The month's total of $502,000,000 or thereabouts in new bond issues has not been equaled or even approached in six months or more. What effect the week's events will have on future plans time alone will tell, but some investment bankers were inclined to believe that originating houses would await signs of improvement before marketing much in new issues.

Griffith-Consumers Beat Palace-D. G. S.

With Elliott and Nicholson showing the way with 10 and 9 points, respectively, the Griffith-Consumer tossers yesterday downed the Palace-District Grocers, 33 to 22, on the Hyattsville Armory floor.

This was the twenty-seventh victory in 29 starts for the Consumers.

MORALE HOLDS UP WELL

New York, Feb. 1. (A.P.).—Wall street's morale, improved but still shaky from the ordeals of late last year, acquitted itself fairly satisfactorily under trying tests during the past week.

The improved tone of the bond market, which has been the basis of much of the better feeling in Wall street this month, was impaired by the ominous analyses by banking officials of the proposal to redeem the veterans' certificates in cash at this time. Much of the extreme gains of the month were lost, and Government obligations experienced the sharpest drop since the deflation of 1920.

The seasonal rebound of industrial activity lost much of its vigor. The acceleration of steel mill activity was all but checked. Staple commodity prices mostly sagged. The quarterly earnings statements of the two leading steel producers measured the depths of depression reached in the final months of last year. Building activity remained sluggish, as is usual at this time of year.

Confidence Is Unimpaired.

But there was no excited or large-scale liquidation of corporate securities, either bonds or stocks, and confidence in financial quarters that the worst has been seen was not generally impaired.

The stock market fluctuated uncertainly in quiet trading, and ended the week with a loss of only about 1½ points, as measured by the price index of 90 issues, from the end of the previous week. At no time was stock pressed for sale in any volume.

The course of listed bond prices was as steadily downward as it was upward during the previous week, but some $200,000,000 in new issues was placed upon the market, and declines outside of the Government group were moderate.

Bond Situation Worries.

This reversal of the trend of bonds, however, injected a new and perplexing element into the outlook. A strong bond market is one of the most essential implements in the work of business recovery. The drastic decline in bonds during the latter months of 1930, beginning with selling of foreign issues in response to political disturbances abroad, and extending throughout the domestic list during the banking unsettlement at home, was one of the most troublesome developments of that trying period.

Corporate and municipal financing was deferred, and construction projects which might have alleviated employment conditions in some sections were delayed. With the market again on its feet, some $500,000,000 in new bond financing was brought out during the first month of 1930, and it was felt that the fundamental elements of business recovery had at last been restored.

The controversy over redemption of the veterans' certificates then resounded through the financial district. Almost all of the leading bankers who discussed the proposal expressed eloquent opposition to it, pointing out that the floating of a Government loan of such huge proportions would result in a sharp increase of credit and interest rates and the consequent sharp drop in the value of notes and bonds. The chairman of the New York Federal Reserve Bank estimated that about $1,000,000,000 would be cut from the market value of Government obligations.

Other Side of Question.

Sponsors of the proposal point out that it would provide ready cash and a quick restoration of public purchasing power, which should end the economic depression. The opposing bankers assert, however, that restoration of prosperity through inflation would only result in an early and painful period of corrective deflation, preventing the achievement of another period of prosperity of substantial duration

It was recalled that the disbursement of the soldier bonus in 1919 caused an immediate upturn in the stock market, and it was suggested that the effects might be similar at this time. It was also recalled that it was not long after the 1919 upturn that the list went into its headlong decline of 1920. Conditions, of course, were already inflated in 1919, while they are deflated now, so the latter recollections, perhaps, is not germane to the present situation. Transference of funds from the long term market to current uses would almost surely suffice to start a bull market of considerable proportions," continued the annalist.

What Wall street disliked most about the situation was the possibility that it may drag on into a special session of Congress and keep the country's financial machinery in a prolonged state of uncertainty.

SKINKER FIVE BEATEN BY KANSAS

Tornadoes Snap Win Streak of Eagles by Copping, 32-22.

A TEAM of tall, clever, former college basket ball players styling themselves the Kansas Tornadoes, of Newton, Kans., blew into town yesterday afternoon and remained long enough to hand the Skinker Eagles their first defeat of the season by a 32-to-22 score in a contest played at the Silver Spring Armory before 450 fans.

The Skinkers appeared far from the smooth-working quintet which had rolled up nine consecutive triumphs before the Tornadoes. Midwest independent champs for the past two years, snapped their victory string. Their passing was ragged, their shooting was off, and only occasionally did they show the power that is undeniably theirs.

Eagles Only One Behind At Half-time.

Off to a 4-to-0 lead on two pretty potshots by Joe Sweeney, the Eagles' advantage soon melted away when the Jayhawk sharpshooters got to work, although the Skinkers put on a suprt to pull up to within one point of their guests at the intermission, which ended, 13 to 12. Grant and Hoover, Tornado forwards, went on a scoring rampage at the start of the second half and the Tornados gradually pulled away from their hosts.

Joe Sweeney was the only Eagle player able to find the cords with any degree of consistency, sinking six double-deckers to lead both teams in scoring. Jack Faber also put up a commendable game for the Skinkers.

Topping the efforts of the Tornados, was Ed Grant, former Oklahoma University luminary, who collected four field goals and four fouls, and "Zeke" Hoover, who formerly starred with "Fog" Allen's University of Kansas cagers, with a quinete of two-

NOONAN TOPS HIGH SCHOOL SCORERS

Eastern Star Has 53 Points; Latona, of Western, Next.

BIG BILL NOONAN, Eastern High's windblown center, and Anthony Latona, Western High's forward-marksman, overhauled and passed Bobby Lucas' 48 points as leading scorer of the high school series last week, Noonan edging into first place with 53 points and Latona coming closely behind with 51.

Both these figures are noteworthy. Noonan failed to score a point in the Business game of January 20, while Latona, seemingly because of one poor performance in the Business game of January 27, has been given orders to curtail all but set-up shots. This can will preclude his keeping his high place unless removed immediately. Possessing one of the keenest eyes in the high school basket ball business, Latona is most deadly in running shots from the sideline.

Lucas' Total to Stand.

Lucas' total points, bound to stay at that figure by reason of his leaving the series by graduation, seem in peril from any of several players who appear in this week's high school games. Everett Buscher, Latona's running mate, stands but one solitary basket behind 48; Bernie Lieb, Eastern's suddenly reactivated forward, is uncomfortably close with 41, mostly because of a notable shooting spell during the last series game, Eastern vs. Western.

Tech does not figure in fancy scoring until the sixth position on the lists has been reached and there George Beach, center, is seen to have amassed 39 points. Central comes into the picture in eighth place in the form of Hank Broadbent, whose 36 points might have been many higher if he had not been shifted to guard to fill in for the injured Gene Swift.

Yowell Tops Foul Shooters.

Roy Yowell holds on to his growing reputation as the best free tosser in the schools, having come through successfully on 16 of his 25 tries.

Eastern is the high-scoring team of the series to date, having amassed 173 points in six games. Central, however, bids fair to top that number Tuesday when Business is played. Central has 151 for five games, and averages 30 points a game.

Western turns in the most consistent scores, their six games varying only between 29 and 24. The Western records runs of 29, 24, 29, 27, 28 and 25.

Druggist Upsets Dope In Feature at Havana

Havana, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—F. C. Dunn's Druggist scored a brilliant upset before a big crowd at Oriental Park today by beating out the heavily weighted favorite, Sun Mission, in the Royal Palm Hotel Handicap. Sun Mission, racing for Dr. M. Jacobs, picked up 124 pounds and finished a length behind Druggist in the mile and one-sixteenth event. H. C. Hatch's Bad News Bob took show money. The race had an added value of $2,000 and the winner paid 4 to 1.

Druggist and Sun Mission were rated off the pace set by Kingsport but came up fast as they came up to the stretch while Kingsport finished badly. Druggist displayed a fine burst of speed at the finish to draw away from the favorite.

PREACHER DEPLORES LACK OF RELIGION IN AMERICAN HOME

Dr. Braskamp Says Many Parents Are Rearing Pagan Posterity.

CHILDREN'S FUTURE MADE HARD, HE FINDS

Memories and Ideals of Life in Family Factors in Character and Nation.

"Enthroning Religion in the Home" was the subject of a sermon yesterday by Dr. Bernard Braskamp, pastor of the Gunton-Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church. The text was taken from Joshua xxiv:15, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Neglect of many parents to develop the religious and spiritual life of their children, was deplored by the preacher. The following excerpts give the gist of the sermon:

"This courageous declaration of Joshua might be made more directly applicable if we paraphrase it somewhat by putting it first in this way: 'As for me and my family, we will seek to have a happy and normal home-life.'

"Here we are touching upon one of the severest indictments that must be brought against our generation. Today, we may well question whether there is such a place as home and whether families really understand the meaning of home-life.

"Houses and apartments are continually being erected, but it does not necessarily follow that these will ever have much of the home-life atmosphere. As a nation, we may be making great progress in certain directions, but I am quite sure that it is not in the direction of home-making.

"Again and again, we meet boys and girls who seem to have little interest in their homes; it is something they want to get away from as much as possible, but nowadays it looks as if parents themselves have become tired of the home. By force of habit they still speak of their house as a home, but in reality it is simply a place where they stay when they have nowhere else to go. How true it is that in many homes the evening lamp has almost gone out.

"The results are far more tragic than we imagine. Among other things, it means that in many homes the members of the family do not really know one another. Their family life is so organized and planned that there is no time for mutual mingling together in quiet meditation and relaxation.

"The saddest part about this complacent disregard of home life is the effect upon the children. How pathetic that many parents fail to realize that the great strengthening influence by which most boys and girls conquer in the battle of life is the inspiration furnished in the home.

"A real home has its reward in being assured that the memories and ideals which it seeks to cultivate always have an undeniable part in perpetuating those factors that make for character and civilization. Thank God that there are still some old-fashioned parents and children, who have enough of the finer sense of appreciation to know that their first duty is to cultivate the home and are courageous enough to say: 'As for me and my family, we will glorify the home.'

"When we talk about recovering the home, there is one factor that is absolutely indispensable, namely, religion. We must take our stand with Joshua: 'As for me and my house we will serve the Lord.'

"The trouble is just this that too many homes are built on pagan foundations—homes that center merely around the materialistic impulse without any concern for the religious motive. Many parents are very careful about the physical growth and mental development of their children, but how little regard they have for their religious and spiritual life. They, themselves, may have been blessed with a Christian ancestry and yet they fail to see that they are creating a pagan posterity.

"Many children are compelled to make their own discovery of the great spiritual ideals in later life, for they never received them from their parents. No parent, however, has performed his God-ordained duty unless he has sought to firmly fix in the minds of his children these essentials of the religious life. It is religion that makes a home complete. The very word 'religion' means literally a 'bond;' it is the bond of 'perfection' binding the members of a family to one another and to God.

"Would that more parents and children might have the courage of Joshua to daringly proclaim and determine that religion shall have its rightful place in their home. I believe that it would mean the dawning of a new day and both parents and children would be recovering for themselves the dignity and glory of the home atnd family life."

FUN IN BERLIN CLUBS AIDED BY AIR TUBES

CENSORS KEPT ON JOB

Now a fraulein's admirer gets acquainted—sometimes—by sending a cocktail in a pneumatic tube and making a few polite compliments to her over the table telephone.

Competition in Berlin's amusement industry is so keen that proprietors are racking their brains to retain the clientele of their habitues, besides attracting new thrill-seekers.

Instead of picking up the receiver to ask "fraulein" for the next dance, the eager swain now may send his request in writing via the tube.

The tubes are big enough to permit the sending of a cocktail, and a fragrant rose also may be included to enhance the receiver's interest in her prospective partner across the hall.

The introduction of this innovation in dance halls drew another novelty in its wake, a censor. He watches over the traffic from table to table via tube.

ARISTOCRATS RULE CENSURED LIBERIA

FOUNDED BY SLAVES

Associated Press.

Hot, lush Liberia, Africa's "land of the free," stands before the bar of civilized nations indicted for "barbarous traffic in human beings."

This Negro republic, where a League of Nations commission has revealed existence of "shocking slavery conditions," was founded by freed slaves from the United States who adopted a declaration of independence and a constitution modeled after this country.

Descendants of those freedmen, who on their ancestral soil found sanctuary from slavery in America, now are charged with being slave masters themselves.

Others are accused of aiding slave-raiders to capture boys of the native tribes who were forced to labor on the Spanish island of Fernando Poo.

The Americo-Liberians, who compose the aristocratic governing class, speak English with a decidedly American accent, read American books, use American currency and wear American and European clothes. They number about 15,000 of the total population of 2,000,000.

Monrovia, the "big town" and capital, was named after President Monroe. In this sprawling, grassy village the "front families" dwell in houses of old colonial architecture.

Here on the fringe of the jungle, the "big guns" of the government, in cutaway coats, striped trousers and derbies, discuss affairs and listen to a syncopating orchestra. Monrovia also has its "White House," a three-story and three-veranda structure with an "East Room."

For some 30 miles from the coast, Liberia has been cleared and developed, but back of that are dense jungles, primitive people and beasts, birds and reptiles.

So pervasive, however, is the American spirit, a traveler is likely to come upon a collection of huts in the jungle with the names of New York, Philadelphia or Bunker Hill.

RADIUM RECOVERED FROM WATCH DIALS

Used Material Is Returned to Scientific Use at University.

NOT TOUCHED BY HAND

Students, directed by Dr. Herman Schlundt, an authority on radium, have attained such efficiency that fully 95 per cent of the element is recovered.

This refining, which takes approximately a month and a half, involves removal of the impurities of the paint by gradual crystallization and precipitation, a laborious but exceedingly remunerative task.

Taken From Watches.

Shipped to the university laboratory in large quantities in powdered form, the watch dial paint for the most part comes from timepieces which have gone into disuse.

In each dial there is only about 10 or 15 cents' worth of radium, a very small amount since it is priced at about $70 a milligram or $2,000,000 an ounce. From 30 gallons of paint some 50 milligrams of radium can be extracted.

Since radium is only about one-half disintegrated in some 1,600 years, it is nearly as valuable at the end of the average life of a luminous dial as when it was placed there, according to Dr. Schlundt.

Radium Not Touched.

Because of the hazards involved in the handling of high grade radioactive materials, the radium is never touched by hand, and care is taken to prevent any of the students being affected.

During the World War Dr. Schlundt perfected from the element mesothorium, a substitute for radium luminous paint.

Gun-sights and other such instruments were painted with this mesothorium. In addition mesothorium was found to contain some of the properties of radium for the treatment of disease.

Woman Swallows Poison.

Clara Hall, 28 years old, of K street northwest, near Tenth street, was treated at Emergency Hospital yesterday morning after she had swallowed a small quantity of poison. Police said her act was due to despondency. Physicians said she would recover.

Fireman Hurt Fighting Blaze.

A. E. Cross, of No. 2 Engine Company, received a deep cut on the right hand last night while fighting a fire at 911 Twelfth street northwest. He was taken to Emergency Hospital in the new Rire Rescue Squad ambulance. The fire destroyed a woodshed at that address.

Serbs Eye Moves of Foes As Plot Against Country

Border Guards Kept on Alert, While Actions of Neighbors Are Regarded as Plan to Isolate Kingdom in Balkans.

While not talking for publication, cabineteers and publicists of King Alexander's realm express privately the belief that foreign enemies are taking advantage of economic depression to cut into Jugoslavia's foreign commerce, thus increasing domestic difficulties.

Every move in the foreign policy of Italy, especially if it relates to Mediterranean countries, is given close scrutiny here.

The marital alliance of King Boris of Bulgaria with an Italian princess, for example, was viewed in Belgrade as diminishing the hopes for a lasting understanding with Jugoslavia's eastern neighbor.

Border guards are kept on the alert along the frontier of Albania, Italy's ally on the south off this kingdom.

If Venizelos, of Greece, sends a note to Rome, calls there on one of his many trips or has a lengthy conversation in Athens with Italian diplomats, Belgrade worries over the possible effect on her outlet to the sea through the Grecian port of Saloniki.

Rumors have been rife that a union was being planned between the third and youngest daughter of the Italian King and the young Archduke Otto, claimant to the vacant throne of Hungary. And even these reports gained credence among several otherwise clear-sighted Serb politicians.

The Italian-Russian commercial treaty was greeted as a development toward an "Italian bloc in the near east," aimed perhaps directly at Roumania, the third member of the Little Entente, but at least indirectly at Jugoslavia.

These and other political subjects are brought to mind when the interior situation of the country is under discussion.

Essentially agricultural, a land of small peasant holdings, Jugoslavia must depend on surplus grain, live stock and hides to bring manufactured goods from abroad. This year the market for agricultural products has been deeply depressed.

So taxes come in from the country folk only after much effort at collection.

The situation reached such a pitch a few weeks ago that Gen. Pera Zivkovitch, right hand man of King Alexander's dictatorship, and Dr. Milan Srskitch, minister of justice, made "tours of inspection" which gave them opportunity to talk to the village folk.

The officials minced no words in warning the people that there was no immediate prospect of a return to parliamentary government.

They pleaded with them, rather, to give up ancient racial antipathies which have kept the Croats and Slovenes apart from the Serbs and Montenegrins, and to consider only the good of an united Jugoslavia.

LAYING OF CORNER STONE NETS $11,000 FOR TEMPLE FUND

Mrs. Rebecca Levy Donates $1,800, While Sisterhood Contributes $5,000.

CEREMONIES MARK BEGINNING OF WORK

Keshner Israel Members to Spend $40,000 on New Synagogue.

Approximately $11,000 was raised yesterday afternoon at the corner stone laying of the new synagogue of the Keshner Israel Congregation, at Twenty-eight and N streets northwest, it was reported last night.

This sum came in the form of voluntary contributions and through bids on an auction on the corner stone laying. Mrs Rebecca Levy, a member of the congregation was given the honor of laying the corner stone, after making the highest bid on the auction, which amounted to $500.

A number of others were given the privilege of shoveling the mortar into place for the setting of the stone. An auction was also held for this honor. Contributions ranged from $25 to $500.

Among those who handled the mortar spade were: M. Yasne, Myer Brenner, Henry Gumpers, William Brodakey, Myer Levy, Dave Margolis, George Fleshman, Bernard Dansansky, M. Hourrad, Mrs. Libby Posner, Mrs. H. Michaelson, J. Weisblatt, A. Farrnoff and Lewis Speigler.

Sisterhood Gives $5,000.

A check for $5,000 was received from the Sisterhood of the Georgetown Congregation, and Mrs. Levy gave another contribution of $1,300 besides making the highest bid on the corner stone laying.

The new synagogue is to cost approximately $40,000, J. Brenner, chairman of the building committee, announced. The auction was conducted by Morris Garfinkle. The corner stone ceremony was opened with the playing of a patriotic anthem by the Washington Elks Band of Boys under the direction of George D. Chapman.

Rabbi Metz on Program.

Rabbi Solomon H. Metz offered a prayer and an address of welcome was made by A. Mostow, president of the congregation. Milton Strasburger, chairman of the ceremony, then spoke. This was followed by addresses from Commissioner Luther Reichelderfer, Rabbi Abram Simon, Rabbi George Silverstone, and I. Cymas, secretary of the congregation. Brief remarks were made by Julius I. Peyser, Mr. Garfinkle, Rabbi J. A. Dubroff and Bernard Danzansky. The addresses were interspersed with music.

Motorist Is Arrested After Autos Collide

A motorist was arrested after an auto crash yesterday at Sixth and I streets southwest which sent four persons, including an 84-year-old woman, to hospitals. The cars were operated by Thomas Maynard Simmons, 21, of F street near Four-and-a-half, who was held for investigation, and Cora Brown, 32, of V street, near Second northwest.

William Rowan, 30, of the V street address, was treated at Providence Hospital for lacerations of the head. May Swartz, the octogenerian, of I street near Four-and-a-half, was treated at Emergency for shock. Edna Callahan, of the same address, and three-year-old Robert E. Rowan received treatment at Emergency for slight injuries.

Suit Valued at $140 Stolen.

William H. Quigg, of Idaho avenue northwest, near Porter street, told police yesterday that a suit worth $140 had been stolen from his house some time since January 1.

WAREHOUSE BLAZE THREATENS BLOCK

TRAFFIC IS INTERRUPTED

A three-alarm fire, said to have started from spontaneous combustion, yesterday afternoon destroyed the interior of the two-story brick warehouse of Harrison Brothers, Inc., dealers in junk, at 1320 First street northeast.

The fire was discovered shortly after 2 o'clock, when dense smoke, pouring from the building, attracted the attention of E. W. Garost, proprietor of a nearby gas station, who turned in the first alarm. The second and third alarms were sounded in rapid succession, when firemen found that several other structures were in danger.

A crowd of several hundred persons quickly gathered and additional fire apparatus experienced difficulty in getting near the blazing building. All available police reserves were called into action and the streets were quickly cleared. An ambulance from Casualty Hospital and three police surgeons, Drs. J. Y. Williamson, J. M. Allen and John A. Reed, were summoned to the scene, but no one was injured.

Heavy smoke settled over the streets for many blocks around, and all traffic in the area was brought to a standstill for more than two hours. The compact way in which the materials were stored in the building hindered firemen in their efforts to extinguish the blaze and caused the smoke, according to Fire Chief George S. Watson.

The structure is owned by W. W. Griffith, president of the Griffith-Consumers Coal Co., whose garage is on the adjoining property and occupied by three brothers, Samuel, Louis and Sol Harrison, who for the past five years have conducted a junk business there. A large quantity of paper, rags and rubber was stored in the building. Damage was estimated at $2,000. According to Sol Harrison, the loss was not covered by insurance.

CAVERNS ELEVATOR HAS 750-FOOT DROP

COST IS TO BE $100,000

Albuquerque, N. Mex., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Visitors to the Carlsbad Caverns next summer will get a new thrill—a fast ride under the earth on an elevator with the longest single lift in the world.

The elevator, to be installed by the national park service, will make the 50-foot trip from the surface to the floor of the upper levels of the caverns in one to two minutes, engineers say.

It will travel about as far underground in that time as the elevators in the Woolworth and Chrysler buildings in New York travel upward.

The upper levels of the cave now are reached by a series of stairways and footpaths. The elevator will not replace the trip from the natural entrance, but will afford another exit, making the journey easy for those who find the return trip on foot too strenuous.

Nearly $100,000 is to be spent this winter on the project and a second elevator eventually will be installed.

Although about 25 miles of underground passages have been explored, the end of the caverns is not in sight. Each year trails are extended a little farther, and it is not known how far they eventually will reach.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

BATTLING THE YOUNG.

THERE are 2,124 ways in which children annoy their parents, according to Dr. Mandel Sherman, director of the Child Research Center, of Washington. The doctor is too conservative. Any child that can't find more than 2,124 ways to annoy its parents is hopelessly backward.

* * * *

* * * *

There are, as any parent will testify, at least twice that many ways in which a child can annoy them between 7 and 10 a. m. Sunday mornings, when they would like to sleep a little late.

* * * *

What does Dr. Sherman mean by saying there are only 2,124 ways? Is he a parent? And if so, has he ever sat home trying to read a book while Junior decided to take an inventory of his toys, including the cornet, punching bag and drum?

* * * *

Has he ever been confined to the house with the flu while the kiddies were all figuring out ways and means for violating the injunction, "Now, don't make any noise, children. Daddy is sick."

* * * *

Has he ever tried to write a speech or a short story while Gussie and the boy upstairs were confined to the house by bad weather?

* * * *

HAS he ever ridden on a long railroad trip with a couple of little darlings about 5 years of age who had the fidget-widgets and wanted to play with the conductor and the passengers?

* * * *

* * * *

Has he ever counted accurately the annoyances the parents must endure on an automobile trip to the shore with four or five kids in the back seat?

* * * *

Has he ever taken a child on a visit to some friend to whom he had boasted of the little one's good manners, intelligence and all around cleverness?

* * * *

2,124 ways to annoy a parent, my eye!

* * * *

"I'll bet Dr. Sherman can't count, or something," declared Elmer Twitchell today, speaking as a man who had raised a large family, no member of which had been delinquent in the matter of annoyances.

* * * *

"If I ever had a boy or girl who couldn't think of more than 2,124 ways to annoy me even before breakfast and without concentration, I would think the kid was destined for no good end," continued Elmer. "It would make me fear for the future. If there is any sure test of the normal child it is his or her ability to pester both parents easily and without obvious effort. It should come natural to all children and whenever you find a child who is slow to think up new ways to annoy the old folks you can make up your mind the youngster is defective."

* * * *

"Who is this Dr. Sherman, anyhow?" demanded Mr. Twitchell, "and what bachelors' club has he spent all his life in?"

APHASIA.

DENTISTS, by the way, are to be allowed as much whisky as the Government allows doctors. But, liquor being what it is these days, a patient would do well to persist in the question, "Are you sure this ain't gonna hurt, doc?"

PLAYING SAFE.

Hi:
Gen. Pershing isn't the only man who is careful, although not superstitious. Years ago Harry Reed, turfman, was at Saratoga and we took a walk together. As we passed the old Congress Hall there was a ladder. I walked under it but Reed ducked around.
"Superstitious?" I asked.
"No," he replied, "but if there is anything in it I want it my way."

IT SOUNDS LOGICAL.

"THIS Monday morning opens the last week in January and very properly the month ends with the week. February will be a perfect month, with four weeks beginning on Sunday and the month winding up on Saturday."—From an F. B. Keech & Co. market letter.

Still, it may be just as well to remain on the sidelines until there is a more positive indication of a definite trend.

Ground Hog Performs Duty Today as Weather Prophet

Today, Candlemas Day, is the date selected for the groundhog to do his stuff for those souls who still like the old traditions.

Publicised for ages by word of mouth, story handed down from father to son, and then snatching yards of space in the press—and even more lately being presented to his public through the medium of motion pictures—the simple little animal is supposed to toss aside the blankets in his cosy lair, fare forth and decide whether the end of winter is at hand or will continue for six additional arduous weeks.

Candlemas Day, since the early Christian era, has been the date for weather prophecy. Long before the groundhog superstition arose, the Old World used the prediction:

"If Candlemas Day be fair and clear,
There'll be two winters in the year.
If Candlemas Day be wet and foul,
Half of winter's gone at yule."

In Germany the weather superstition is based on the habits of the hibernating badger, and in France the bear performs the function.

As every one should know by this time, if the groundhog sees his shadow today he will immediately dive back into the covers and sleep through snow and icy wind for another six weeks.

If the sky is overcast, however, he is supposed to continue above ground and in a few short days the buds will begin to burst, the birds will return to their summer homes and the spring flowers will peep through the warming ground—and all will be well with the world.

Should you care to string along with the groundhog as against warnings of the Weather Bureau and scientists that he is just a fake as far as prophecy goes, you will not put away the heavy underwear just yet. If the local Weather Bureau is correct the sun will shine today, and speaking from the groundhog's viewpoint, cold will descend on the District for six weeks more.

Here's Mr. Groundhog, ready to make his annual weather prediction today. If he sees his shadow, the legend goes, he will go back into his hole prepared for another six weeks of winter.

CAPITAL YOUTH, 12, IS INJURED BY AUTO

CONDITION HELD SERIOUS

Emory De Hartman, 12 years old, of Washington, was seriously injured yesterday when he was struck and knocked down by an automobile in front of the home of Harry Musgrove, Brookville, Md., with whom he boarded.

The boy was roller skating on the road and darted in front of the machine of Walter McCullogh, 1332 N street northwest, who was unable to stop his car in time to avoid striking the boy, police say.

Mr. McCollogh placed the youth in his machine and took him to Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Springs. The boy was found to have a fractured leg and is believed to have suffered internal injuries. His condition was reported serious last night by hospital authorities.

The mother of the boy, Mrs. Victoria De Hartman, 2531 Q street northwest, was notified by county police and at her order the boy was removed to George Washington University Hospital in Washington. The driver was not held.

An investigation of the accident is being conducted by Sergt. Dey L. Jones, of the Silver Springs substation.

Woman Is Overcome When Gas Pipe Bursts

Overcome by sulphur dioxide gas when a refrigerator pipe burst at the Garden Tea Shop, 1402 Monroe street northwest, yesterday afternoon, Bertha Posey, colored, 35 years old, an employe at the shop, was taken to Freedman's Hospital by the rescue squad.

The victim was working in the rear of the establishment when the pipe burst. Employes in the front of the store smelled the gas, found the prostrate woman and summoned the rescue squad. She was reported to be improved last night.

FRANCE BUILDING UP FRONTIER DEFENSES

Four Billion Francs to Be Expended on New Strongholds.

UTILIZE FIELD WORKS

Metz, France, Feb. 1(A.P.).—A cement defense chain, adapting its links to the ground along the 200 miles of France's new eastern frontier, is being built with four billion francs appropriated by Parliament.

All the lessons of the World War are being put to profit in this work, along with any other ideas that may have come to the French staff since 1918.

The new first line contains no forts, such as the stronghold of Verdun. It is rather a long line of field works, but it probably will not be fully described until after the next war, if then.

Continuous System.

About all that can be said of it is that it is a continuous system, that much of it is underground and some of it even under water. It embraces all that the French know about the ability of field works to resist modern arms.

The new line also differs from the old in that it has no natural lines of defense, such as the Vosges Mountains, as a foundation. It follows the Rhine and Saar River Valley from the Swiss border to the frontier of Luxemburg.

Fill Up Gaps.

After the war of 1870 the French found it would be too costly to construct a continuous system of frontier fortifications. So they built the forts of Verdun, Toul, Epinal and Belfort, with outlying batteries.

Where they could not complete the line, they arranged these batteries so an enemy coming through the gaps would be under heavy cross fire.

Such was the gap of Charmes, through which Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria tried to go in 1914. There are no such breaks in the new line.

Secrets of Moon's Rocks Unlocked by Rays of Light

Scientists From Carnegie Institute of Washington Scan Surface of Satellite and Discover It Has Good Heat-Insulating Material.

Pasadena, Calif., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—New methods of examining rocks 240,000 miles distant have been found by the Carnegie Institution of Washington committee on surface features of the moon.

They turn big telescopes on the moon and with the aid of special instruments are learning what kind of rock lies on its surface. Dr. Fred E. Wright, of the geophysical laboratory, Washington, is chairman of the moon committee.

Certain kinds of rock are detected by the study of a peculiarity of reflected light called polarization. This word describes certain changes in the manner in which light waves vibrate.

They find rocks polarize the light that they reflect. But they do not all polarize it in the same degree, and experiments with 50 to 100 samples of earth rocks have established a scale by which the amount of polarization in the reflected light partly identifies the rock.

For example, basalt, a dark, heavy lava rock, polarizes about 90 per cent of the light on reflection. But granites, limestones and pumice polarize only about 15 per cent.

A special polarizing eyepiece in telescopes informs the moon students that the lunar surface contains no appreciable amount of basalts. With them eliminated, studies of reflected heat narrow the possibilities still further.

By combing the moon's surface, a few square miles at a time, with a thermocouple, which is sufficiently sensitive to record the heat of stars, they detect the presence of rocks which reflect and emit a high percentage of heat, but not so much light.

They know that the silicate rocks have this high heat-reflecting quality.

In a recent eclipse of the moon the lunar surface temperature dropped 321 degrees Fahrenheit in two hours and forty minutes.

This meant just one thing—that the moon must be covered with an unusually good heat-insulating material, something which reflected and emitted most of the heat rays, thus accounting for the swift cooling when the sun was obscured.

Calculations by Dr. Paul Epstein, of the California Institute of Technology, showed that the only known substances likely to insulate so well are pumice stone or volcanic ash.

MORE SPEED SOUGHT FOR PLANES OF U. S.

SEES COUNTRY LAGGING

(Associated Press.)

Representative LaGuardia yesterday asked the Navy Department why the United States does not have an airplane "fit or capable" to enter the next international Schneider Cup seaplane race.

The New York Republican, in a letter to Assistant Secretary Ingalls, Navy air chief, said millions of dollars had been appropriated for aviation and he found the "speed of ships of other countries are far in excess to any that we now have."

Mr. LaGuardia, who has asked the appropriations committee for funds to construct a ship to match "the fastest plane of England, France and Italy," said British navy planes are "from 50 to 75 miles faster than the fastest corresponding type" of the United States Navy.

America has not won a Schneider race since 1925, he said, adding:

"What has happened to American aviation since 1925? In 1927 England made 388 miles and in 1929 again took the cup with a speed of 328 miles an hour.

"This speed, I am informed, is 91 miles an hour faster than the best record ever made in the United States and 155 miles an hour better than the best record made at the Chicago air races in 1930."

Mr. La Guardia said the only race American fliers will be able to enter "will be a powder puff derby which some private organization may promote from time to time."

"I need not point," he said, "the great advantage and progress to both plane and motor construction obtained from the building of these high-speed ships. I need not point out that a slower fleet of planes in combat against a fleet of planes of higher speed has not a chance to survive."

The New Yorker also asked whether the Navy could obtain a racing plane for the Schneider meet if funds are immediately appropriated.

PILLAR AT LINCOLN TOMB IS REBUILT

GHOULS SOUGHT CORPSE

The burial place will be rededicated February 12, the 122d anniversary of his birth.

Rebuilding of the shaft was determined upon two years ago, when crumbling bricks and stone threatened its existence, and reconstruction of the interior was also ordered. Work began almost a year ago, and will not be finished for several months.

Visitors who formerly peered through grated windows into a dimly lighted chamber now may enter the sarcophagus chamber, but the coffin itself is sealed in a boulder of concrete and steel, resting ten feet below the monument.

Both Chicago and Springfield desired the martyred President to be buried within their limits. Mrs. Lincoln chose a quiet spot outside Springfield.

Five years after a permanent tomb was prepared, in 1876, two Chicago criminals sought to steal the body and hold it for ransom. They succeeded in partly removing the casket before an alarm was sounded.

A guard thereafter watched beside the tomb after the coffin had been secreted in another part of the burial place. Lincoln's body was exhumed in 1886 and placed in a catacomb, but this was abandoned in 1899 and the present shaft built in 1901. Robert Lincoln, a son, provided funds.

Italy Bids for Savings.

Rome, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Italians abroad are encouraged to send their savings home for deposit in the postal savings system of Italy by an interest rate of a shade more than 4 per cent. Home Italians get only 3 per cent.
